

When Oklahomans consider all the tales that have been attributed to Jack Walton, they should marvel at the possibilities of Wilson springing anything new about him—!!!

WORLD AVIATORS NOW AT CAPITAL OF HOME NATION

Round-world fliers land in National Capital on Seattle Trip

PAY SOLDIER TRIBUTE

Fliers Forced Down by Fog at Aberdeen, Md., But Trip is Made

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The army around-the-world fliers arrived over Washington from New York at 2:54 p. m. today. They circled over the city with field guns booming below in a hearty salute, then headed for Arlington Cemetery where they dropped flowers on the graves of America's unknown hero of the World war.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—A report from Major General Patrick, chief of the army air service, received at Bolling field here said the fliers had been forced down by fog at Aberdeen, Md., at 12:20 this afternoon. They would resume their flight in an hour, the message said.

Aberdeen is 71 miles from Washington.

President Coolidge, who had arrived at the field early, decided to remain until the fliers appeared. The cabinet members, who followed later to the field, followed the example set by the president.

A luncheon engagement of the president was called off in his desire to personally pay honor to the round-the-world fliers.

Luncheon also meant nothing to the great crowd that jammed every inch of landing space at Bolling field. Automobiles were four to six deep around the field.

MITCHELL FIELD, New York, Sept. 9.—The United States army round-the-world fliers hopped off from Mitchell field for Washington at 9:35 o'clock today.

The fliers took off from the field in the face of a 35 mile wind. The flight had been delayed for half an hour for Major General Patrick, chief of the air service, to receive reports on the weather from Washington. Although the report stated that the skies were overcast and rain was probable, they decided to hop off.

The planes were laden with flowers when they took air, which were intended to be scattered over the Unknown Soldier's grave as the machines passed over Arlington cemetery.

Scarcely a dozen persons aside of army officials and newspapermen came through the gloom and drizzle to speed them on their journey. There was no ceremonial preliminary. Lieut. Smith met Major General Patrick as he emerged this morning with weather reports. "Do we go general?" he asked anxiously.

"Yes, I guess we're off," said General Patrick. Smith ran to his machine shouted to Wade and Nelson "let's go" and climbed aboard.

Chilean President Resigns at Request Of Military Leaders

(By the Associated Press)

SANTIAGO, Chile, Sept. 9.—Pres. Arturo Alessandri of Chile has resigned at the request of the military and has been succeeded by Gen. Luis Alparnena, head of the military cabinet, which assumed the power last night.

President Alessandri tendered his resignation after he had been requested by the military leaders, who suggested that he absent himself from the country and that they would guarantee his safe transport from the country as well as that of his family.

PERSISTENT MEASURE REDUCE DEATHS FROM TUBERCULOSIS

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The city of Framingham, Mass., after seven years of effort, has reduced the tuberculosis death rate among its people by 68 per cent, as contrasted with a reduction of 32 percent in nearby towns where no such intensive campaign was conducted. The death rate among infants under one year of age was reduced to 40 per cent.

The demonstration at Framingham was conducted by the National Tuberculosis Association.

Parsons to Asylum

(By the Associated Press)

MIAMI, Sept. 9.—Nebbia Parsons of Picher, Okla., 15-year-old confessed slayer of Lloyd Smith, also of Picher, will be taken to Vinita for confinement in the state hospital for insane to which he was committed late yesterday afternoon by W. M. Thomas, county judge after the hearing here.

STAR SHORTSTOP GRABBED BY SOX

Prexy Robert Quinn of the Boston Red Sox, avers that Herb Welch, above, shortstop purchased recently from the Danville club of the Three Eye League, is destined to show the big leagues some brilliant fielding and batting.

SHANGHAI CENTER OF CHINESE WAR

Foreign Nations Plan to Protect Settlement From Hostilities

(By the Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Sept. 9.—An observer, who returned from the Sang front at 4 o'clock, reported that he had seen the Shekiang troops push forward their firing line two miles.

The rainfall, which started at 4:15 stopped the fighting. In accordance with Chinese customs, fighting is carried on only during good weather.

Almost at the same time the fighting started, defending units mounted guard at the international zone and the foreign concessions making an objective to keep the zone "safe for emergency, which is declared to exist."

SHANGHAI, China, Sept. 9.—While the principal battle in China's civil war continued today with renewed interest in the vicinity of the principal city of Shanghai, Chang Tso-Lin, war lord of Manchuria; and Wu Pei-Fu, military head of the Peking government, entered their forces to meet in the main fight for control of the central government of China.

Out of a series of reports from the defence forces of Shanghai in the past 24 hours, it was apparent that the fighting was going closer to the city by invading forces.

Warned by fighting west of here at Nansang, 12 miles from this city, foreign governments landed 1,100 troops from 22 war ships stationed in the harbor at daybreak and were ready to defend the front should it come within the line of firing.

Wilson Would Run Walton

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 9.—George Wilson, former labor candidate, today issued a challenge to J. C. Walton, democratic nominee for U. S. senator, to meet him in a debate on campaign issues in Oklahoma City next Monday.

Wilson declared he would charge that Walton is not sincere in his affiliation to labor and that he would attack Walton's record as governor.

"I want you to hear what I have to say and answer if you dare," Wilson's challenge said.

Rebel General in Action

(By the Associated Press)

SAN JUAN, Nicaragua, Sept. 9.—Gen. Gregorio Ferrer, leader of the Honduran rebel forces, is marching on Pucallales, where the government is prepared to hold the city against attack.

ARCTIC EXPLORER SAFE ON LABRADOR COAST

(By the Associated Press)

FREEPORT, Me., Sept. 9.—Donald D. MacMillan, returning from his arctic exploration and scientific work of the past year in the schooner, Bowdoin, has arrived on the Labrador coast, according to a message received by his sister from Blar, Newfoundland, he said: "On Labrador coast. All well."

Train Wreck is Plot

(By the Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9.—The ditching of the Pacific Sunset Limited near Maricopa, Ark., last night resulting in the death of an engine man, was the result of a deliberate plot to wreck the train, officials of the road said today.

PER PUPIL LEVY VOTED DOWN BY STATE TRIBUNAL

Fifteen-dollar Per Pupil School Levy Voted As Unconstitutional

APPROPRIATION PASSED

Linscheid Says Means Must Be Found to Aid Weak School Districts

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 9.—The proposed amendment to the State Constitution, providing for a $15 per pupil school levy, voted upon favorably at the special election held October 2, 1923, was today declared unconstitutional by the state supreme court.

The "weak school" appropriation of $650,000 appropriated by the second extraordinary session of the ninth Oklahoma legislature is constitutional, the court held in dismissing the appeal from the district court of Muskogee in which the plaintiff, Fred A. Miller, of Muskogee sought to enjoin the state officers from disbursing the money.

In declaring the school levy unconstitutional the court held that the proposal should not have been submitted to the people without first receiving a two-thirds vote of both houses of the legislature.

The $15 per pupil levy would have raised an annual $5,000,000 school aid fund.

Some means must be found to provide something like equal opportunity for the school children of Oklahoma, is the belief of President A. Linscheid, of the East Central State Teachers College, when informed that the proposed $15 per pupil amendment had been held unconstitutional by the supreme court. He was gratified, however, to learn that the $650,000 appropriation had been held constitutional, inasmuch as the service for this has already been rendered, and it would have been unjust for the teachers to have been denied their well earned compensation.

Mr. Linscheid believes that the citizens of the state should begin work at once on some method to give the children of the weak school districts an equal opportunity with those who live in more wealthy districts.

For the time being it will be necessary for the patrons to vote the maximum allowed under the law and keep the schools going as best they can with local taxation.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR COUNTY FAIR

Buildings Prepared for Grand Opening Uptown Here Tomorrow

Plans for the annual Pontotoc County Free Fair were being rushed to completion today for the grand opening tomorrow morning in the immediate vicinity of the Pontotoc building on East Main street.

Fine arts, agriculture, domestic and school exhibits will be displayed in the Pontotoc building on East Main street while livestock entries will be placed in the livery barn near the Pontotoc building.

All exhibits and entries must be recorded by tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock or they will be refused by fair officials. This step is being taken to prevent further difficulties in connection with the fair.

Workers have been busy during the past two days conditioning the Pontotoc building and the temporary fair barns for the greatest representation of county exhibits in the history of the free fairs here.

Tuesday afternoon found laborers practically finished with their preparations. Exhibits were refused today but the fair buildings will be open all day tomorrow for entries from over the county.

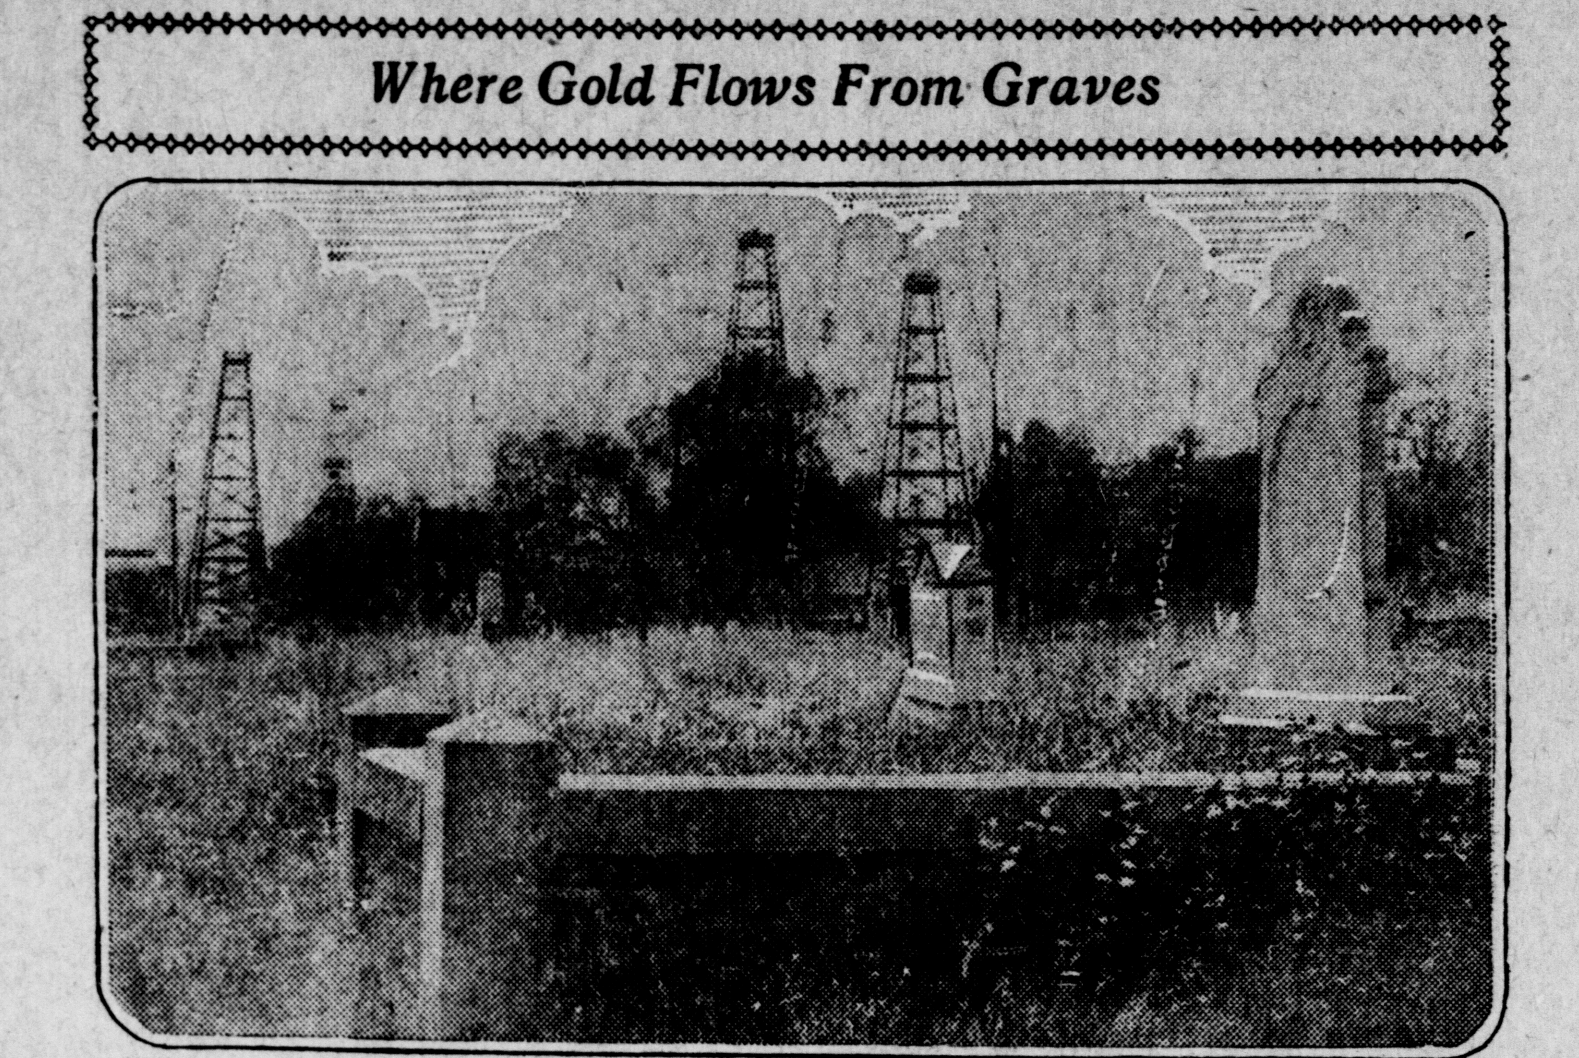

The township fairs held over the county last week have given considerable impetus to the county fair, which swing into session tomorrow.

EARLY ESTIMATES OF CARTER COTTON CROP INCREASED

(By the Associated Press)

ARDMORE, Sept. 9.—Early estimates of the cotton crop of Carter county is placed at 25,000 bales, slightly in excess of last year's yield. The acreage is slightly under that of last year, but the yield is heavier. Rain is needed at this time.

That there will be a shortage of pickers is predicted, since all available help has already gone to the Texas fields in response to a call of 60,000 pickers at Fort Worth, last week.

Gold is being spouted by a graveyard in California. Oil derricks are giving up fortunes alongside tombstones in a cemetery in a suburb of Los Angeles. The oil has been found to underlie the whole town, and derricks are everywhere now, in the front yards of beautiful homes, in gardens, alongside churches.

CHICAGO AWAITS DRAMA'S CLIMAX

Cordon of Police to Surround Court Building When Sentence is Read

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Last minute rehearsals in the legal drama in the sentence of life imprisonment or death tomorrow of Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold Jr., for the kidnapping and murder of Robert F. Tamm, were under way today.

When court opens tomorrow at 9:30 Judge John R. Caverly will mount the bench and announce the verdict he reached after ten days of pondering over the evidence in the colorful trial of "the super-men and college youths," who confessed to the crime.

While all the world turned to watching, they spent the day reading and playing games with the prisoners and seemed little disturbed or worried—but are looking forward to the convening of the court tomorrow with much hope.

"Tell Dickie that we are praying and hoping he will hope for his life to be spared," was the pathetic message Mrs. Loeb gave Allen Loeb, his brother, to give Dickie, last night.

Fifty policemen and scores of plain clothesmen will be on duty outside and in the corridors of the criminal court building to insure an orderly convening of court. Although the court room will not be open to spectators, it is expected that there will be much difficulty in keeping order.

Because of the many threats received by Judge Caverly in connection with the case, special precaution will be taken for his safety.

FORWARD STEP TAKEN IN HERRIN WAR ZONE

(By the Associated Press)

HERRIN, Sept. 9.—A forward step on the streets of Herrin, it is to be observed, was taken toward the strict enforcement of the law, last night, according to Mayor C. E. Anderson, when members of the city council met in session and by a unanimous vote approved the mayor's police appointments.

For many months prior to the council meeting two sets of policemen have patrolled the streets of Herrin. Discouraged among the aldermen since last May, in the opinion of the mayor, had retarded the city protection.

A small number of troops removed from two counties of Illinois national guards are on guard here with no definite date set for relief. Troops were rushed in Williamson county August 31, following a clash between the Ku Klux Klan and Anti-Klansmen in which six men were killed.

Games Off

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The Brooklyn-Philadelphia game in the National League was postponed today on account of wet grounds.

The Boston-New York game in the National League was postponed today on account of wet grounds.

Held for Murder

PAWHUSKA, Sept. 9.—Charles Cottingham, 45, charged with the murder of Adolphus Goddard, 21, whom he shot to death yesterday, waived preliminary hearing today before a justice of the peace and was held for the district court without bail.

Forgets Debt to Railroad; Would Pay It

When a farmer's bid cow gets in the route of a freight train—it's a Jersey after its demise and legal negotiations are figured on that basis.

No one stops a conductor to remind him that he has missed a ticket—they would rather keep it as a souvenir.

In fact—most everybody would be content to ride on passenger trains without paying the fees and still not suffer from undisturbed conscience.

One man has been located, who believes in dealing fairly with the railroads and that was such a rarity that ticket agents in Oklahoma were sent copy of a letter from a man who wished to repay a debt unknown to the railroad.

Following is a copy of the letter sent to local agent, I. McNair: "Ticket agent of Frisco Depot, Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Dear Sir:

While attending the camp meeting of the Kansas State Holiness Association at Wichita, Kansas, Bro. Culp, one of the evangelists, preached a sermon on making restitution for past sins. It called to my mind something I owe the Frisco railroad. In 1913, when I was past twelve years of age, I went from Tulsa, Okla., to Pawnee, Okla., and back on half fare tickets. While I did not lie about my age I knew I should have had a full fare ticket, so it was wrong just the same.

The amount I owe you would equal one full fare ticket from Tulsa, Okla., to Pawnee, Okla., and the interest due you on the same. Will you please send me a statement of the amount due you.

It has been three years since I was converted, not by shaking hands with a preacher or signing a card, but by repenting, confessing my sins and praying until the Lord forgave and blotted them out. I had forgotten that debt until Bro. Culp's sermon reminded me of it or I would have paid it long ago.

Yours respectfully, (Signed) RUBY M. LUNDY.

A copy of the original letter was forwarded to the general offices at St. Louis.

Plan Celebration For Dedication of Canadian Structure

The bridge over the Canadian river ten miles north of Ada will be open to traffic by September 20, according to George D. Key, builder and principal owner. He says most of the steel is in place now and it will take only a few days to floor the bridge.

Plans are being made for a big celebration about the first of October, getting together the people of this county, Seminole, Hughes and others. State officials will be invited, and the occasion will be a gala affair if the aims of some of those who have been talking the matter are carried out.

PRINCE OF WALES WONT LET FLIGHT HALT HIM

SYOSSET, N. Y., Sept. 9.—The Prince of Wales, whose right eye suffered from inflammation when a clod of turf which he received while attending a polo match yesterday, was considerably improved today.

The Prince did not allow the mishap to interfere with the round of pleasure arranged in his honor and although it was swollen and pained him considerably, he attended a party at the home of F. Ambrose Clarke, as he had planned.

The city of Paris is in debt to the extent of 5,000,000 francs, but among its possessions are articles of furniture and art treasures worth 320,000,000 francs.

DRY CANDIDATE RAP OLD PARTIES

Claims Candidates Fail to Pledge Dry Program To People

(By the Associated Press)

CHEERYVALE, Kansas, Sept. 9.—Declaring that he stood for the "preservation and improvement of the morale of the people," H. T. Farris, prohibition nominee for presidency, said in an address here today that if elected to the office, the White House would "sure enough be without a spot of oil or booze thereon or therein."

He spoke before the tri-state convention of the W. O. W. Representatives from Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma were present.

"The two old line parties have never clearly and unequivocally declared themselves on the dry question. Although I put the question through the public press up to Mr. Davis as to his wet or dry inclinations, he sidestepped the question by declaring that he would enforce the law and do what the people asked him to do," Mr. Farris said.

"You may ask why I didn't put the same question to President Coolidge. It was not necessary. His keeping Andrew Mellon, one of the former leading beer manufacturers of the country, as secretary of the treasury and head-over-all official of those connected with the enforcement of the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead Act, answers that question."

"Of course you all clearly recognize that there was no necessity of propounding the question to LaFollette, who has no real political party and whose record of his association in the past in making Milwaukee the home of Hell's Wrought beer, is well known."

BREWSTER WINS

(By the Associated Press)

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 9.—Ralph O. Brewster of Portland, Republican gubernatorial candidate, a member of state senate, was elected governor of Maine yesterday by a plurality of over 30,000 votes over William R. Pattengall, his democratic opponent.

Pattengall, a former attorney general of Maine conducted his campaign against Brewster principally on the Klan issue. Brewster dwelt chiefly on the state issue during his election campaign making no mention of the Klan.

Post Field Major To Relieve Aerial Chief in Michigan

(By the Associated Press)

FOR SILL, Sept. 9.—Maj. Thomas G. Lanphier, for the last three years commanding officer of the Forty-fourth observation squadron and Post Field, was to leave here this week for Selfridge Field, Mich., where he will take command of the First Pursuit Group, army air service.

Major Lanphier will relieve Maj. Carl Spatz, noted American ace, who formerly commanded the Ninety-fourth (Hat-in-the-Ring) squadron, famed for its combat record in France during the World war. Major Spatz is to spend two years in the general service schools at Fort Leavenworth, Kans.

Major Lanphier was in command of the air service training school at Isonodon, France, during the war, and last year led the flight of six DeHavilland planes to Porto Rico and return. Capt. Richard Ballard will assume command of Post Field temporarily, war department orders state.

RECORD NUMBERS CROWD HALLS OF SCHOOLS IN ADA

Over Nine Hundred Registered For Work at East Central This Year

CLASSES ARE CROWDED

High School Reports Near Four Hundred Mark in Enrollment

Over 900 students had enrolled in the East Central State Teachers college here at 2:30 this afternoon and the line of prospective students before the registrar's office had not dwindled from its status of Monday morning.

President A. Linscheid of the College was satisfied today that the enrollment would surpass the mark set last year and that the student attendance at the institution would compare favorably with other similar institutions in the state.

According to reports from the College registrar's office, the student enrollment at the present time is considerably greater than at the corresponding period of last year and prospects for a further increase is exceedingly favorable.

President Linscheid stated that he expected the attendance mark to surpass the thousand goal before next Monday morning. A horde of teachers in rural schools in session this week, is expected while other rural schools will close on the following week. The rural schools of the East Central district will undoubtedly send in a large number of students and further enlarge the attendance at East Central.

Class Division Needed.

Owing to the phenomenal increase in enrollment on the second day of the term, the necessity of divisions in required classes is apparent. The English classes have already been overflowed and a division is apparent. History and Education are the two other required subjects that show prospects of division this week.

Owing to the increase in students and the necessity of division of the departments, President Linscheid states that the use of a dozen student teachers is apparent. Provision for this use is made by the North Central association.

Regardless of the increased enrollment and the overflowing of classrooms, classes swung into regular session this morning and will continue throughout the semester.

At the high school, Principal K. W. Harris announced that approximately 400 students had enrolled up to 2:30 this afternoon. This is regarded as the high mark in the history of the local high school for corresponding periods of other years.

All high school classes were in session this morning despite the fact that many classes were overflowed and teachers and school officials presented with a difficult problem in taking care of overflow conditions.

Ward schools were also declared to be in full session today and in many instances conditions were exceptionally crowded.

Definite information concerning the enrollment in ward schools could not be obtained because of the fact the officials are busy indexing and listing free textbooks on hand.

The distribution of free textbooks has been started but will not be in full swing until later this week.

Half of Oklahoma Students Enrolled In Classroom Work

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 9.—One half of Oklahoma's 700,000 students who will attend the public schools are at work in the classrooms and the other 350,000 will take up classroom work on Sept. 15 when all of the state's 5000 school districts will be in operation. M. A. Nash, state superintendent of public instruction, announced today.

The enrollment will be 25,000 later than last year and the attendance will probably be the largest in the history of the state, Nash announced.

OKLAHOMA CITY.—County and city superintendents of Oklahoma have been mailed bulletins warning them that all related requisitions, with accompanying bonds, should be rushed to M. A. Nash, state superintendent of public instruction.

The shipment of free text books for the courses of study in the grades and high schools has been very prompt, and practically all the books are at the depositories in Oklahoma City. Due to belated adoption and the time necessary to deliver the books to their districts, it will be necessary to start off the fall term with an inadequate supply.

A bottle can drag a weight of 125 grains up a plane of five degrees inclination.

THE ADA EVENING NEWS

Established in 1904
Wm. Dee Little, Editor
Byron Norrell, Associate Editor
Published Every Evening, Except Saturday and Sunday Morning
at Ada, Oklahoma
By the News Publishing and Printing Co.

THE ADA EVENING NEWS
By Carrier, per week 15c
By Carrier, per month 50c
By Mail, per month 50c
One Year, in advance $5.00

THE ADA WEEKLY NEWS
Published Every Thursday, at per year $1.00

MEMBER OF ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for re-publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

Entered at the postoffice at Ada, Oklahoma, as second class mail matter.

Telephones: Business Office, 4. Editorial Department, 307

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

A NEW COMMANDMENT I give unto you, that ye love one another: as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are My disciples, if ye have love one to another.—John 13:34, 35.

The action of the assembly of the League of Nations at Geneva in going on record in favor of another disarmament conference and compulsory arbitration is significant in a number of ways. When the disarmament conference was held at Washington it was impossible to do more than deal with the navy. France refused to consider for a moment the reduction of land or air forces but now under a new government she declares her readiness to take up this question also. Heavy taxes necessary to keep up large armies are proving a heavy drain on the nations of Europe and through the League it is possible to arrive at an understanding that will greatly relieve the situation. The United States, the original champion of the principle of arbitration, is asked to participate in the next move and there is no reason why it should not do so. Certainly acting as peacemaker is not deviating from the fundamental principles that have always guided the destinies of this nation.

"Don't kill a child" is the slogan that the Kiwanis Club of Oklahoma City has adopted for use on the highways. It is an effective sign, for there is no man with heart so hard that he wants the blood of an innocent on child his hands. Even with the danger of killing a child, however, motorists continue to speed on streets and highways where care should be used. The world has little regard for the man who deliberately speeds and injures himself, but it has great regard for the innocent child or grown-up who meets death untimely on account of the foolish driving of a careless individual.

So far the tariff, the panacea for all national ills, is about the only thing Republican campaigners have offered in the way of a remedy for the ills of the country. The trouble is that it has been clearly demonstrated to the farmers of the Northwest that the tariff cannot help them, hence will refuse to swallow that bunk. The tariff is the old standby when a campaign issue is needed but this year other things must be considered. As the country increases in population and its industries change in character, other problems are presented and what was a live issue half a century ago does not fit modern conditions.

Great revivals in many sections of this county during the last few months have been reported. The ministers are doing a wonderful work here, and they deserve the assistance and prayers of all God fearing men. The world has never given the proper respect and financial appreciation to its ministers of the gospel, but just the same they go ahead and preach the ways of Christian living and the hope of a life to come. Were it not for preachers in Pontotoc county none of us would want to live here. May the good work continue and their lives of usefulness be long and properly appreciated.

The greatest tribute to the ministers of the gospel we know of is the fact that when one does make a mistake, the matter is big news. It is no news when a crook crooks some one. It is not particularly interesting when a politician goes bad, with the exception of the fact that he is taking the money which belongs to the public, but it is so unusual when a minister does something wrong that it is big news and interesting. This fact is a tribute to the ministry.

The bridge across the Canadian river will be ready for use by the twentieth of this month, George D. Keys, builder, announces. A big celebration will be held about the first of October, and well known men will be asked to attend. The road has been designated a state highway, and no doubt before another year has passed, strings of cars will be coming and going by way of this new bridge. It ought to prove a good investment for the owners and a valuable asset to Ada.

Good highways are a necessity of modern times. Efforts have been made to build them with little cost, but that seems to be out of the question. It takes money to build highways and big amounts of it. It is no longer a question of whether a county can afford to have good roads; it is whether it can afford to do without them.

Building Model houses may become something of a fad with newspapers and architects, but they seem bent on building structures that only the well to do can afford. It is now up to some enterprising individual to build a few that are within reach of people of moderate means. They are the ones who need demonstrations in this line.

According to the Roff Eagle, citizens in the vicinity of Roff made their township fair a regular picnic affair, beginning Monday and extending over Tuesday. That is the right idea. The annual township and county fairs should by all means become picnic days of the year.

SPEAKING OF CHINESE PUZZLES

MARKET REPORT

(Reported by Felix Couture, Shaw Building, Ada)

New Orleans Market.

	Open	High	Low	Close
Oct.	22.85	22.92	22.65	22.77
Dec.	22.90	22.98	22.70	22.85
Jan.	22.95	23.00	22.73	22.87

New York Futures.

	Open	High	Low	Close
Oct.	23.73	23.78	23.50	23.52
Dec.	23.30	23.30	23.01	23.04
Jan.	23.15	23.17	22.90	23.04

Spot Markets.

	Mids	Sales	Changes
New York	24.50		10 lower
New Orleans	22.81	3,007	24 lower
Houston	23.15	15,885	10 lower
Ft. Worth	22.25	250	Unchd
Dallas	23.30	7,166	5 lower
Galveston	23.20	1,700	10 lower
Memphis	23.50	50	Unchd

Spread the Butter a Little Thicker

The U. S. Department of Agriculture announced the stock of butter on hand August 1 as follows:
1924 133,000,000 lbs.
1923 101,774,000 lbs.
Excess 31,226,000 lbs.
During August, more butter was stored than withdrawn. The September 1 figures will probably show:
1924 153,000,000 lbs.
1923 102,900,000 lbs.
Excess 50,100,000 lbs.
The Chicago market on 90 score Standards today, September 5 is quoted at 36 1-4 cents as compared with 43 cents a year ago.
Production has been running ahead of consumption and it is apparent that with much larger supplies in storage and current production also larger than last year, a more general use of dairy products, especially butter, will be necessary to clear storage and current stocks.
"Spread the butter a little thicker" would be an appropriate slogan for the next few months.

Fresh eggs are in good demand. The trouble with the egg business is that a large proportion will not grade Extras or Firsts. There is a difference of from six to seven cents a dozen between the top and medium qualities of fresh eggs. It is too bad that producers do not fully realize that only the highest qualities bring top prices.
To secure best results, eggs should be gathered daily, kept in a cool place, marketed at least three times a week, and sold on a quality basis.
Receipts of poultry, both live and dressed, have shown a material increase during the last two weeks.
Market quotations on live and dressed fowl are on a little firmer basis than last week, due to better demand. Chickens, both live and dressed are easier, due to the fact that by far the larger part of the total receipts of poultry consist of spring chickens. This tendency will probably continue for some time.
(Produce Review, prepared by Swift & Company, Union Stock Yard, Chicago, Ill., September 5, 1924.)

Fruit Growers Ask Aid.

(By the Associated Press)
MELBOURNE.—The Australian dried fruits industry is in a grave position due to competition from California and from cheap labor countries and to the rejection of Imperial preference by the British government. This summary of the situation was admitted to Prime Minister Bruce by a deputation from the fruit districts. The growers asked immediate financial assistance.
The government promised to hold a special cabinet conclave to find a permanent solution. Growers are a little more hopeful than they have been, as farmer members in Federal Parliament are pushing their cause forward.

PRODUCE PRODUCTS AT LOW DEMAND IN COUNTY

Produce products are hitting their lightest scale of the season at the present time, according to produce dealers here Saturday.

While the volume of business is small at the present time, it is lighter than at this period of last year.

To offset this disadvantage in the sale of chickens, eggs and other produce, the market price is considerably higher than at the same period last year.

Practically all produce bought up here by buying houses is sold to eastern markets, only local stores taking a small part of the business.

The two produce houses in Ada purchase all available produce in pontotoc county and from nearby counties in instances are marketed here.

The approach of Thanksgiving and Christmas claim the peak in poultry and produce buying.

Competitive Drill Of Training Corps To be New Feature

(By the Associated Press)
KANSAS CITY, Sept. 8.—A competitive drill for reserve officers training corps units will be one of the features of the reserve officers convention of the Seventh Corps Area, to be held here September 22-24. Both senior and junior R. O. T. C. will be represented in the competition and two silver cups will be awarded for the most perfect performances. States in the area are Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas.

Discussion of reserve problems and the national defense policy will have an important place on the program. Events on the program include rifle and pistol competition, a golf tournament, polo games between regular army teams from Fort Leavenworth and Fort Riley and a motor car ride to Fort Leavenworth.

Reunions of the 35th and 89th divisions, composed of middle west men who fought overseas in the World War, will be held the latter part of the week.

McAlester Lad Out To Hang Up Record In Aerial Jumping

(By the Associated Press)
LAWRENCE, Kas., Sept. 8.—Returning to the University of Kansas for his third consecutive year of Varsity competition on the field, lanky Tom Poor of McAlester, Okla., is expected to hang up new Missouri Valley records in the high jump this year.

Poor has just returned from the Olympic games in Paris where he competed against the best athletes in the world. Although K. U. athlete did not win the world title in the high jump, he was among the top finishers in the event and did his six feet four to prove his right to compete.

Poor has never been defeated in the United States during his two years of Varsity competition, but he has been tied. He has added to his laurels in field meets not only in the Missouri Valley conference but in outside meets as well.

Poor is a good student. He expects to graduate next spring.

British Flyers Decline Honors.

(By the Associated Press)
TOKIO.—The Japanese government's offer of decorations for Major A. Stuart MacLaren, leader of the British flight around the world, and his companions was courteously declined by the British officers on the ground that they have not completed their mission and do not deserve the honor, it is learned on good authority.

Buy it—rent it—sell it—find it with a NEWS want ad.

You Know a Tonic is Good

when it makes you eat like a hungry boy and brings back the color to your cheeks. You can soon feel the Strengthening, Invigorating Effect of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC 40c.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEES

- For Sheriff: W. B. WALKER
- For County Commissioner Dist. 1: H. CLAY STEPHENS
- For County Treasurer: ALBERT CHAMBERLAIN
- For Court Clerk: L. E. FRANKLIN
- For County Clerk: W. A. PECK
- For Justice of Peace, Ada Twp.: H. J. BROWN
- JOSEPH ANDERSON
- For Constable, Ada Twp.: W. B. ADAIR

ECZEMA

After Others Fail
PETERSON'S OINTMENT
Big Box 35 Cents

The mighty healing power of Peterson's Ointment when eczema or terrible itching of skin and scalp tortures you is known to tens of thousands of people the country over, often the itching goes overnight.
For pimples, acne, rough and red skin, ulcers, chafing, sunburn, burning feet and all blemishes and eruptions it is supremely efficient, as any broad minded druggist will tell you.

If you want milk and butter try a sack of our BOSS DAIRY FEED.
Phone 300 ADA SEED CO.

Constipation lays you wide open to other diseases—relieve it with Kellogg's Bran

Don't take chances with constipation! This terrible ailment can send poisons into your system which may lead to serious diseases. The longer these poisons accumulate, the more dangerous they become. Begin at once to free your system from them.

Eat Kellogg's Bran. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to relieve the most chronic cases of constipation, or your grocer will return your money. It is nature's own way to make the intestine function naturally and regularly—for Kellogg's Bran acts exactly as nature acts. It makes forever unnecessary the use of habit-forming drugs and pills.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, has proved successful when all else has failed. This is because Kellogg's is ALL Bran. Doctors everywhere agree that only ALL Bran can be 100 per cent effective—they recommend Kellogg's Bran.

Eat at least two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases with every meal. You will like it. You will enjoy the delicious nut-like flavor—the exclusive Kellogg flavor.

Eat Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in wonderful bran muffins, bread, griddle cakes and other recipes given on every package.

Kellogg's Bran is the road back to health. It is made in Battle Creek and is served in individual packages at the leading hotels and clubs everywhere. Ask for it at your restaurant. It is sold by all grocers.

NOTICE!!

Nettles and Nettles have moved from 210 North Broadway to 119 North Broadway.

We cordially invite all of our customers to move with us, and will appreciate any new ones that would come to see us.

NETTLES & NETTLES AND COPE GARAGE

Notice! Fair Bread Prize Winners

To the lady winning first prize at the County Fair on bread, rolls or cake baked with Heliotrope Flour, we will give one 48-lb. sack of that "Good Flour Heliotrope."

Phone 300 ADA SEED CO.

TRY A NEWS WANT AD FOR QUICK RESULTS

School of Music

Fall Term, September 8 to December 19

MRS. E. S. WINGET, Principal
MRS. F. L. GLASGOW, Assistant

Piano — Pipe Organ — Theory — Harmony — History

Main Studio, 828 East Main. Phone 563

Hayes School Studio, 523 East Fifteenth. Phone 807

Further information phone

Main Studio—563

NEW SWEATERS

for Sports and School

The new Fall Sweaters are here—and such a fortunate arrival. Every Miss will want one for sports and school.

Brush-wool, Brush-wool and Knitted Cadet All-wool Sweaters for Misses and Ladies

Blues, gray, red, tangerine, tan, white, powder blue, green and combinations.

$3.50 to $12.50

SIMPSON'S
THE SHOPPING CENTER OF ADA

OIL NEWS

The American Oil and Refining Company has a new location in the northeast of the southwest of section 3-4-6 on the Amy Breco farm. This is about a mile south of the Bowles & Smith well in section 34-5-6. Cable tools will be used.

The same company is erecting the rig for a well on the northeast of the northeast of section 16-4-6 on the McCurry farm. Rotary cutfit will be used. The same rig that has been in use in section 7-4-6.

The well by the same company in section 17-4-6 will be left as it is, with a hole 2100 feet deep, for the time being. It is probable that later the tools will be moved back and the hole deepened. It is in good shape, and no definite decision about it has been made.

Bowles & Smith are getting ready to spud in on their off-set on the Ray farm in section 34-5-6. This is north of the discovery well and near the schoolhouse.

Champion English Sprinter
Doubts He Will Run Again

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON.—Harold Abrahams, sensational Cambridge University sprinter who won the Olympic 100 metre championship, defeating four of the fastest American sprint stars has retired temporarily from competition to take a rest and resume his studies for the bar.

Shortly after the Olympics, Abrahams was reported to have broken down from the effects of his exertions at Colombes, but he explained that he had had an over-exposure of competition and needed time to recuperate. While he is studying he does not intend to don his spiked shoes, as he believes his professional and athletic will not mix successfully.

"Nothing below first class form is good enough for me," Abrahams was quoted as saying, "so it is better to leave the track alone altogether. The odds are I shall not run again, but I expect to try to get to Amsterdam as a 'rubber'."

Miss Vergie Sparks and niece, Eveline Walker, who have been visiting in Tulsa and Holdenville, returned today.

666

Is a Prescription for

Colds, Grippe, Dengue Fever, Constipation, Bilious Headaches and Malarial Fever.

Insist on TAN-LAC
VEGETABLE PILLS
For Constipation

A Good Thing - DON'T MISS IT.

Send your name and address plainly written together with 5 cents (and this city) to Chamberlain Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa, and receive in return a trial package containing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, "flu" and whooping coughs, and tickling throat; Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for stomach troubles, indigestion, gassy pains that crowd the heart, biliousness and constipation; Chamberlain's Salve, needed in every family for burns, scalds, wounds, piles, and skin affections; these valued family medicines for only 5 cents. Don't miss it.

Have your loose squeaky wheels tightened at THEE SQUARE DEAL
SERVICE STATION
Broadway and Twelfth

MARCELLING
by experienced operator 75c
525 East 12th street
Phone 261
FOR APPOINTMENT

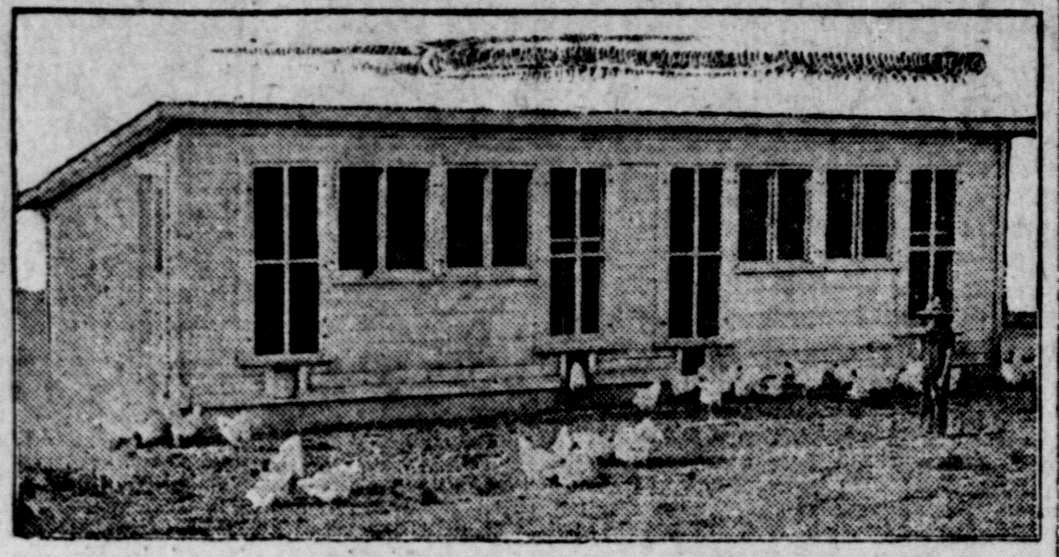

HAY FEVER
COMPLETE RELIEF
GUARANTEED
Thousands of sufferers last year completely relieved in 24 hours with new internal prescription of Cleveland specialist that quickly neutralizes pollen poisoning through the system. Known as "Hay Fever." Complete relief in 24 hours positively guaranteed. No money back. Send 10c for 24 hour sample treatment to Cleveland Laboratories Co., Cleveland, Regular size sold by all good druggists.
Wozencraft Drug Store
Gwin & Mays

LILLIAN STRITE

Violin
Instructor

E. C. S. T. C.

Phone 543

Laying and Breeding House for the Average Farm Flock

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building work on the farm, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

Almost no farm is without a flock of poultry, but there are many farms where the producers of eggs do not receive the consideration they deserve, and as a consequence fall far below the productivity of which they are capable.

Here is a laying and breeding house for a farm flock which numbers about 75 hens. And the building is very economical, considering the first cost. The size is 12 feet by 27 feet, which will allow four square feet for each hen when it is used for the flock of 75. The building is of frame construction on a concrete foundation, and it has a floor of concrete. The sloping roof gives the south face a height sufficient to accommodate windows and doors which furnish light and ventilation. At the back are the nests and the roosts.

The pitch of the roof is sufficient to make it shed water readily and the tight construction insures warmth in the winter months. This poultry house is altogether suitable for the farm flock and will repay the efforts and expense of building it.

Equipment of Modern Homes Mostly Built In

Space-saving is an all-important item in home building and to this end architects and builders have resorted to the built-in features.

The built-in equipment is valuable both from the standpoint of convenience and from the fact that it requires the minimum of space for installation; also many otherwise unused portions of the home can be developed into useful areas.

The modern kitchen is much smaller than the old type; it is designed and arranged to reduce the number of steps necessary to do the work, a highly appreciated advance in labor-saving. Cabinets which do duty as both storage and work table, so planned as to permit the cook to reach the materials without walking back and forth is the accepted standard of modern kitchens.

Electric equipment and arrangement of the wall plugs are also in conformity to the modern idea of saving in labor, and when properly arranged and in connection with the built-in equipment are a most pleasing addition to the kitchen.

The breakfast nook or room is probably the greatest comfort feature to the home, combining convenience with great saving in labor, more especially where there are children. The equipment of this room should be built-in, sanitary fixtures. Many practical fixture arrangements are featured by manufacturers specializing in this type of equipment which are a delight to every woman who manages her home.

The breakfast-room equipment should be planned so that it can be easily cleaned and for this purpose tiled floor and either tiled or washable walls should be planned. Tiled floors and walls, while costing more for initial installation, have practically little or no maintenance expense and in a short time more than pay for the added expense.

Built-in refrigerators are handy, but in all a recessed space for a standard type is to be preferred, as these have been developed to a much more efficient degree than the type which are a part of kitchen cabinets and equipment. In planning the kitchen do so with an eye to reducing the size and to a removal of surplus furniture which requires moving while the floors and walls are being cleaned.

In-a-door beds or wall beds are always acceptable features in every home and are of convenience not alone from the standpoint of extra sleeping accommodations, but from the double services which the rooms can be put to. A sewing-room or nursery with one of these beds can at a moment's notice be converted to a guest chamber, a very satisfactory arrangement.

Other features, such as mothproof closets, closet cabinets with drawers and arrangements for winter or summer storage are very useful and practical items and their installation cost is very minor in comparison with their convenience.

Built-in features never can nor will displace furniture, and are not intended for such a purpose; they are, however, valuable in reducing the number of pieces of furniture required and the elimination of many unwieldy and cumbersome units which must be moved to and fro when cleaning.

The built-in equipment in the modern home of today is so built and arranged as to be thoroughly sanitary and to require the minimum of labor for cleaning, a condition quick to be taken advantage of by housewives who are insistent upon incorporating these features in the house plan.

Communists Active

WARSAW, Poland.—Disturbances due to Communists are growing

Best Way to Prepare
Floor for New Finish

Given a common floor to refinish under ordinary conditions, scrub thoroughly with warm water to which household ammonia has been added, about one part ammonia to every eight parts water. Grease spots and stains may require special scrubbing with a stronger solution of ammonia water. Where this fails, washing with alcohol or benzine should be tried. Paint spots may be removed by washing with turpentine and sandpapering. Washing powders should never be used. They are hard to remove completely and their presence is harmful to the varnish which follows. Waxed or oiled floors do not require such cleaning, but the wax (if ordinary soft wax) or oil must be thoroughly removed by washing with alcohol or benzine.

Failure to remove all of this means failure of the job. A durable varnish finish is not possible where wax and oil remain.

For floors that are badly discolored, the next step is to bleach them. This is done by applying a solution of oxalic acid crystals (as oxalic acid is poisonous, care must be exercised in handling it) and hot water—as many crystals as the water will dissolve. This solution is applied with a scrubbing brush and is left on the surface for about 24 hours, then washed off thoroughly with clear, hot water. In bad cases, repeated applications of the bleach are necessary and the final coat only should be washed off with hot water. The next process is to drive all nail heads below the surface of the wood and to fill all nail-head holes with putty and cracks and crevices with a good crack and crevice filler. If the wood is to be stained, the putty and the crack filler should be colored to the desired shade by working into them some of the stain. After the crack filler is dry, the wood should be sandpapered or otherwise made perfectly smooth and clean to receive the finish.

Safety Rules for the Use of Gas in Any Building

Make sure that lamps, stoves, heaters, pipes that burn gas, and their connections, are well made, tight and free from leaks.

When you smell escaping gas, first open doors and windows, then find the leak at once.

Never look for a leak with a lighted match, lamp, candle, or flame of any kind; use an electric flashlight, if you have one, otherwise find the leak by the sense of smell.

Correct the leak at once, or else shut off the gas at the meter and send for a gasfitter. Do not light up in the house until this has been done.

Never buy cheap rubber gas-tubing. If you cannot connect with solid-iron pipes get a good quality of flexible metal tubing and make sure that it is tightly joined at both ends.

Cedar Closet Lining

The advantage of built-in equipment of every kind is so thoroughly accepted that the universal use of cedar closets of one kind or another is but a question of time, particularly in view of the moderate cost of such mothproof linings. The cedar has a rather pleasant odor, preserves linens as well as woollens, and can be used in private dwellings, hotels and apartments.

more numerous in Poland, especially in the eastern sections of the country. The cabinet is considering measures of protection.

City Briefs

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Auld have returned from Oklahoma City.

Try Oliver's cold patch. 8-31-2m*

Clifford Dorsey left today for Dustin where he will act as principal in high school.

Russell Battery Co., Willard Services and Sales. Phone 140. 8-6-1m

Floyd Dorsey left today for Cushing, Okla., where he will be a member of the high school faculty.

Motor Sales Co. parts and accessories for all cars. 3-12-1f

Miss Elizabeth McClary left recently for El Reno where she will teach the ensuing year.

Board with or without rooms. Mrs. Prewett, 216 East 12th. 9-5-1m

Claude Thompson left this afternoon for Norman where he will enter the state university.

SERVICE car. Day phone 101. 9-8-1mo*

Mrs. N. D. Pitts and children have returned to their home in Dallas, after a weeks visit with her mother, Mrs. W. P. Cole.

We drain and wash your crank case free. Thee Square Deal Service and Filling Station. 10-3-1f

Mrs. A. T. Wight and daughter, Mrs. Noll, son Roy, of Sulphur and Miss Velvie Estes of Hugo, motored over from Sulphur today.

Board with or without rooms. Mrs. Prewett, 216 East 12th. 9-5-1m

Mrs. W. C. Rollow and sons, Vernon and Willie and Mrs. R. C. Jeter and two children have returned from their vacation in points in Colorado.

See O'Neal for auto tops and auto painting. 118 South Townsend. 9-5-1mo

Brice Fletcher, who has been visiting his aunt, Mrs. Mary Smith and grandmother, Mrs. A. C. Fletcher, has returned to his home at Oklahoma City.

McCarty Bros. can fix that old tire or tube. Phone 855, 116-118 South Townsend. 5-23-1f

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Cox, Mrs. Will Neathery and son Robert Allen, returned Monday from Boulder, Colo., where they spent the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Murphy of Sherman were members of their party most of the time while away.

WISCONSIN LACKS
STARS OF GRIDIRON

Stiffest Schedule to be Played Without Eight of Former Stars

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 9.—Facing one of the heaviest schedules in years, Wisconsin will open its football season with eight of its former players of past seasons missing from the lineup. Coach Jack Ryan has the task of practically rebuilding his team with new but promising material. To offset the players lost by graduation, he will have what is considered the most promising bunch of recruits in several seasons and two or three former stars who are returning to school.

Missing from the Badger team will be Captain Martin Below, tackle. Below, however, will help shape the destinies of the team as assistant to Coach Ryan. Probably the second greatest loss is Taft, a stellar fullback and punter. Schneider, quarterback, Benton, tackle, Nichols, guard, Irish, end, Pierce, center, and Holmes, halfback, are other, lost to the team.

Optimism prevails in the Badger camp, however. Speed will mark the Wisconsin team this season, coaches predict. Pat McAndrews, who runs the 100 yard dash in less than 10 seconds, McGivern, another track star, Leitt, and Harmon brothers are among the most promising speedsters out for the team.

Capt. Jack Harris will be on hand for one half back position while Harris, McGivern and McAndrews are expected to make strong bids for the other half. Others available are: Wiswell, Crozier, Donaghey, Oplitz, Kreuz, Barnum and Orecutti at fullback, Stangel, of last year's team, Leon Harmon, Radke and Muegge are classed as possibilities. The quarterback position also will be a new man.

Treckmeyer, center and Bieberstein, guard, are the only regulars in the line. Stimpert and Miller, guards from last year's squad, will be out again. Slaughter, Houdok, and McCormick, are guard candidates, while Paul Nelson, substitute last year, Kasiska, Strable, Stannard, McMasters, Sauger and Schwarze, the latter pair 200-pounders, are on the string for tackles. At end, Ryan expects little difficulty with Steve Polaski, star of two years ago, and Blackman of last year on hand.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 9.—Plans aimed at the Ku Klux Klan appeared certain on both Democratic and Republican state platforms to be formed here today at the state platform convention by the two party political leaders. Both gubernatorial nominees are opposing the Klan.

LETTER APPOINTING
KELLEY ON ITS WAY

Apostolic Letter on Way to Washington From Rome
At Present Time

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 9.—The Apostolic Letter or Bull from Pope Pius XI at Rome, which will officially appoint the Rt. Rev. Francis C. Kelley, of Chicago, bishop of Oklahoma, is probably on its way to Washington and may be effective within a month, according to Rt. Rev. G. Depretiere, vicar general of the Oklahoma diocese.

The Catholic church decrees that the new bishop is not a bishop over Oklahoma until he receives the parchment embossed in Latin letters although it is known that he will be the man selected.

Monsignor elley, at present, is the president of the church extension society in Chicago and also editor of the Catholic church extension magazine. He will fill the place left vacant by the death of the Rt. Rev. Theophilus Meerschert, February 23, 1924, who was bishop of Oklahoma. The Apostolic Letter probably will be sent from Rome to the postulate delegate in Washington, D. C., then forwarded to Kelley, who in turn will immediately notify Depretiere of the commencement of his official duties.

The field in Oklahoma over which the new bishop will preside, includes 106 priests and a Catholic following of approximately 60,000, according to the vicar general and taken from the official Catholic directory for 1924.

The Catholic church has 48 schools for whites and seven for Indians; three boys' colleges and five girls' academies. One orphan asylum is maintained in the state. There are three Catholic hospitals in this area, St. Anthony's in Oklahoma City, St. Joseph's in Ponca City, and St. Mary's infirmary in McAlester.

There are 304 places in Oklahoma where Catholics hold religious services. They include 71 churches with resident priests, 82 missions or churches without resident priests, 135 stations visited by priests, and 16 private chapels as in hospitals.

Lodge and Club
Notices

Notice W. K. K. K.
Regular meeting tonight at 8 o'clock; each member is expected to be present.—Excellent Commander

W. C. T. U. Notice.
The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Convention Hall. All members are earnestly asked to be present as we have some important business to transact, also yearly election of officers.
MRS. J. H. HOUD, Sec.

GERMANS TRY TO END
TITLES MULTICPLICITY

(By the Associated Press)

BERLIN.—No country in the world, perhaps, is as title-ridden as Germany. The nuisance has become so great that the federal government intends to take a hand and try and bring about some sort of simplification and unification of the titles that are being awarded by the various departments of government, federal, provincial and state.

Before the war every man who did something unusual or who rendered a personal service to his fellow men or to the emperor was given a decoration and a title. Then came the revolution and all titles and decorations were supposed to be wiped out. Holders of titles, however, merely printed the letters "A. D." (ausser dienst, or out of service) behind their former titles so that one still sees visiting cards with such designations as "Imperial vice-consul out-of-service" or "minister of state out-of-service."

Then the various state governments undertook to apply designations to their officials as indications of rank in the service. In practice, these amounted to titles, so that Germany now has a multiplicity of titles never known before.

THIRTY YEARS AT DESK
BRINGS DESERVED VACATION

(By the Associated Press)

HAVANA.—Manuel Astorga y Sopranas, chief of the claims department of the United Railways of Havana, has just completed 30 years of service with the company without being absent a single day. As a reward he was granted three months leave with pay and he and his wife have gone to England to place their son in school. Senior Astorga, a Cuban, started in March, 1884, as a clerk when fourteen years old. He will be pensioned when he becomes 50 years of age.

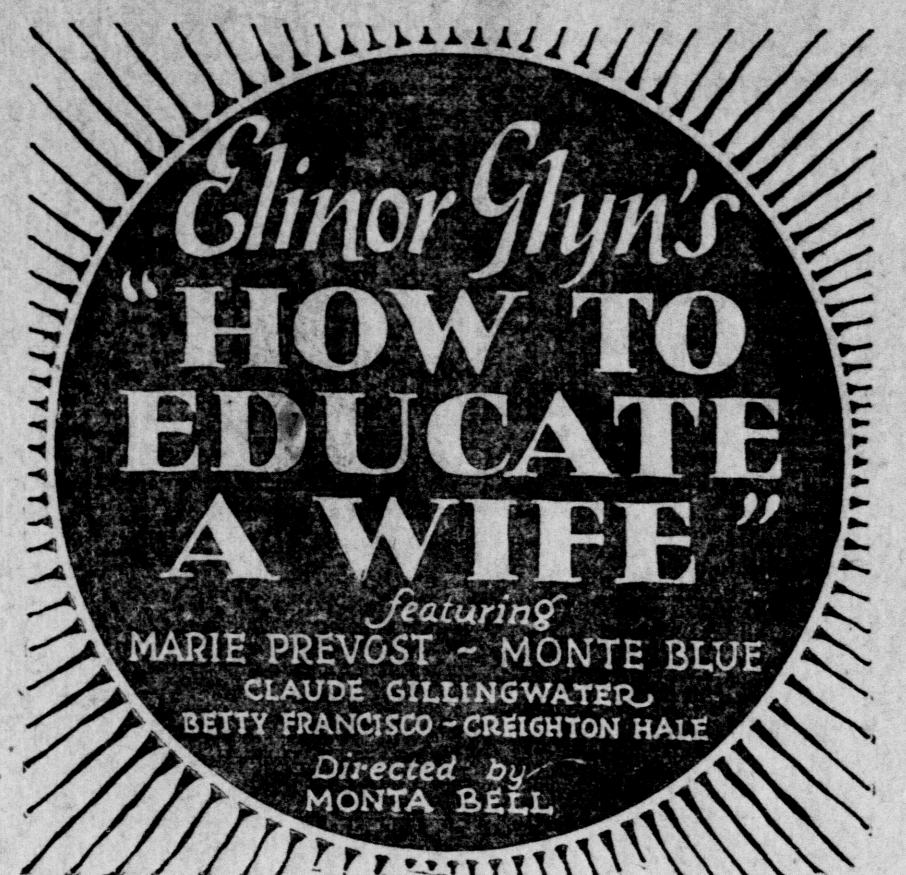

Berlin Zoo Sells Monkeys

BERLIN.—"Bargains in monkeys" are being advertised at the Berlin Zoo, where a visitor may purchase any monkey to which he takes a fancy.

The idea of selling monkeys originated with the zoo director recently when he found that he had on hand more of the comedians of the animal family than he cared to keep in stock, because of the high price of peanuts. There are not quite so many buyers as the director had figured on.

SHOWING
TODAYMcSWAIN
The Playhouse of CharacterTODAY
SHOWING

LAST DAY SHOWING

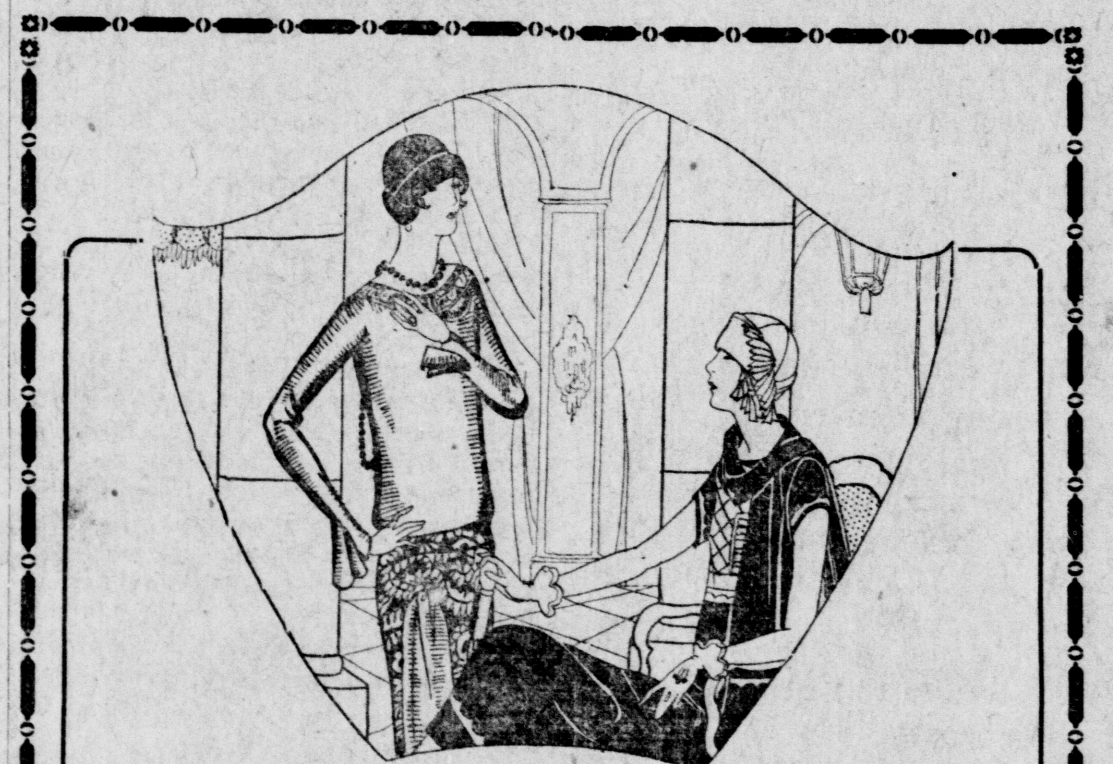

Two Reel Comedy

"MIDNIGHT WATCH"

Here Wednesday

"ONE LAW FOR THE WOMAN"

LET A NEWS WANT AD GET IT FOR YOU

The New Mode

Finds Much Favor Basking in the Limelight of Early Fashions

Simplicity—the creed of the Fall mode seems to be deceiving at times. For there are so many new colorings that make the Directorate and straight-line styles copiously elaborate. Accessories, too, are equally as interesting to the discerning and critical Fashion eye.

FALL DRESSES

Stillling clinging to the straight-line, slender silhouette, these new fashions with flare sleeves and bottoms, simple but dignified mannish styles, are indeed fetching in the new materials—Bengaline, Silk Crepe, Charmeen, Canton, Poret, Flannels and others.

Colors: brown, black, blue and combinations in plain, embroidered and pin-striped patterns.

Modest prices —

15.75, 19.50, 22.50 and 27.50

FALL HATS

From Fisk, Sloane, King and other famous makers, come Shaw's complete new line of Fall Hats. Charms for every occasion—in duvetynes, felts and velours.

The colors: brown, black, fairway, bakst and others.

3.50, 4.75 and 7.50

Fall Sweaters

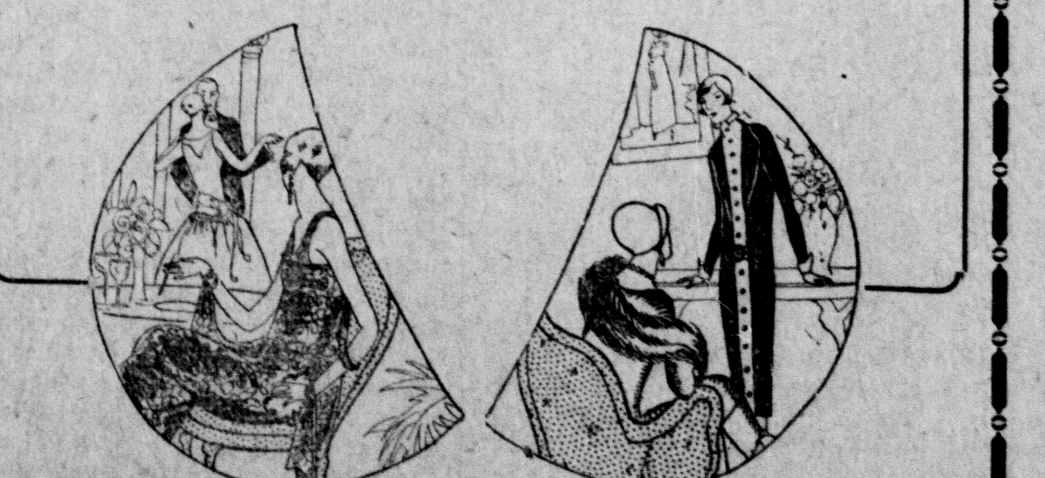

And what glorious, early Fall days these new gorgeous sport's sweaters reflect. In the richest and most varied assortment of colors and patterns—in Angora and knitted materials.

4.95 and 5.75

Fall Wraps

There are many clever treatments, like the leg o'mutton wrappy styles. Polos and rich pile fabrics fill the bill in all instances.

15.75, 24.50 and up

Shaw's
DEPARTMENT STORE

Judith of Blue Lake Ranch

By Jackson Gregory

Copyright by Charles Scribner's Sons

Donley moved a scuffling foot back and forth, stirring uneasily. That he was lying, no one there doubted; that he was but a poor liar after all was equally evident.

"You ain't got no call to keep me here," he said at last. "I ain't got no answer questions all day."

"You'll answer my questions if you don't want me to turn you over to Emmet Sawyer in Rocky Bend?" she told him coolly. "How did you know this man was called Poker Face? Did you know him before?"

Donley's eyes went again, furtive and swift, to Poker Face. But so did all other eyes. Poker Face gave no sign.

"Yes," answered Donley, taking refuge at last upon the solid basis of truth.

"Did you know this man?" Judith asked then of Poker Face, turning suddenly on him.

"No," said Poker Face.

Donley, having guessed wrong, flushed and dropped his head. Then he looked up defiantly and with a short, forced laugh.

"Suppose I know him or don't know him," he asked with his old insolence, "whose business is it?"

But Judith was giving her attention to Poker Face now.

"Where did you get that white

"Wouldn't Have Been Afraid, Not Bein' a Hawg!"

pigeon you turned loose this morning?" she asked crisply.

"Caught it," was the quiet answer.

"How?"

"With my han's."

"Why?"

"Jus' for fun."

"Did you know that pigeons could carry hog cholera on their feet?"

"No. But I wouldn't have been afraid, not bein' a hawg."

Donley muttered. Poker Face looked unconcerned.

"Take that man Donley into the hall," Judith said to Lee. "See if he has got any pigeon feathers sticking to him anywhere, inside his shirt, probably. If you need any help, say so."

Very gravely Bud Lee put a hand on Donley's shoulder.

"Come ahead, stranger," he said quietly.

"You go to h—!" cried Donley, springing away.

Bud Lee's hand was on him, and though he struggled and cursed and threatened he went with Lee into the hallway. Tripp, watching through the open door, smiled. Donley was on his back, Lee's knees on his chest.

"I'll tell you one thing, stranger," Bud Lee was saying to him softly, as his hand tore open Donley's shirt, "you open your dirty mouth to cuss just once more in Miss Sanford's presence and I'll ruin the looks of your face for you. Now lie still, will you?"

"Connect me with the Bagley ranch," Judith directed the Rocky Mountain operator. "That's right, isn't it, Doc?"

"Yes," answered Tripp. "That's the nearest case of cholera."

"Hello," said Judith when the connection had been established. "Mr. Bagley? This is Judith Sanford, Blue Lake ranch. I've got a case of hog-cholera here, too. I want some information."

She asked her questions, got her answers. Tripp, triumphantly she turned to Tripp.

The Bagley ranch, though a hundred miles away, was the nearest cholera-infected place of which Tripp had any knowledge. Bagley did have a flock of pigeons; a man, a month or so ago, had bought two dozen from him. The man wasn't Trevors. Bagley didn't know who he was. The same man, however, had shown up three days ago and had asked for another half-dozen of the birds. There had been three white pigeons among them. He was a shifty-eyed chap, Bagley said, old brown suit, hat with a rattlesnake skin around the crown. That, point for point, spelled Donley.

Lee, returned with the shirt which he had ripped from his prisoner's back. Adhering to the inside of it were little, downy feathers and three or four larger feathers from a pigeon's wing.

"I guess he rode mostly at night, at that," concluded Lee. "A great little fat man you must have looked, stranger, with six of those birdies in your shirt."

Donley's face was a violet red. But a glance from Lee shut his mouth for him. Poker Face, still looking on, gave no sign of interest.

"Put him in the grain-house," said Judith, her eyes bright with anger. "And see that he doesn't go Shorty's trail. Poker Face, have you anything to say for yourself?"

"No," answered Poker Face.

"Then," cried Judith hotly, "you can have your time right now! Donley, here, I'll prosecute. He's going to pay for this morning's work. I've got nothing on you. It's up to you to see that I don't get it! And you can tell Shorty for me—yes, and Quininn, too, and Bayne Trevors, if you like—that I am ready and waiting for your next play! And don't forget that when Sam Quentin is full there's still room in Folsom."

Judith telephoned Emmet Sawyer that she had a man for him. Lee and Carson conducted an expostulating Donley to the grain-house and jailed him wordlessly. Then Carson put a man on guard at the door, daylight though it was. When all was done he filled his pipe slowly and turned troubled eyes after Poker Face.

"She made a mistake there, though," he said regretfully. "A better cowhand I never ask to see, Bud. An' you ought to see the game of crib that man plays! Nope, Judy, you're wrong there."

But Bud Lee, the man who did not approve of the sort of woman who did man's work, said with unusual warmth:

"Don't you fool yourself, Carson! She hasn't made one little misplay yet!"

CHAPTER X

Judith Triumphant

Though, under the surface, life upon Blue Lake ranch was sufficiently tense, the remaining days of June frivole by as bright and bonny as the little meadow-blues flitting with the field-flowers.

Since from the very first the ranch had been short-handed, the hours from dawn to dusk were filled with activity. Carson, who, true to Judith's expectations, had brought back some new ideas from his few days at the experimental farm—ideas not to be admitted by Carson, however—bought a hundred young steers from a neighboring overstocked range. In the lower corals the new milking-machines were working smoothly, only a few of the older cows refusing to have anything to do with them.

Tripp had succeeded in locating and getting back some of the men who had worked long under Luke Sanford and when Trevors had discharged. It was a joy to see the familiar faces of Sunny Harper, Johnny Hodge, Bing Kelley, Tod Bruce. The alfalfa acreage was extended, a little more than doubled. Plans were made for an abundance of dry fodder to be fed with the lush silage during the coming lean months. Bud Lee broke his string of horses and, with Tommy Burkitt and one other dependable man, began perfecting their education, with an eye turned toward a profitable sale in January.

Quininn, perforce, was left undisturbed upon the sheep-ranch, whither Emmet Sawyer had followed him. Against Bud Lee's word that he had had a hand in the trouble at the old cabin were the combined oaths of two of the sheepmen that he had been with them at the time.

Hampton's guests, who had planned for a month at the ranch, stayed on. But they would be leaving at the end of June. That is, Farris and Rogers positively; the Langworthys, perhaps. The major was content here, and to stay always and always, would be an unbounded joy—of course, with little runs to the city for the opera season and for shopping trips, and a great, jolly house-party now and then.

The only fly in Marcia's ointment was Hampton himself. She confessed as much to Judith. She liked him, oh, ever so much! But was that love? She yearned for a man who would thrill her through and through, and Hampton didn't always do that. Just after his heroic capture of the terrible Shorty, Marcia was thrilled to her heart's content. But there were other days when Hampton was just Pollock Hampton. If it could only be arranged so that she could stay on and out, with no day of reckoning to come, no matrimonial ventures on the horizon.

"That's simple, my dear," Judith smiled at her. "When you get through being Pollock Hampton's guest, you can be mine for a while."

Hampton was now a great puzzle to Mrs. Langworthy, and even an object of her secret displeasure. Not that that displeasure ever went to the limit of changing Mrs. Langworthy's plans. But she longed for the right to talk to him as a mother should. For, seeking to emulate those whom he so unostentatiously admired, Bud Lee and Carson and the rest of the hard-handed, quick-eyed men in the service of the ranch, Hampton was no longer the careless, frankly inefficient youth who had escorted his guests here. He went for days at a time unshaven, having other matters to think of; he came to the table bringing with him the aroma of the stables. He also wore a pair of trousers as cylindrical in the leg as a stovepipe; over them he wore a pair of cheap blue overalls, with the proper six-inch turn-up at the bottom to show the stovepipe trousers underneath. The overalls got soiled, then dirty, then disgracefully blotched with wagon grease and picturesque stains, and Hampton made no apologies for them.

Twice he left the ranch, once to be gone overnight, intending that it should be a mystery where he went. But, since he rode the north trail which led to the Western Lumber camp, no one doubted that he had gone to see Bayne Trevors, in whom he still stoutly believed.

Between the 15th and the memorable 30th of June, Bud Lee saw little of Judith Sanford. She was here, there, everywhere; busy, preoccupied. Marcia he talked with twice; once when they rode together while Hampton, racing recklessly down a rocky slope for a shot at a deer got a fall, a sore shoulder and made his debut in certain new swear-words; once when all of the guests, with the exception of Farris, who was painting the portrait of the stallion, Nightshade, and the major, who had "letters to write," came out to watch the horse-breaking.

This time, introduced to Mrs. Langworthy, Lee got for his bow a remarkably cold stare. Others might forget, here in the open, the distinction between people of the better class and their servants—not Mrs. Langworthy, if you please.

Having created his imaginary woman, Lee was ripe to fall in love with her when she came. He had thrilled to the touch of Judith's hand that night in the cabin; his thoughts, many and many a day, centered about the superbly alive beauty that was Judith's. The fact disturbed him vaguely. The thought that he was very deeply interested in her in the good old way between man and maid, never entered his stubborn head. She was as far removed from his ideal woman as the furthestmost star in the infinite firmament. Perhaps it was this very disquiet within him, caused by Judith, which now turned his thoughts to Marcia.

"That's the sort of woman," he told himself stoutly. "A man's woman; his other self, not just a partner; the necessary other side of him, not just the same side in a different way."

Marcia had little, feminine ways of helplessness which turned flatteringly to the strength of the other sex. Judith asked no man to aid her in mounting her horse; Marcia coquettishly slipped a daintily slipped foot into a man's palm, rising because of his strength.

Now, when his thoughts went to Judith, Bud Lee turned them dexterously to Marcia, making his comparisons, shaping them to fit into his pet theory. When, days passing, he did not see Judith, he told himself that he was going to miss Marcia when she left. When one day he came unexpectedly upon Judith and with lips and eyes she flashed her ready smile at him, he felt that odd stir in his blood. What a pity that a girl like her, who might have been anything, elected to do a man's work! When, again unexpectedly, he came another day upon Marcia riding with Hampton, there was no quick stirring of the pulses, and he contented himself with the thought: "Now, that is the sort of woman. A man's woman! His other self."

and so on.

When Judith planned a little party to mark the departure of Marcia on the 30th of June—it wasn't definitely decided that the Langworthys were leaving then, but at least Farris and Rogers were—the reasons actuating her were rather more complex than Judith herself fully realized or would have admitted. She liked Marcia; she wanted to do at least this much for her. Living room, dining room, rustic room, library—they would all be cleared of the larger pieces of furniture, the double-doors thrown open. The string band from Rocky Bend would come. Judith would send out invitations to the nicer people there and to the ranches' hereabout. She would have a barbecue, there would be races and the usual holiday games, then the dance. Marcia would know nothing of it until the last day, when her eager enthusiasm would send her a flutter to her dressing room.

Unanalyzed, it was simplicity itself, this giving a farewell party to Marcia. Under analysis, it was a different matter. The boys at the ranch would be invited, and of course most of them would come. But Lee would come. Judith would see to that, even if he should hesitate.

Bud Lee had always been so self-possessed, had so coolly found her lacking, that, piqued a little, Judith longed for the opportunity to place him in an atmosphere where a little of his calm self-possession might be snatched from him. If she could embarrass him, if she could see the red rise under his tanned skin, she would be giving Mr. Lee a lesson good for his soul.

"I've got powerful little use for an affair like that," said Lee coolly, when she told him. "Thank you, Miss Sanford, but I don't think I'll come."

Judith shrugged her shoulders as though it did not in the least matter to her.

"I'm giving it for Marcia," she said. "Do you think it would be quite nice to her to stay away? I am afraid that she will be hurt."

Not Judith's words, but the look in her eyes changed Lee's intentions.

"If it's for Miss Langworthy," he said quietly, "I'll come."

The day came and Bud Lee began to regret that he had given his promise to go to Marcia's dance. All day he was taciturn, aloof, avoiding not only the visitors from Rocky Bend and the other ranches, but his own fellows as well. He took no part in the races, was missing when the blazing trenches and smell of broiling meat told that the barbecue was in progress. He worked with his horses as he had worked yesterday, as he would work tomorrow. With the dusk he went, not to the men's quarters, but to the old cabin at the Upper End.

Again and again that day he had thought of that look in Judith's eyes when she had asked him to come for Marcia's sake. What the devil did she mean by it? He didn't know exactly, but he did know that in his own vague way it irritated him. Her eyes had laughed at him, they had teased, they had told him that Judith herself wasn't wasting a single thought upon Mr. Bud Lee, but that she had noticed his obvious interest in Miss Langworthy.

"D—n it," muttered Lee. "I won't go."

But he had said he would go, and in little things as in big ones he was scrupulous. He would go, just to dance with Marcia and show Miss Judith a thing or two. He felt unreasonably like taking Miss Judith across his knee and spanking her. And he did have a curiosity to see just what Judith would look like in a real party-dress.

"Poor little wild Indian," he grumbled. "She's got the making of a wonder in her, and she doesn't even know it. What's worse, doesn't care."

He sat with a dead cigarette between his fingers, staring at the wind-blown flame of his coal-oil lamp. Judith was doing this as she did everything that she set her two hands on, thoroughly and with her whole heart and soul. In that lay the key to her character. There was no half-way with her. When she gave, it was openheartedly, with no reservation; where she loved or hated, it was unreservedly; if she gave a dance it would be a dance for the countryside to remember.

Yesterday Hampton had wondered, grinning, what he'd look like in a dress-suit again. Hadn't had a thing on here of late but his war togs.

Lamp in hand, Went Down Into the Cellar.

Whereby he called attention to his turned-up overalls, soft shirt, battered hat, and flapping vest with the tobacco-tag hanging out.

Bud Lee turned down the wick of his lamp, which had been smoking, and sat staring at it another five minutes. "By thunder," he said softly to himself. "I'll do it."

He shoved the bunk away from its place in the corner, opened a trapdoor in the floor and, lamp in hand, went down into the cabin's cellar.

Here was a long pine box, hooped with tin bands for shipping, its lid securely nailed on. He set down his lamp and with shirt-sleeve wiped off some of the accumulation of dust and spider-web. A card with the words, "David Burdill Lee, Rocky Bend," tacked to it he races and the usual holiday games, then the dance. Marcia would know nothing of it until the last day, when her eager enthusiasm would send her a flutter to her dressing room.

Unanalyzed, it was simplicity itself, this giving a farewell party to Marcia. Under analysis, it was a different matter. The boys at the ranch would be invited, and of course most of them would come. But Lee would come. Judith would see to that, even if he should hesitate.

Bud Lee had always been so self-possessed, had so coolly found her lacking, that, piqued a little, Judith longed for the opportunity to place him in an atmosphere where a little of his calm self-possession might be snatched from him. If she could embarrass him, if she could see the red rise under his tanned skin, she would be giving Mr. Lee a lesson good for his soul.

"I've got powerful little use for an affair like that," said Lee coolly, when she told him. "Thank you, Miss Sanford, but I don't think I'll come."

Judith shrugged her shoulders as though it did not in the least matter to her.

"I'm giving it for Marcia," she said. "Do you think it would be quite nice to her to stay away? I am afraid that she will be hurt."

Not Judith's words, but the look in her eyes changed Lee's intentions.

"If it's for Miss Langworthy," he said quietly, "I'll come."

The day came and Bud Lee began to regret that he had given his promise to go to Marcia's dance. All day he was taciturn, aloof, avoiding not only the visitors from Rocky Bend and the other ranches, but his own fellows as well. He took no part in the races, was missing when the blazing trenches and smell of broiling meat told that the barbecue was in progress. He worked with his horses as he had worked yesterday, as he would work tomorrow. With the dusk he went, not to the men's quarters, but to the old cabin at the Upper End.

Again and again that day he had thought of that look in Judith's eyes when she had asked him to come for Marcia's sake. What the devil did she mean by it? He didn't know exactly, but he did know that in his own vague way it irritated him. Her eyes had laughed at him, they had teased, they had told him that Judith herself wasn't wasting a single thought upon Mr. Bud Lee, but that she had noticed his obvious interest in Miss Langworthy.

"D—n it," muttered Lee. "I won't go."

But he had said he would go, and in little things as in big ones he was scrupulous. He would go, just to dance with Marcia and show Miss Judith a thing or two. He felt unreasonably like taking Miss Judith across his knee and spanking her. And he did have a curiosity to see just what Judith would look like in a real party-dress.

"Poor little wild Indian," he grumbled. "She's got the making of a wonder in her, and she doesn't even know it. What's worse, doesn't care."

He sat with a dead cigarette between his fingers, staring at the wind-blown flame of his coal-oil lamp. Judith was doing this as she did everything that she set her two hands on, thoroughly and with her whole heart and soul. In that lay the key to her character. There was no half-way with her. When she gave, it was openheartedly, with no reservation; where she loved or hated, it was unreservedly; if she gave a dance it would be a dance for the countryside to remember.

Yesterday Hampton had wondered, grinning, what he'd look like in a dress-suit again. Hadn't had a thing on here of late but his war togs.

Lamp in hand, Went Down Into the Cellar.

Whereby he called attention to his turned-up overalls, soft shirt, battered hat, and flapping vest with the tobacco-tag hanging out.

Bud Lee turned down the wick of his lamp, which had been smoking, and sat staring at it another five minutes. "By thunder," he said softly to himself. "I'll do it."

He shoved the bunk away from its place in the corner, opened a trapdoor in the floor and, lamp in hand, went down into the cabin's cellar.

Here was a long pine box, hooped with tin bands for shipping, its lid securely nailed on. He set down his lamp and with shirt-sleeve wiped off some of the accumulation of dust and spider-web. A card with the words, "David Burdill Lee, Rocky Bend," tacked to it

What the World Is Doing

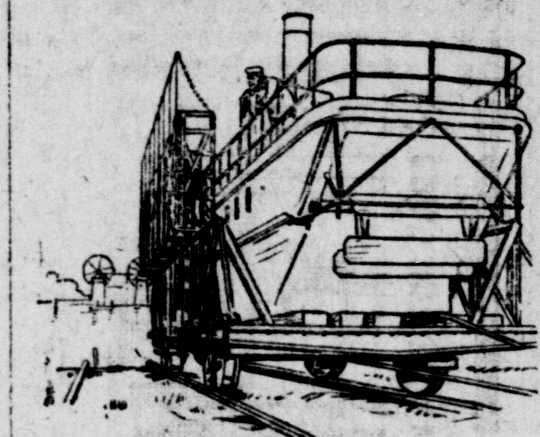

(As Seen by Popular Mechanics Magazine)

Voice Pictures as Nerve-Care Aid Are Tested in London

Various kinds of nervous disorders are said to be detected by the use of an instrument, invented by Prof. E. W. Scripture and tested in England, to take "pictures" of the human voice. Vibrations of tones spoken into a tube are registered in lines on a revolving drum covered with smoked paper. Persons afflicted with certain nerve diseases are said to pronounce various words in a way which produces abnormal lines on the recording mechanism, thus enabling the physician to diagnose their trouble.

Railroad Carries Ships Overland with Passengers and Cargoes

So that vessels may carry their passengers and cargo overland between separated bodies of water, a railway ship canal, consisting of sluices, inclined planes and large, specially designed railroad flat cars, has been built in Germany. When a steamer reaches its terminal, the flat car is rolled on rails down an incline into the water and slipped underneath the boat. It is then drawn back up the slope and, with the ship on top, is transported to the next body of water into which it runs far enough to permit the vessel to float. This line was built to provide communication between East Prussia and the different bodies of water from which it has been cut off by the new divisions of territory resulting from the war.

made its appearance. Lee shook his head and attacked the lid.

"It's like digging out a dead man," he muttered. "Well, we'll bury him again tomorrow."

It was a box of odds and ends. Clothing, a few books, a pack of photographs, an ornate bride, a pair of gold-chased spurs, a couple of hats, gloves, no end of the varied articles which might have gone hastily into such a receptacle as this from the hurried packing in a bachelor's apartments. Bud Lee, with a dress-suit and the articles it demands, even to a tie and dancing-shoes, went back into the room above.

"Like Hampton," he mused, looking at the things in his hands, "I wonder

THESE WANT ADS BRING RESULTS

WANT ADS

The price of advertising under this head is 15 cents a word a day, with a minimum charge of 25 cents. If run by the month, the rate is $1.25 a line. Except for those who run regular monthly advertising accounts, all classified advertisements must be paid for when given in.

FOR RENT

FOR RENT—Brick garage near College. Phone 209V. 9-8-2*

FOR RENT—5-room modern house on South Broadway. Phone 113. 9-8-6*

FOR RENT—5-room modern house in 300 block on East Ninth. Phone 1188. 9-8-3*

FOR RENT—Five room modern house, reasonable. 408 West Sixteenth street. 9-8-2*

FOR RENT—Furnished 6-room modern house, 800 South Townsend. Phone 21. 9-7-3*

ROOM AND BOARD

FOR RENT—Furnished room, 503 West 15th. Phone 227J. 9-8-3*

FOR RENT—Furnished rooms. Phone 718J. 9-7-3*

MEALS with or without room. Mrs. Prewett, 216 East 12th. 9-7-1m

FOR RENT—Modern apartments, 217 East 15th. Phone 691J. 8-17-1m

FOR RENT—Furnished 2-room apartment. Phone 956. 9-7-3*

FOR RENT—Nice bedroom; private entrance. Phone 119. 9-8-6*

FOR RENT—Light housekeeping rooms near College. 1020 E. Ninth. Phone 1109W. 9-9-5*

FOR RENT—Light housekeeping rooms, 812 East 13th. Phone 466W. 9-9-2*

FOR RENT—Nicely furnished southeast bedroom near College. Phone 961 after 5 o'clock. 9-9-3*

FOR RENT—2 rooms furnished or unfurnished. 531 West 15th. 9-8-21*

ROOMS and board for girls, also light housekeeping rooms. 630 East Fifteenth. 9-8-31*

FOR RENT—Light housekeeping rooms, 531 E. 15th. Phone 174J. 9-7-3*

ROOM, BOARD, GARAGE for two girls, 531 N. Francis, near College. Phone 1163J. 9-7-3*

FOR RENT—Furnished front room adjoining bath, gentleman preferred. Phone 1176J. 9-7-3*

FOR RENT—Nice room in a brick bungalow, private entrance to room and bath. 200 East 14th st. 9-7-3*

FOR RENT—Light housekeeping rooms. 506 East 12th street. Phone 383. 9-2-71*

ROOM AND BOARD in private home for two students, 714 E. 15th. Phone 743W. 9-7-3*

FOR RENT—Three light housekeeping rooms, garage, 922 East Main. Inquire at 111 N. Broadway. 9-9-1*

FOR RENT—One nice two or three room furnished apartment with private bath and garage. 226 E. 17th. Phone 920. 9-7-3*

LOST

LOST—Pocketbook between Singer Sewing Machine office and Abbott's Store, containing $5.00 bill and four $1 bills. Return to News and receive reward. W. H. Hatcher, Route 3, Stonewall. 9-9-1*

Try a News Want Ad for results.

WANTED

Well furnished small house with garage and barn. Possession by Sept. 15th.

W. J. BRYAN
Phone 396-J

WANTED

WANTED—Reliable colored woman for general house work. Apply 911 S. Broadway. 9-9-31*

WANTED—Two girls to room and board. 515 East 12th street. Phone 671. 9-5-3

WANTED—You mattress work; cotton or feather. Phone 170. Ada Mattress Factory, 400 East Twelfth. 9-8-11*

WANTED—Cotton pickers, just north of glass factory. $1.25 per 100. Call 9500-F11. Albert S. Hall. 9-8-11*

WANTED—Family to pick cotton and gather corn. S. B. Brumley, 11 miles southwest Ford bathing pool. 9-7-2*

ARIZONA VOTES TOMORROW IN STATE PRIMARIES

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 9.—Twenty-seven candidates for state offices, exclusive of presidential electors, will seek to have their names placed upon the official ballot for the November election at an all-party primary in Arizona today.

Only the Republican and Democratic tickets will have official representation on the primary ballot, there being no announced candidates for any state office on any other ticket.

Chief interest in the primary centers in the gubernatorial contest, where a three-cornered fight is being waged among the Democrats and a two-cornered fight among the Republicans. The Democratic candidates are George W. P. Hunt, incumbent governor seeking re-election; Sidney P. Osborn, former secretary of state, and E. W. Samuell, former superintendent of state institutions. The Republican candidates are Dwight B. Heard, publisher of the Arizona Republican, and Thomas Maddock, former state engineer.

Try a News Want Ad for results

BE INDEPENDENT

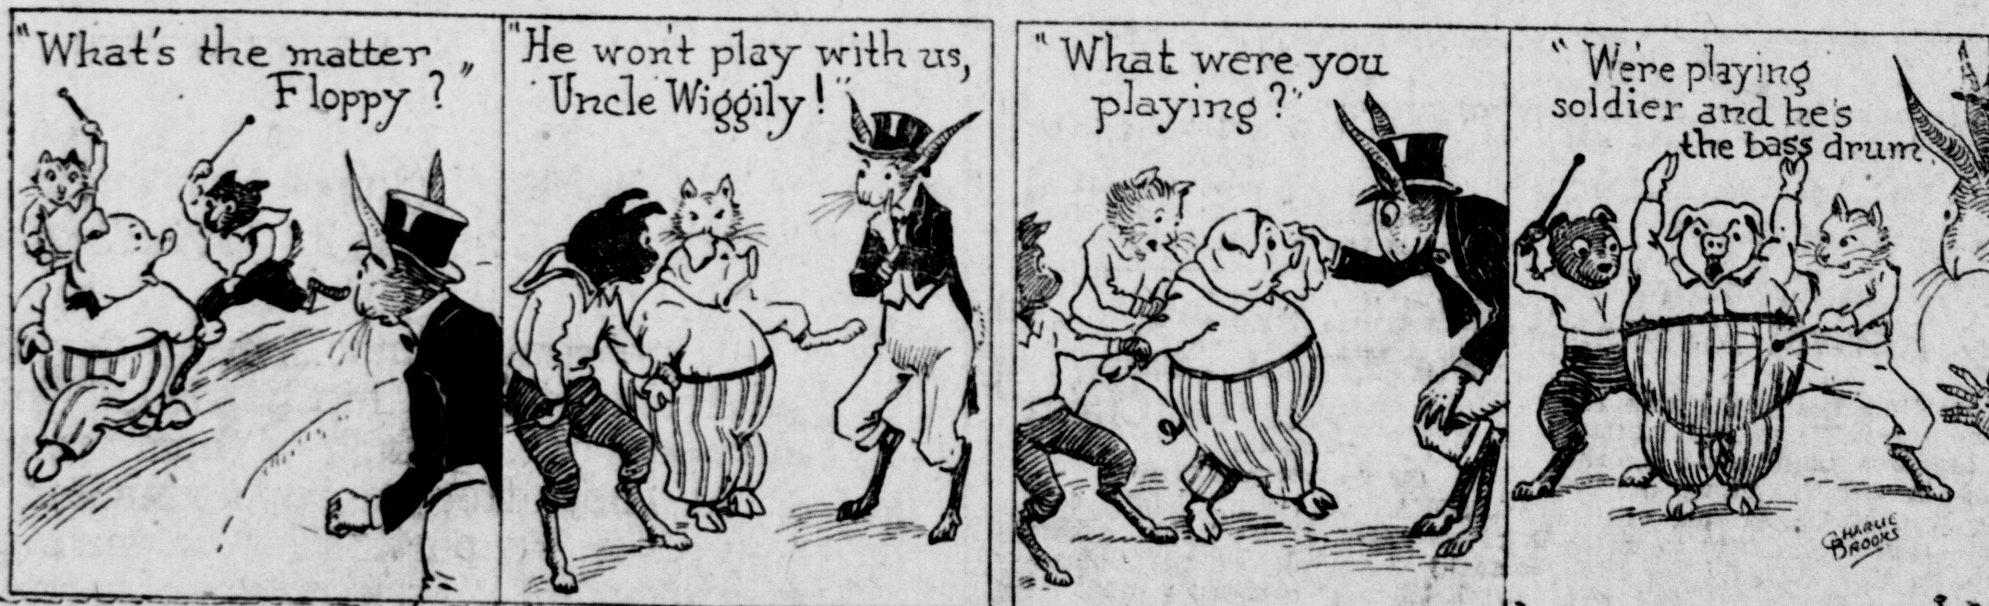

—Raise fruit, strawberries, truck and chickens. Ada imports more than half of what she consumes. Buy splendid fruit and truck farm just 2 miles from Ada. Everlasting water, good house, fine wood (gas if desired). Bargain. Terms if desired, but must have some cash. Don't write unless you mean business. Address Box 311, Ada, Okla.

For Sale

Five-room modern house with garage, chicken yard and house, fruit trees, grapes, front and back walks, shrubs, at 805 East 12th. Desirable property desirably located. See

E. O. WEST, Owner
801 East 12th

UNCLE WIGGILY'S TRICKS

MUTT AND JEFF—The Mayor of Baltimore Is Kind to Our Tourists.

WALTER P. CHRYSLER'S TRAFFIC TALKS

TRAFFIC COURTESY PAYS

The motorist who ignores the rights of others on the highway and takes more than his share of the "road hog"—is often responsible for motor car accidents. The police of Chicago, Detroit and several other large cities recently launched drives against this individual.

Courtesy is just as essential in motoring as it is in any other phase of life. Acting with a bit of care and courtesy will often prevent accidents.

In cities where automobiles are compelled to stop before crossing so-called "through streets," it is interesting to note how many cars on the through streets refuse to give drivers on the intersecting streets an opportunity to pass. Two gentlemen on the streets don't insist on crossing the same spot at the same time. Courtesy prevails and one goes first; the other must follow. This "after you" spirit is safe and commendable.

Yearly Income of Millions Shrinks to Clerk's Salary

By Margery Pickard
(Central Press Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—In the bank where he is employed as a clerk in the foreign exchange department, he is known simply as Mr. Dimitri.

He is a dark, complexioned, brown-eyed, not unhandsome youth of twenty-three, is quiet, serious and extremely courteous, revealing in his mild voice the careful breeding of the well-born European.

A few years ago he had a yearly income of millions. Now he has a bank clerk's salary.

Within the last few days the newspapers of New York have printed considerable concerning Mr. Dimitri, since they have unearthed his true identity. He is, in reality, Prince Dimitri Alexandrovitch of the Russian Imperial House of Romanoff, nephew of the assassinated Czar Nicholas II., grandson of Czar Alexander III., and great-grandson of Czar Nicholas I., and eighth in direct descent from the famous Peter the Great.

Third Cousin of Wales

Prince Dimitri was born Aug. 2, 1901, in Gatchina, a town of 12,000 inhabitants southeast of Petrograd and site of one of the many imperial palaces of the czars of Russia. His father, Grand Duke Alexander Mikhailovitch, was then a Vice Admiral of the Imperial Russian Navy.

The mother of Prince Dimitri is Her Imperial Highness, the Grand Duchess Xenia Alexandrovna, sister of the assassinated Czar Nicholas II., and daughter of the late Czar Alexander III., whom Nicholas succeeded, Oct. 20, 1894.

Prince Dimitri's maternal grandmother, the Dowager Empress of Russia, Marie Feodorovna, was before her marriage to Czar Alexander, the Princess Dagmar of Denmark, sister of Queen Mother Alexandra of Great Britain. Thus Prince Dimitri's mother and King George of Great Britain are cousins, so that the Prince is third cousin of the Prince of Wales.

Loyal to Czarist Tradition

The parents of Prince Dimitri are second cousins, both being descendants of Czar Nicholas I., who was the grandfather of Dimitri's father and the great grandfather of the Prince's mother. This brings out the rather curious circumstance that the Prince is third cousin of his own father and mother, and is his own fourth cousin.

Through Czar Nicholas I., the ancestor of Prince Dimitri, can be traced back in direct lineage, not only to Peter the Great, but to Michael Feodorovich, founder of the Romanoff dynasty, son of the Metropolitan Philaret, Feodor Nikitich and through Mikail's wife, Maria Ivanovna Cheslava, it is said.

to Norman Rurik, the first Russian monarch, who reigned at the ninth century. Thus the New York bank employee has a royal family tree extending back more than 1,500 years.

Prince Dimitri remains faithful to his country and to Russian Imperial traditions.

"I shall always be a Russian," he said, when asked if he intended renouncing his princely title to become an American citizen. "Some day, I hope I shall be able to go back to my country and give to my compatriots the benefit of whatever I may learn here."

But the Prince admits rather gloomily that that day now appears far distant, for he realizes that as long as the present rule continues in Russia, it is no place for him or his kind.

And so far he is quite contented and happy working as an ordinary employee of a New York bank.

Germany to Honor War Dead.

(By the Associated Press)

BERLIN—On the tenth anniversary of the beginning of the world war a movement was launched for the erection of a national monument in Berlin to the memory of the soldiers who died as an outcome of the conflict.

There have been several proposals here to bury an unknown soldier, with proper ceremonies on behalf of the unknowns, but the government opposed the idea on the ground that to do so would be following too closely in the footsteps of the allied nations, where the custom originated.

PERFECT HOUSEWIVES GOAL OF CALIFORNIA SCHOOL

(By the Associated Press)
OAKLAND, Calif.—The board of education in Piedmont, an exclusive residential section of 8,500 population, announces that with the opening of the new school term girls will be trained in the arts and duties of the perfect housewife. The course will include interior decorating, house planning, care of furnishings and clothing, and etiquette for all occasions.

Miss Roxana Elliott, with training at Columbia and the University of Chicago, is to supervise this branch of education.

HAY FEVER VICKS VAPORUB

If you can't "get away," ease the attacks with—

WE WILL BOND YOU

United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co.

EBEY, SUGG & CO.
General Agents

W. R. WREN

A disabled World War Veteran is now located with Carl Spangler as a watch-maker and engraver.

Engraving a Specialty

EXPERT MARCELLING

by EXPERIENCED OPERATOR

PHONE 606 FOR APPOINTMENT

Colonial Marcell Shoppe

At COON'S

F. C. SIMS

INSURANCE

Real Estate, Fire and Tornado Insurance

A share of patronage is solicited and will receive prompt attention; office in I. O. O. F. Building.

Insurance, Farm and City Loans.

The Doctor Says:

'Eat a Lot of Ice Cream'

Get it from your DEALER or call

SOUTHERN ICE & UTILITIES CO.

Phone 244

LODGES

I. O. O. F.—Ada Lodge No. 146.

regular meetings every Thursday night.—A. T. Johnson, N. G., H. C. Evans, Secretary.

Ada Chapter No. 78, O. E. S. meets second and fourth Thursday nights in each month. The second Thursday will be business and the fourth initiation and social.—Margaret Peay, W. M.; Cora H. McKeel, secretary.

K. T. M.—Ada Commandry No. 26 Knights Templar Masons meets third Wednesday night of each month.—LAYTON CHILCUTT, W. C. F. C. SIMS, Secretary.

A. F. & A. M.—Regular meetings of Ada Lodge No. 119, Monday night on or before the full moon in each month.—E. C. PEAY, W. M.; F. C. SIMS, Secretary.

R. A. M.—Ada Chapter No. 26 Royal Arch Masons, meets the second Tuesday night in each month.—MILES C. GRIGSBY, High Priest

JOHN GARDNER, Secretary

Professional Directory

If You Need GLASSES

You need the best. Eyes tested. Becoming Glasses made for your requirements.

SEE

COON

AND SEE BETTER

120 West Main St. Ada, Okla.

Phone 606

CRISWELL

UNDERTAKING

AMBULANCE SERVICE

Licensed Lady Embalmer

Phone 618—301-203 East Main

ISHAM L. CUMMINGS

PHYSICIAN

SURGEON

X-Ray Laboratory—Rollow Bldg.

DR. F. R. LAIRD

DENTIST

Office: Shaw Building

Office phone 886. Res. Phone 539

DR. L. G. BRANNON

LICENSED CHIROPRACTOR

Norris-Haney Building—Suite 5 -

Phones: Office 312; Res. 1040-W.

C. A. CUMMINS

UNDERTAKER

Licensed Embalmer and

Funeral Director

First Class Ambulance Service

121 West 12th St. Phone 692

Office Phone 1 Res. Phone 835

IF IT IS GLASSES YOU NEED

SEE FAUNT LE ROY

AND

SEE BETTER

AT

DUNCAN BROS.

Big Jewelry Store

A registered optometrist will take care of your needs at

105 East Main Phone 610

ADA TRAIN SCHEDULE

M. K. & T.

NO. 15—Lv. Daily 11:19 a. m.

No. 13—Lv. Daily 10:50 p. m.

WEST

No. 14—Lv. Daily 7:10 a. m.

No. 16—Lv. Daily 4:30 p. m.

SANTA FE

NO. 446—Ar. Daily 11:40 a. m.

(Stops Here)

WEST

No. 445—Lv. Daily 12:20 p. m.

FRISCO

NORTH

No. 510—Lv. Daily 12:30 p. m.

No. 512—Lv. Daily 6:15 p. m.

No. 118—Lv. Daily 8:35 a. m.

SOUTH

No. 117—Lv. Daily 12:40 a. m.

No. 512—Lv. Daily 12:30 p. m.

No. 507—Ar. Daily 7:35 p. m.

By Bud Fisher

Tonight colder in southeast portions; Wednesday fair, warmer.

THE ADA EVENING NEWS

All the News While It Is News

FIVE CENTS THE COPY

VOLUME XXI NUMBER 147

ADA, OKLAHOMA, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1924

WORLD AVIATORS NOW AT CAPITAL OF HOME NATION

Round-world Fliers Land in National Capital on Seattle Trip

PAY SOLDIER TRIBUTE

Fliers Forced Down by Fog at Aberdeen, Md., But Trip is Made

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The army around-the-world fliers arrived over Washington from New York at 2:54 p. m. today. They circled over the city with field guns booming below in a hearty salute, then headed for Arlington Cemetery where they dropped flowers on the graves of America's unknown hero of the World War.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—A report from Major General Patrick, chief of the army air service, received at Bolling field here said the fliers had been forced down by fog at Aberdeen, Md., at 12:20 this afternoon. They would resume their flight in an hour, the message said.

Aberdeen is 71 miles from Washington. President Coolidge, who had arrived at the field early, decided to remain until the fliers appeared. The cabinet members, who followed later to the field, followed the example set by the president.

A luncheon engagement of the president was called off in his desire to personally pay honor to the round-the-world fliers. Luncheon also meant nothing to the great crowd that jammed every inch of landing space at Bolling field. Automobiles were tear to six deep around the field.

MITCHELL FIELD, New York, Sept. 9.—The United States army round-the-world fliers hopped off from Mitchell Field for Washington at 9:35 o'clock today. The fliers took off from the field in the face of a 35 mile wind. The flight had been delayed for half an hour for Major General Patrick, chief of the air service, to receive reports on the weather from Washington. Although the report stated that the skies were overcast and rain was probable, they decided to hop off.

The planes were laden with flowers when they took air, which were intended to be scattered over the Unknown Soldier's grave as the machines passed over Arlington cemetery. Scarcely a dozen persons aside of army officials and newspapermen came through the gloom and drizzle to speed them on their journey. There was no ceremonial preliminary. Lieut. Smith met Major General Patrick as he emerged this morning with weather reports. "Do we go general?" he asked anxiously. "Yes, I guess we're off," said General Patrick. Smith ran to his machine shouted to Wade and Nelson "let's go" and climbed aboard.

Chilean President Resigns at Request of Military Leaders

(By the Associated Press)
SANTIAGO, Chile, Sept. 9.—Pres. Arturo Alessandri of Chile has resigned at the request of the military and has been succeeded by Gen. Luis Alzamora, head of the military cabinet, which assumed the power last night. President Alessandri tendered his resignation after he had been requested by the military leaders, who suggested that he absent himself from the country and that they would guarantee his safe transport from the country as well as that of his family.

PERSISTENT MEASURES REDUCE DEATHS FROM TUBERCULOSIS

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The city of Framingham, Mass., after seven years of effort, has reduced the tuberculosis death rate among its people by 68 per cent, as contrasted with a reduction of 32 percent in nearby towns where no such intensive campaign was conducted. The death rate among infants under one year of age was reduced to 40 per cent.

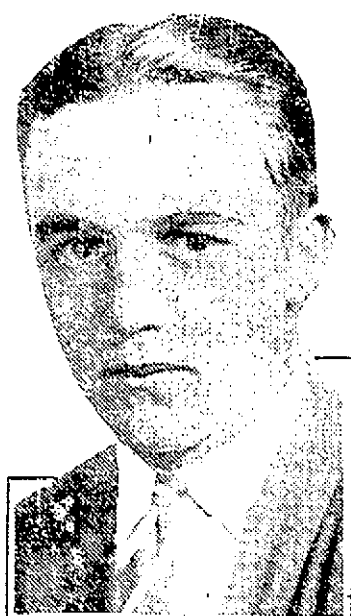

The demonstration at Framingham was conducted by the National Tuberculosis Association.

Parsons to Asylum.

(By the Associated Press)
MIAMI, Sept. 9.—Noble Parsons of Picher, Okla., 15-year-old confessed slayer of Lloyd Smith, also of Picher, will be taken to Vinha for confinement in the state hospital for insane to which he was committed late yesterday afternoon by W. M. Thomas, county judge after the hearing here.

Try a News Want Ad for results.

STAR SHORTSTOP GRABBED BY SOX

Presy Robert Quinn of the Boston Red Sox, avers that Herb Welch, above, shortstop purchased recently from the Danville club of the Three Eye League, is destined to show the big leagues some brilliant fielding and batting.

SHANGHAI CENTER OF CHINESE WAR

Foreign Nations Plan to Protect Settlement From Hostilities

(By the Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Sept. 9.—An observer, who returned from the Sang front at 4 o'clock, reported that he had seen the Shengliang troops push forward their firing line two miles.

The rainfall, which started at 4:15 stopped the fighting. In accordance with Chinese customs, fighting is carried on only during good weather.

Almost at the same time the fighting started, defending units mounted guard at the international zone and the foreign concessions making an objective to keep the zone "safe for emergency, which is declared to exist."

SHANGHAI, China, Sept. 9.—While the principal battle in China's civil war continued today with renewed interest in the vicinity of the principal city of Shanghai, Chang Tso-lin, war lord of Manchuria, and Wu Pei-fu, military head of the Peking government, entered their forces to meet in the main fight for control of the central government of China.

Out of a series of reports from the defense forces of Shanghai in the past 24 hours, it was apparent that the fighting was going closer to the city by invading forces.

Warned by fighting west of here at Nansung, 12 miles from this city, foreign governments landed 1,100 troops from 22 war ships stationed in the harbor at daybreak and were ready to defend the front should it come within the line of firing.

Wilson Would Run Walton

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 9.—George Wilson, former labor candidate, today issued a challenge to J. C. Walton, democratic nominee for U. S. senator, to meet him in a debate on campaign issues in Oklahoma City next Monday.

Wilson declared he would charge that Walton is not sincere in his affiliation to labor and that he would attack Walton's record as governor. "I want you to hear what I have to say and answer if you dare," Wilson's challenge said.

Rebel General in Action.

(By the Associated Press)

SAN JUAN, Nicaragua, Sept. 9.—Gen. Gregorio Ferrer, leader of the Honduran rebel forces, is marching on Poncalagua, where the government is prepared to hold the city against attack.

ARCTIC EXPLORER SAFE ON LABRADOR COAST

(By the Associated Press)

FREEDPORT, Me., Sept. 9.—Donald D. MacMillan, returning from his arctic exploration and scientific work of the past year in the schooner, Bowdoin, has arrived on the Labrador coast, according to a message received by his sister from Blar, Newfoundland, he said: "On Labrador coast. All well."

Train Wreck is Plot.

(By the Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9.—The dithering of the Pacific Sunset Limited near Maricopa, Ark., last night resulting in the death of an engineer, was the result of a deliberate plot to wreck the train, officials of the road said today.

PER PUPIL LEVY VOTED DOWN BY STATE TRIBUNAL

Fifteen-dollar Per Pupil School Levy Voted As Unconstitutional

APPROPRIATION PASSED

Linscheid Says Means Must Be Found to Aid Weak School Districts

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 9.—The proposed amendment to the State Constitution, providing for a $15 per pupil school levy, voted upon favorably at the special election held October 2, 1923, was today declared unconstitutional by the state supreme court.

The "weak school" appropriation of $550,000 appropriated by the second extraordinary session of the ninth Oklahoma legislature is constitutional, the court held in dismissing the appeal from the district court of Muskogee in which the plaintiff, Fred A. Miller, of Muskogee sought to enjoin the state officers from disbursing the money.

In declaring the school levy unconstitutional, the court held that the proposal should not have been submitted to the people without first receiving a two-thirds vote of both houses of the legislature.

The $15 per pupil levy would have raised an annual $5,000,000 school aid fund.

Some means must be found to provide something like equal opportunity for the school children of Oklahoma, is the belief of President A. Linscheid, of the East Central State Teachers College, when informed that the proposed $15 per pupil amendment had been held unconstitutional by the supreme court. He was gratified, however, to learn that the $550,000 appropriation had been held constitutional, inasmuch as the service for this has already been rendered, and it would have been unjust for the teachers to have been denied their well-earned compensation.

Mr. Linscheid believes that the citizens of the state should begin work at once on some method to give the children of the weak school districts an equal opportunity with those who live in more wealthy districts.

For the time being it will be necessary for the patrons to vote the maximum allowed under the law and keep the schools going as best they can with local taxation.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR COUNTY FAIR

Buildings Prepared for Grand Opening Uptown Here Tomorrow

Plans for the annual Pontotoc County Fair were being rushed to completion today for the grand opening tomorrow morning in the immediate vicinity of the Pontotoc building on East Main street.

Pine arts, agriculture, domestic and school exhibits will be displayed in the Pontotoc building on East Main street while livestock entries will be placed in the lively barn near the Pontotoc building.

All exhibits and entries must be recorded by tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock or they will be refused by fair officials. This step is being taken to prevent further difficulties in connection with the fair.

Workers have been busy during the past two days conditioning the Pontotoc building and the temporary fair barns for the greatest representation of county exhibits in the history of the free fairs here.

Tuesday afternoon found laborers practically finished with their preparations. Exhibits were refused today but the fair buildings will be open all day tomorrow for entries from over the county.

The township fairs held over the county last week have given considerable impetus to the county fair, which swing into session tomorrow.

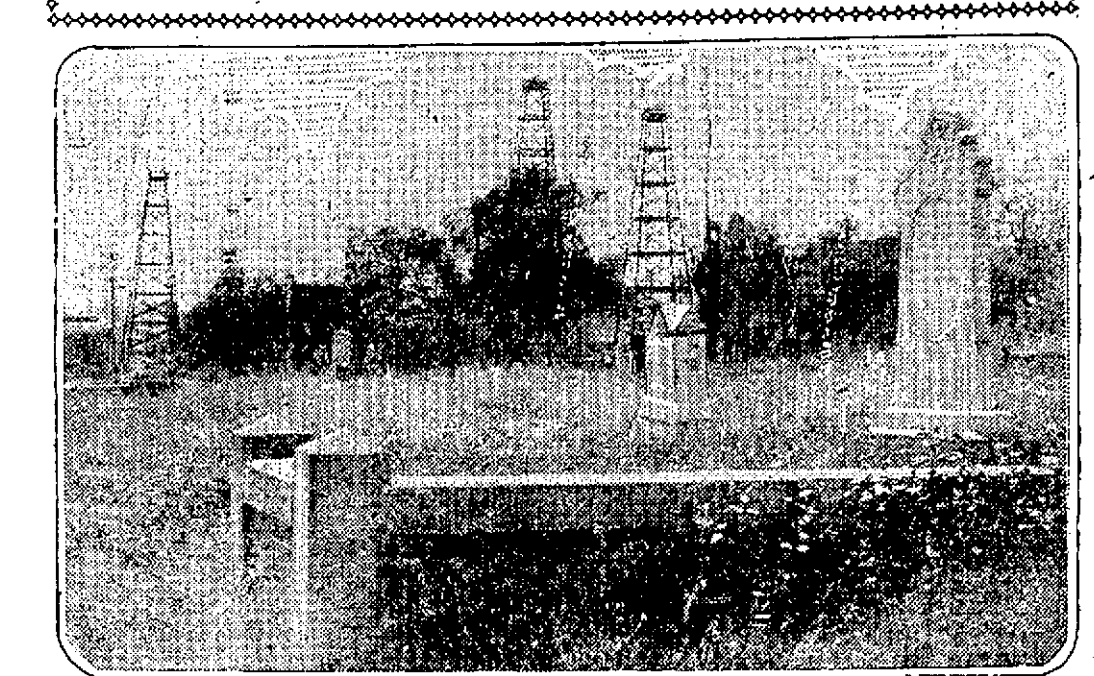

EARLY ESTIMATES OF CARTER COTTON CROP INCREASED

(By the Associated Press)

ARDMORE, Sept. 9.—Early estimates of the cotton crop of Carter county is placed at 25,000 bales, slightly in excess of last year's yield. The acreage is slightly under that of last year, but the yield is heavier. Rain is needed at this time.

That there will be a shortage of pickers is predicted, since all available help has already gone to the Texas fields in response to a call of 60,000 pickers at Fort Worth, last week.

Where Gold Flows From Graves

Gold is being spouted by a graveyard in California. Oil derricks are giving up fortunes alongside tombstones in a cemetery in a suburb of Los Angeles. The oil has been found to underlie the whole town, and derricks are everywhere now, in the front yards of beautiful homes, in gardens, alongside churches.

CHICAGO AWAITS DRAMA'S CLIMAX

Cordon of Police to Surround Court Building When Sentence is Read

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Last minute rehearsals in the legal drama in the sentence of life imprisonment of death tomorrow of Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold Jr. for the kidnappings and murder of Robert Franks, were under way today.

When court opens tomorrow at 9:30 Judge John R. Caverly will mount the bench and announce the verdict he reached after ten days of pondering over the evidence in the colorful trial of "the super-men and college youths" who confessed to the crime.

While all the world turned to watching, they spent the day reading and playing games with the prisoners and seemed little disturbed or worried, but are looking forward to the conclusion of the court tomorrow with much hope.

"Tell Dickie that we are praying and hoping he'll hope for his life to be spared," was the pathetic message Mrs. Loeb gave Allen Loeb, his brother, to give Dickie, last night.

Fifty policemen and scores of plain clothesmen will be on duty outside and in the corridors of the criminal court building to insure an orderly convening of court. Although the court room will not be open to spectators, it is expected that there will be much difficulty in keeping order.

Because of the many threats received by Judge Caverly in connection with the case, special precaution will be taken for his safety.

FORWARD STEP TAKEN IN HERRIN WAR ZONE

(By the Associated Press)

HERRIN, Sept. 9.—A forward step on the streets of Herrin, it is to be observed, was taken toward the strict enforcement of the law, last night, according to Mayor C. E. Anderson, when members of the city council met in session and by a unanimous vote approved the mayor's police appointments.

For many months prior to the council meeting two sets of policemen have patrolled the streets of Herrin. Discord among the aldermen since last May, in the opinion of the mayor, had retarded the city protection.

A small number of troops removed from two counties of Illinois national guards are on guard here with no definite date set for relief.

Troops were rushed in Williamson county August 31, following a clash between the Ku Klux Klan and Anti-Klansmen in which six men were killed.

Games Off

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The Brooklyn-Philadelphia game in the National League was postponed today on account of wet grounds.

The Boston-New York game in the National League was postponed today on account of wet grounds.

Held for Murder

(By the Associated Press)

PAWHUSKA, Sept. 9.—Charles Cottingham, 45, charged with the murder of Adolphus Goddard, 21, whom he shot to death yesterday, waived preliminary hearing today before a justice of the peace and was held for the district court without bail.

Forgets Debt to Railroad; Would Pay It

When a farmer's bid cow gets in the route of a freight train—it's a jersey after its demise and legal negotiations are figured on that basis.

No one stops a conductor to remind him that he has missed a ticket—they would rather keep it as a souvenir.

In fact—most everybody would be content to ride on passenger trains without paying the fees and still not suffer from undisturbed conscience.

One man, has been located, who believes in dealing fairly with the railroads and that was such a rarity that ticket agents in Oklahoma were sent copy of a letter from a man who wished to repay a debt unknown to the railroad.

Following is a copy of the letter sent to local agent, J. McNair: Ticket Agent of Frisco Depot, Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Dear Sir: While attending the camp meeting of the Kansas State Holiness Association at Wichita, Kansas, Bro. Culp, one of the evangelists, preached a sermon on making restitution for past sins. It called to my mind something I owe the Frisco railroad. In 1913, when I was past twelve years of age, I went from Tulsa, Okla., to Pawnee, Okla., and back on half fare tickets. While I did not lie about my age I knew I should have had a full fare ticket, so it was wrong just the same.

The amount I owe you would equal one full fare ticket from Tulsa, Okla., to Pawnee, Okla., and the interest due you on the same. Will you please send me a statement of the amount due you.

It has been three years since I was converted, not by shaking hands with a preacher or signing a card, but by repenting, confessing my sins and praying until the Lord forgave and blotted them out. I had forgotten that debt until Bro. Culp's sermon reminded me of it or I would have paid it long ago.

Yours respectfully,

(Signed) RUBY M. LUNDY.

A copy of the original letter was forwarded to the general offices at St. Louis.

Plan Celebration For Dedication of Canadian Structure

The bridge over the Canadian river ten miles north of Ada will be open to traffic by September 20, according to George D. Key, builder and principal owner. He says most of the steel is in place now and it will take only a few days to floor the bridge.

Plans are being made for a big celebration about the first of October, getting together the people of this county, Seminole, Hughes and others. State officials will be invited, and the occasion will be a gala affair if the aims of some of those who have been talking the matter are carried out.

PRINCE OF WALES WONT LET FLIGHT HALT HIM

SYOSSET, N. Y., Sept. 9.—The Prince of Wales, whose right eye suffered from inflammation when a cloud of turf which he received yesterday, was considerably improved today. The Prince did not allow the mishap to interfere with the round of pleasure arranged in his honor and although it was swollen and pained, he considerably, he attended a party at the home of F. Ambrose Clarke, as he had planned.

The city of Paris is in debt to the extent of 5,000,000 francs, but among its possessions are articles of furniture and art treasures worth 320,000,000 francs.

DRY CANDIDATE RAP OLD PARTIES

Claims Candidates Fail to Pledge Dry Program To People

(By the Associated Press)

CHERRYVALE, Kansas, Sept. 9.—Declaring that he stood for the "preservation and improvement of the morale of the people," H. T. Farris, prohibition nominee for presidency, said in an address here today that if elected to the office, the White House would "sure enough be without a spot of oil or booze thereon or therein."

He spoke before the tri-state convention of the W. O. W. Representatives from Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma were present.

"The two old line parties have never clearly and unequivocally declared themselves on the dry question. Although I put the question through the public press up to Mr. Davis as to his wet or dry inclinations, he sidestepped the question by declaring that he would enforce the law and do what the people asked him to do," Mr. Farris said.

"You may ask why I didn't put the same question to President Coolidge. It was not necessary. His keeping Andrew Mellon, one of the former leading beer manufacturers of the country, as secretary of the treasury and head-over-all officials of those connected with the enforcement of the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead Act, answers that question."

"Of course you all clearly recognize that there was no necessity of propounding the question to LaFollette, who has no real political party and whose record of his association in the past in making Milwaukee the home of Hell's Wrought beer, is well known."

BREWSTER WINS

(By the Associated Press)

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 9.—Ralph O. Brewster of Portland, Republican gubernatorial candidate, a member of state senate, was elected governor of Maine yesterday by a plurality of over 30,000 votes over William R. Pattengall, his democratic opponent.

Pattengall, a former attorney general of Maine conducted his campaign against Brewster principally on the Klan issue. Brewster dwelt chiefly on the state issue during his election campaign making no mention of the Klan.

Post Field Major To Relieve Aerial Chief in Michigan

(By the Associated Press)

FOR SILL, Sept. 9.—Major Thomas G. Lanphier, for the last three years commanding officer of the Forty-fourth observation squadron and Post Field, was to leave here this week for Selfridge Field, Mt. Clemens, Mich., where he will take command of the First Pursuit Group, army air service.

Major Lanphier will relieve Maj. Carl Spatz, noted American ace, who formerly commanded the Ninety-fourth (Hat-in-the-Ring) squadron, famed for its combat record in France during the World War. Major Spatz is to spend two years in the general service schools at Fort Leavenworth, Kans.

Major Lanphier was in command of the air service training school at Isoudon, France, during the war, and last year led the flight of six DeHavilland planes to Porto Rico and return. Capt. Richard Ballard will assume command of Post Field temporarily, war department orders state.

Try a News Want Ad for results

RECORD NUMBERS CROWD HALLS OF SCHOOLS IN ADA

Over Nine Hundred Registered For Work at East Central This Year

CLASSES ARE CROWDED

High School Reports Near Four Hundred Mark in Enrollment

Over 900 students had enrolled in the East Central State Teachers college here at 2:30 this afternoon and the line of prospective students before the registrar's office had not dwindled from its status of Monday morning.

President A. Linscheid of the College was satisfied today that the enrollment would surpass the mark set last year and that the student attendance at the institution would compare favorably with other similar institutions in the state.

According to reports from the College registrar's office, the student enrollment at the present time is considerably greater than at the corresponding period of last year and prospects for a further increase is exceedingly favorable.

President Linscheid stated that he expected the attendance mark to surpass the thousand goal before next Monday morning. A horde of teachers in rural schools in session this week, is expected while other rural schools will close on the following week. The rural schools of the East Central district will undoubtedly send in a large number of students and further enlarge the attendance at East Central.

Class Division Needed.

Owing to the phenomenal increase in enrollment on the second day of the term, the necessity of divisions in required classes is apparent. The English classes have already been overflowed and a division is apparent. History and Education are the two other required subjects that show prospects of division this week.

Owing to the increase in students and the necessity of division of the departments, President Linscheid states that the use of a dozen student teachers is apparent. Provision for this use is made by the North Central association.

Regardless of the increased enrollment and the overflowing of classrooms, classes swung into regular session this morning and will continue throughout the semester.

At the high school, Principal K. W. Harris announced that approximately 400 students had enrolled up to 2:30 this afternoon. This is regarded as the high mark in the history of the local high school for corresponding periods of other years.

All high school classes were in session this morning despite the fact that many classes were overflowed and teachers and school officials presented with a difficult problem in taking care of overflow conditions.

Ward schools were also declared to be in full session today and in many instances conditions were exceptionally crowded.

Definite information, concerning the enrollment in ward schools could not be obtained because of the fact the officials are busy indexing and listing free textbooks on hand.

The distribution of free textbooks has been started but will not be in full swing until later this week.

Half of Oklahoma Students Enrolled in Classroom Work

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 9.—One half of Oklahoma's 700,000 students who will attend the public schools are at work in the classrooms and the other 350,000 will take up classroom work on Sept. 15 when all of the state's 5000 school districts will be in operation. M. A. Nash, state superintendent of public instruction, announced today.

The enrollment will be 25,000 later than last year and the attendance will probably be the largest in the history of the state, Nash announced.

OKLAHOMA CITY.—County and city superintendents of Oklahoma have been mailed bulletins warning them that all related regulations, with accompanying bonds, should be rushed to M. A. Nash, state superintendent of public instruction.

The shipment of free text books for the courses of study in the grades and high schools has been very prompt, and practically all the books are at the depositories in Oklahoma City. Due to belated adoption and the time necessary to deliver the books to their districts, it will be necessary to start off the fall term with an inadequate supply.

A beetle can drag a weight of 125 grains up a plane a five degrees inclination.

THE ADA EVENING NEWS

Established in 1904
Wm. Dec Little, Editor
Byron Norrell, Associate Editor
Published Every Evening, Except Saturday and Sunday Morning
at Ada, Oklahoma
By the News Publishing and Printing Co.

THE ADA WEEKLY NEWS

By Carrier, per week 15c
By Carrier, per month 50c
By Mail, per month 50c
One Year, in advance $5.00

Published Every Thursday, at per year $1.00

MEMBER OF ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for re-publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

Entered at the postoffice at Ada, Oklahoma, as second class mail matter.

Telephones: Business Office, 4. Editorial Department, 307

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
A NEW COMMANDMENT I give unto you, that ye love one another: as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are My disciples, if ye have love one to another.—John 13:34, 35.

The action of the assembly of the League of Nations at Geneva in going on record in favor of another disarmament conference and compulsory arbitration is significant in a number of ways. When the disarmament conference was held at Washington it was impossible to do more than deal with the navy. France refused to consider for a moment the reduction of land or air forces but now under a new government she declares her readiness to take up this question also. Heavy taxes necessary to keep up large armies are proving a heavy drain on the nations of Europe and through the League it is possible to arrive at an understanding that will greatly relieve the situation. The United States, the original champion of the principle of arbitration, is asked to participate in the next move and there is no reason why it should not do so. Certainly acting as peacemaker is not deviating from the fundamental principles that have always guided the destinies of this nation.

"Don't kill a child" is the slogan that the Kiwanis Club of Oklahoma City has adopted for use on the highways. It is an effective sign, for there is no man with heart so hard that he wants the blood of an innocent on child's hands. Even with the danger of killing a child, however, motorists continue to speed on streets and highways where care should be used. The world has little regard for the man who deliberately speeds and injures himself, but it has great regard for the innocent child or grown-up who meets death untimely on account of the foolish driving of a careless individual.

So far the tariff, the panacea for all national ills, is about the only thing Republican campaigners have offered in the way of a remedy for the ills of the country. The trouble is that it has been clearly demonstrated to the farmers of the Northwest that the tariff cannot help them, hence will refuse to swallow that bait. The tariff is the old standby when a campaign issue is needed but this year other things must be considered. As the country increases in population and its industries change in character, other problems are presented and what was a live issue half a century ago does not fit modern conditions.

Great revivals in many sections of this county during the last few months have been reported. The ministers are doing a wonderful work here, and they deserve the assistance and prayers of all God fearing men. The world has never given the proper respect and financial appreciation to its ministers of the gospel, but just the same they go ahead and preach the ways of Christian living and the hope of a life to come. Were it not for preachers in Pontotoc county none of us would want to live here. May the good work continue and their lives of usefulness be long and properly appreciated.

The greatest tribute to the ministers of the gospel we know of is the fact that when one does make a mistake, the matter is big news. It is no news when a crook crooks some one. It is not particularly interesting when a politician goes bad, with the exception of the fact that he is taking the money which belongs to the public, but it is so unusual when a minister does something wrong that it is big news and interesting. This fact is a tribute to the ministry.

The bridge across the Canadian river will be ready for use by the twentieth of this month, George D. Keys, builder, announces. A big celebration will be held about the first of October, and well known men will be asked to attend. The road has been designated a state highway, and no doubt before another year has passed, strings of cars will be coming and going by way of this new bridge. It ought to prove a good investment for the owners and a valuable asset to Ada.

Good highways are a necessity of modern times. Efforts have been made to build them with little cost, but that seems to be out of the question. It takes money to build highways and big amounts of it. It is no longer a question of whether a county can afford to have good roads; it is whether it can afford to do without them.

Building Model houses may become something of a fad with newspapers and architects, but they seem bent on building structures that only the well to do can afford. It is now up to some enterprising individual to build a few that are within reach of people of moderate means. They are the ones who need demonstrations in this line.

According to the Roff Eagle, citizens in the vicinity of Roff made their township fair a regular picnic affair, beginning Monday and extending over Tuesday. That is the right idea. The annual township and county fairs should by all means become picnic days of the year.

SPEAKING OF CHINESE PUZZLES

CIVIL WAR PATH

—Carroll—

MARKET REPORT

(Reported by Felix Couture, Shaw Building, Ada)

New Orleans Market.

Open High Low Close

Oct. 22.85 22.92 22.65 22.77

Dec. 22.90 22.98 22.70 22.85

Jan. 22.95 23.00 22.73 22.87

New York Futures.

Open High Low Close

Oct. 22.75 22.78 22.50 22.52

Dec. 22.80 22.83 22.61 22.64

Jan. 22.85 22.87 22.50 22.64

Spot Markets.

Mids Sales Changes

New York 22.50 10 lower

New Orleans 22.81 3,007 24 lower

Houston 22.15 15,885 10 lower

St. Worth 22.25 250 Unchgd

Dallas 22.20 7,166 5 lower

Galveston 22.20 1,700 10 lower

Memphis 22.50 50 Unchgd

Spread the Butter a Little Thicker.
The U. S. Department of Agriculture announced the stock of butter on hand August 1 as follows:
1924 133,000,000 lbs.
1923 101,774,000 lbs.
Excess 31,226,000 lbs.
During August, more butter was stored than withdrawn. The September 1 figures will probably show:
1924 153,000,000 lbs.
1923 102,906,000 lbs.
Excess 50,094,000 lbs.
The Chicago market on 30 Sept. Standards today, September 5, is quoted at 26 1/4 cents as compared with 43 cents a year ago.
Production has been running ahead of consumption and it is apparent that with much larger supplies in storage and current production also larger than last year, a more general use of dairy products, especially butter, will be necessary to clear storage and current stocks.
"Spread the butter a little thicker" would be an appropriate slogan for the next few months.

Fresh eggs are in good demand. The trouble with the egg business is that a large proportion will not grade Extras or Firsts. There is a difference of from six to seven cents a dozen between the top and medium qualities of fresh eggs. It is too bad that producers do not fully realize that only the highest qualities bring top prices.
To secure best results, eggs should be gathered daily, kept in a cool place, marketed at least three times a week, and sold on a quality basis.
Receipts of poultry, both live and dressed, have shown a material increase during the last two weeks.
Market quotations on live and dressed fowl are on a little firmer basis than last week, due to the demand. Chickens, both live and dressed are easier, due to the fact that by far the larger part of the total receipts of poultry consist of spring chickens. This tendency will probably continue for some time.
(Produce Review, prepared by Swift & Company, Union Stock Yard, Chicago, Ill., September 5, 1924.)

Fruit Growers Ask Aid.
(By the Associated Press)
MELBOURNE.—The Australian dried fruits industry is in a grave position due to competition from California and from cheap labor countries and to the rejection of Imperial preference by the British government. This summary of the situation was admitted to Prime Minister Bruce by a delegation from the fruit districts. The growers asked immediate financial assistance.
The government promised to hold a special cabinet conference to find a permanent solution. Growers are a little more hopeful than they have been, as farmer members in Federal Parliament are pushing their cause forward.

PRODUCE PRODUCTS AT LOW DEMAND IN COUNTY

Produce products are hitting their highest scale of the season at the present time, according to produce dealers here Saturday.
While the volume of business is small at the present time, it is higher than at this period of last year.
To offset this disadvantage in the sale of chickens, eggs and other produce, the market price is considerably higher than at the same period last year.
Practically all produce bought up here by buying houses is sold to eastern markets, only local stores taking a small part of the business.
The two produce houses in Ada purchase all available produce in pontotoc county and from nearby counties in instances are marketed here.
The approach of Thanksgiving and Christmas claim the peak in poultry and produce buying.

Competitive Drill Of Training Corps To be New Feature

(By the Associated Press)
KANSAS CITY, Sept. 8.—A competitive drill for reserve officers training corps units will be one of the features of the Seventh Corps convention of the Seventh Corps Area, to be held here September 22-24. Both senior and junior R. O. T. C. will be represented in the competition and two silver cups will be awarded for the most perfect performances. States in the area are Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas.
Discussion of reserve problems and the national defense policy will have an important place on the program. Events on the program include rifle and pistol competition, a polo tournament, polo games between regular army teams from Fort Leavenworth and Fort Riley and a motor car ride to Fort Leavenworth.
Reunions of the 35th and 89th divisions, composed of middle west men who fought overseas in the World War, will be held the latter part of the week.

McAlester Lad Out To Hang Up Record In Aerial Jumping

(By the Associated Press)
LAWRENCE, Kas., Sept. 6.—Returning to the University of Kansas for his third consecutive year of Varsity competition on the field, lanky Tom Poor of McAlester, Okla., is expected to hang up new Missouri Valley records in the high jump this year.
Poor has just returned from the Olympic games in Paris where he competed against the best athletes in the world. Although K. U. athlete did not win the world title in the high jump, he was among the top finishers in the event and did his six feet four to prove his right to compete.

Poor has never been defeated in the United States during his two years of Varsity competition, but he has been tied. He has added to his laurels in field meets not only in the Missouri Valley conference but in outside meets as well.
Poor is a good student. He expects to graduate next spring.

British Flyers Decline Honors.
(By the Associated Press)
TOKIO.—The Japanese government's offer of decorations for Major A. Stuart MacLaren, leader of the British flight around the world, and his companions was courteously declined by the British officers on the ground that they have not completed their mission and do not deserve the honor, it is learned on good authority.

Buy it—rent it—sell it—find it with a NEWS want ad.

You Know a Tonic is Good
when it makes you eat like a hungry boy and brings back the color to your cheeks. You can soon feel the strengthening, invigorating effect of GROVES' TASTELESS CHILL TONIC 50c.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEES

- For Sheriff: W. B. WALKER
- For County Commissioner Dist. 1: H. CLAY STEPHENS
- For County Treasurer: ALBERT CHANDLERLAIN
- For Court Clerk: L. E. FRANKLIN
- For County Clerk: W. A. PECK
- For Justice of Peace, Ada Twp.: H. J. BROWN
- JOSEPH ANDERSON
- For Constable, Ada Twp.: W. B. ADAIR

ECZEMA

After Others Fail
PETERSON'S OINTMENT
Big Box 35 Cents

The mighty healing power of Peterson's Ointment when eczema or terrible itching of skin and scalp tortures you is known to tens of thousands of people the country over, often the itching goes overnight.
For pimples, acne, rough and red skin, ulcers, chafing, sunburn, burning feet and all blemishes and eruptions it is supremely efficient, as any broad minded druggist will tell you.

Constipation lays you wide open to other diseases—relieve it with Kellogg's Bran

Don't take chances with constipation! This terrible ailment can send poisons into your system which may lead to serious diseases. The longer those poisons accumulate, the more dangerous they become. Begin at once to free your system from them.

Eat Kellogg's Bran. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to relieve the most chronic cases of constipation, or your grocer will return your money. It is nature's own way to make the intestine function naturally and regularly—for Kellogg's Bran acts exactly as nature acts. It makes forever unnecessary the use of habit-forming drugs and pills.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, has proved successful when all else has failed. This is because Kellogg's is ALL Bran. Doctors everywhere agree that only ALL Bran can be 100 per cent effective—they recommend Kellogg's Bran.

Eat at least two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases with every meal. You will like it. You will enjoy the delicious nut-like flavor—the exclusive Kellogg flavor.

Eat Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in wonderful bran muffins, bread, griddle cakes and other recipes given on every package.

Kellogg's Bran is the road back to health. It is made in Battle Creek and is served in individual packages at the leading hotels and clubs everywhere. Ask for it at your restaurant. It is sold by all grocers.

NOTICE!!

Netties and Nettles have moved from 210 North Broadway to 119 North Broadway.

We cordially invite all of our customers to move with us, and will appreciate any new ones that would come to see us.

NETTLES & NETTLES AND COPE GARAGE

Notice! Fair Bread Prize Winners

To the lady winning first prize at the County Fair on bread, rolls or cake baked with Heliotrope Flour, we will give one 48-lb., sack of that "Good Flour Heliotrope."

Phone 300 ADA SEED CO.

TRY A NEWS WANT AD FOR QUICK RESULTS

School of Music

Fall Term, September 8 to December 19

MRS. E. S. WINGET, Principal

MRS. F. L. GLASGOW, Assistant

Piano — Pipe Organ — Theory — Harmony — History

Main Studio, 828 East Main. Phone 563

Hayes School Studio, 523 East Fifteenth. Phone 807

Further information phone

Main Studio—563

NEW SWEATERS for Sports and School

The new Fall Sweaters are here—and such a fortunate arrival. Every Miss will want one for sports and school.

Brush-wool, Brush-wool and Knitted Cadet All-wool Sweaters for Misses and Ladies

Blues, gray, red, tangerine, tan, white, powder blue, green and combinations.

$3.50 to $12.50

SIMPSON'S THE SHOPPING CENTER OF ADA

OIL NEWS

The American Oil and Refining Company has a new location in the northeast of the southwest of section 3-4-6 on the Amy Breco farm. This is about a mile south of the Bowles & Smith well in section 3-4-5-6. Cable tools will be used.

The same company is erecting the rig for a well on the northeast of the northeast of section 16-4-6 on the McCurry farm. Rotary cut-off will be used. The same set that has been in use in section 7-4-6.

The well by the same company in section 17-4-6 will be left as it is, with a hole 200 feet deep, for the time being. It is probable that later the tools will be moved back and the hole deepened. It is in good shape, and no definite decision about it has been made.

Bowles & Smith are getting ready to spend in on their off-set on the Amy farm in section 3-4-5-6. This is north of the discovery well and near the schoolhouse.

Champion English Sprinter
Doubts He Will Run Again

(By the Associated Press)
LONDON. — Harold Abraham, sensational Cambridge University sprinter who won the Olympic 100 metre championship, defeating four of the fastest American sprint stars has retired temporarily from competition to take a rest and resume his studies for the bar.

Shortly after the Olympics, Abraham was reported to have broken down from the effects of his exertions at Columbus, but he explained that he had had an over-dose of competition and needed time to recuperate. While he is studying he does not intend to do his spilt shoes, as he believes his profession and athletics will not mix successfully.

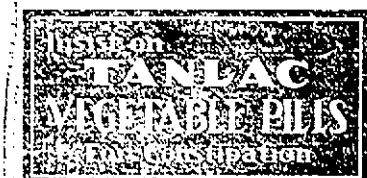

"Nothing below first class form is good enough for me," Abraham was quoted as saying, "so it is better to leave the track alone altogether. The odds are I shall not run again, but I expect to try to get to Amsterdam as a 'rubber'."

Miss Verale Sparks and niece, Evelyn Walker, who have been visiting in Tulsa and Holdenville, returned today.

666

Is a Prescription for

Colds, Grippe, Dengue Fever, Constipation, Bilious Headaches and Malarial Fever.

A Good Thing - DON'T MISS IT

Send your name and address plainly written together with 5 cents (and this goes to Chamberlain Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa, and receive in return a trial package containing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, "flu" and whooping coughs, and Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for stomach troubles, indigestion, gassy pains that crowd the bowels, biliousness and constipation; Chamberlain's Salve, needed in every family for burns, scalds, wounds, piles, and skin affections; these valued family necessities for only 5 cents. Don't miss it.

Have your loose squeaky wheels tightened at THEE SQUARE DEAL SERVICE STATION
Broadway and Twelfth

MARCELLING
by experienced operator 75c
525 East 12th street
Phone 264
FOR APPOINTMENT

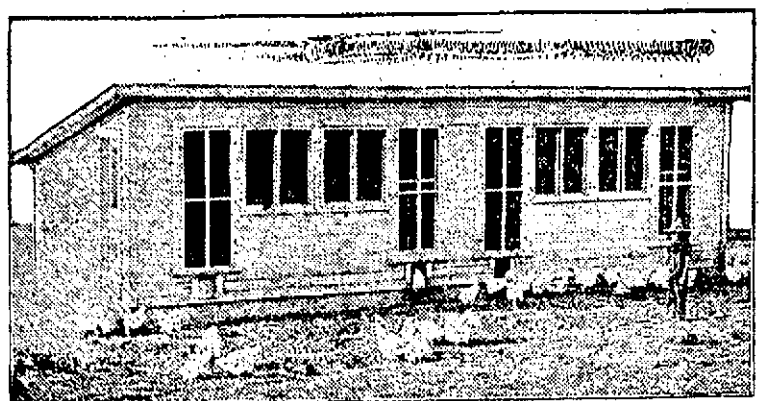

HAY COMPLETE RELIEF
GUARANTEED
The remedy of centuries last year completely relieved in 24 hours with new internal prescription of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which quickly neutralizes the poison, relieves the system. Known as Kiefer's Complete Relief in 24 hours positively guaranteed. —not money back. Send the for 24 hour sample treatment to Clinical Laboratories Co., Cleveland. Regular size sold by all good druggists.
Wozencraft Drug Store
Gwin & Mays

LILLIAN STRITE

Violin Instructor

E. C. S. T. C.
Phone 543

Laying and Breeding House for the Average Farm Flock

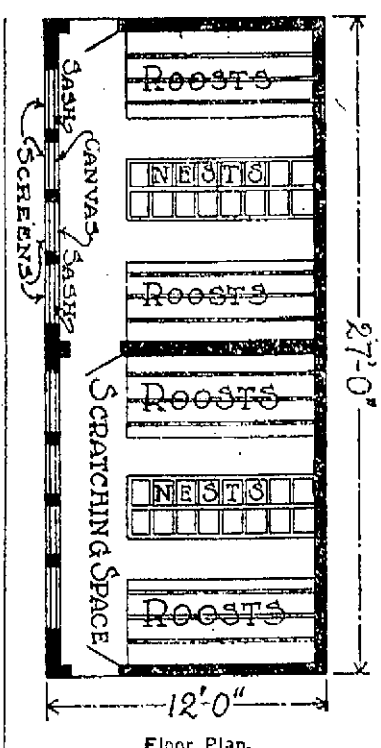

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building work on the farm, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

Almost no farm is without a flock of poultry, but there are many farms where the producers of eggs do not receive the consideration they deserve, and as a consequence fall far below the productivity of which they are capable.

Here is a laying and breeding house for a farm flock which numbers about 75 hens. And the building is very economical, considering the first cost. The size is 12 feet by 27 feet, which will allow four square feet for each hen when it is used for the flock of 75. The building is of frame construction on a concrete foundation, and it has a floor of concrete. The sloping roof gives the south face a height sufficient to accommodate windows and doors which furnish light and ventilation. At the back are the nests and the roosts.

The pitch of the roof is sufficient to make it shed water readily and the tight construction insures warmth in the winter months. This poultry house is altogether suitable for the farm flock and will repay the effort and expense of building it.

Equipment of Modern Homes Mostly Built In

Space-saving is an all-important item in home building and to this end architects and builders have resorted to the built-in features.

The built-in equipment is valuable both from the standpoint of convenience and from the fact that it requires the minimum of space for installation; also many otherwise unused portions of the home can be developed into useful areas.

The modern kitchen is much smaller than the old type; it is designed and arranged to reduce the number of steps necessary to do the work, a highly appreciated advance in labor-saving. Cabinets which do duty as both storage and work table, so planned as to permit the cook to reach the materials without walking back and forth is the accepted standard of modern kitchens.

Electric equipment and arrangement of the wall plugs are also in conformity to the modern idea of saving in labor, and when properly arranged and in connection with the built-in equipment are a most pleasing addition to the kitchen.

The breakfast nook or room is probably the greatest comfort feature to the home, combining convenience with great saving in labor, more especially where there are children. The equipment of this room should be built-in, sanitary fixtures. Many practical furniture arrangements are featured by manufacturers specializing in this type of equipment which are a delight to every woman who manages her home.

The breakfast-room equipment should be planned so that it can be easily cleaned and for this purpose tiled floor and either tiled or washable walls should be planned. Tiled floors and walls, while costing more for initial installation, have practically little or no maintenance expense and in a short time more than pay for the added expense.

Built-in refrigerators are handy, but in all a recessed space for a standard type is to be preferred, as these have been developed to a much more efficient degree than the type which are a part of kitchen cabinets and equipment. In planning the kitchen do so with an eye to reducing the size and to a removal of surplus furniture which requires moving while the floors and walls are being cleaned.

In-a-door beds or wall beds are always acceptable features in every home and are of convenience not alone from the standpoint of extra sleeping accommodations, but from the double services which the rooms can be put to. A sewing-room or nursery with one of these beds can at a moment's notice be converted to a guest chamber, a very satisfactory arrangement.

Other features, such as mothproof closets, closet cabinets with drawers and arrangements for winter or summer storage are very useful and practical items and their installation cost is very minor in comparison with their convenience.

Built-in features never can nor will displace furniture, and are not intended for such a purpose; they are, however, valuable in reducing the number of pieces of furniture required and the elimination of many unwieldy and cumbersome units which must be moved to and fro when cleaning.

The built-in equipment in the modern home of today is so built and arranged as to be thoroughly sanitary and to require the minimum of labor for cleaning, a condition quick to be more numerous in Poland, especially in the eastern sections of the country. The cabinet is considering measures of protection.

Communists Active
WARSAW, Poland.—Disturbances due to Communists are growing

Best Way to Prepare Floor for New Finish

Given a common floor to refinish under ordinary conditions, scrub thoroughly with warm water to which household ammonia has been added, about one part ammonia to every eight parts water. Grease spots and stains may require special scrubbing with a stronger solution of ammonia water. Where this fails, washing with alcohol or benzine should be tried. Paint spots may be removed by washing with turpentine and sandpapering. Waxing and oiling should never be used. They are hard to remove completely and their presence is harmful to the varnish which follows. Wax or oil floors do not require such cleaning, but the wax (if ordinary soft wax) or oil must be thoroughly removed by washing with alcohol or benzine.

Failure to remove all of this means failure of the job. A durable varnish finish is not possible where wax and oil remain.

For floors that are badly discolored, the next step is to bleach them. This is done by applying a solution of oxalic acid crystals (as oxalic acid is poisonous, care must be exercised in handling it) and hot water—as many crystals as the water will dissolve. This solution is applied with a scrubbing brush and is left on the surface for about 24 hours, then washed off thoroughly with clear, hot water. In bad cases, repeated applications of the bleach are necessary and the final coat only should be washed off with hot water.

The next process is to drive all nail heads below the surface of the wood and to fill all nail-head holes with putty and cracks and crevices with a good crack and crevice filler. If the wood is to be stained, the putty and the crack filler should be colored to the desired shade by working into them some of the stain. After the crack filler is dry, the wood should be sanded, papered or otherwise made perfectly smooth and clean to receive the finish.

Safety Rules for the Use of Gas in Any Building

Make sure that lamps, stoves, heaters, pipes that burn gas, and their connections, are well made, tight and free from leaks.

When you smell escaping gas, first open doors and windows, then find the leak at once.

Never look for a leak with a lighted match, lamp, candle, or flame of any kind; use an electric flashlight. If you have one, otherwise find the leak by the sense of smell.

Correct the leak at once, or else shut off the gas at the meter and send for a gasfitter. Do not light up in the house until this has been done.

Never buy cheap rubber gas-tubing. If you cannot connect with solid-rubber pipes get a good quality of flexible metal tubing and make sure that it is tightly joined at both ends.

Cedar Closet Lining

The advantage of built-in equipment of every kind is so thoroughly accepted that the universal use of cedar closets of one kind or another is but a question of time, particularly in view of the moderate cost of such mothproof linings. The cedar has a rather pleasant odor, preserves linens as well as woollens, and can be used in private dwellings, hotels and apartments.

City Briefs

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Auld have returned from Oklahoma City.

Try Oliver's cold patch. 8-31-2m*

Clifford Dorsey left today for Dustin where he will act as principal in high school.

Russell Battery Co., Willard Services and Sales, Phone 140. 8-6-1m

Floyd Dorsey left today for Cushing, Okla., where he will be a member of the high school faculty.

Motor Sales Co. parts and accessories for all cars. 8-12-1f

Miss Elizabeth McClary left recently for El Reno where she will teach the ensuing year.

Board with or without rooms. Mrs. Prewett, 216 East 12th. 9-5-1m

Claude Thompson left this afternoon for Norman where he will enter the state university.

SERVICE car. Day phone 101. 9-8-1mo*

Mrs. N. D. Pitts and children have returned to their home in Dallas, after a weeks visit with her mother, Mrs. W. P. Cole.

We drain and wash your crank case free. Three Square Deal Service and Filling Station. 10-3-1f

Mrs. A. T. Wight and daughter, Mrs. Nolin, son Roy, of Sulphur and Miss Velvie Estes of Hugo, motored over from Sulphur today.

Board with or without rooms. Mrs. Prewett, 216 East 12th. 9-5-1m

Mrs. W. C. Rollow and sons, Vernon and Willie and Mrs. R. C. Jeter and two children have returned from their vacation in points in Colorado.

See O'Neal for auto tops and auto painting. 118 South Townsend. 9-5-1mo

Brice Fletcher, who has been visiting his aunt, Mrs. Mary Smith and grandmother, Mrs. A. C. Fletcher, has returned to his home at Oklahoma City.

McCarthy Bros. can fix that old tire or tube. Phone 855, 115-118 South Townsend. 8-23-1f

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Cox, Mrs. Will Neathery and son Robert Allen, returned Monday from Boulder, Colo., where they spent the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Murphy of Sherman were members of their party most of the time while away.

WISCONSIN LACKS STARS OF GRIDIRON

Stiffest Schedule to be Played Without Eight of Former Stars

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 9.—Facing one of the heaviest schedules in years, Wisconsin will open its football season with eight of its former stars with past seasons missing from the lineup. Coach Jack Ryan has the task of practically rebuilding his team with new but promising material. To offset the players lost by graduation, he will have what is considered the most promising bunch of recruits in several seasons and two or three former stars who are returning to school.

Missing from the Badger team will be Captain Martin Below, tackle. Below, however, will help shape the destinies of the team as assistant to Coach Ryan. Probably the second greatest loss is that of a stellar fullback and punter, Schneider, quarterback, Benton, tackle, Nichols, guard, Irish, end, Pierce, center, and Holmes, halfback, are others lost to the team.

Optimism prevails in the Badger camp, however. Speed will mark the Wisconsin team this season, coaches predict. Pat McAndrews, who runs the 100 yard dash in less than 10 seconds, McGivern, another track star, Leitt, and Harmon brothers are among the most promising speedsters out for the team.

Capt. Jack Harris will be on hand for one half back position while Harris, McGivern and McAndrews are expected to make strong bids for the other half. Others available are: Wiswell, Crozier, Donaghey, Opliz, Kreuz, Barnum and Orecuti at fullback, Stangel, of last year's team, Leon Harmon, Radko and Murgie are classed as possibilities. The quarterback position also will be a new man.

Treckmeyer, center and Bieverstein, guard, are the only regulars in the line. Supek and Miller, guards from last year's squad, will be out again. Slaughter, Houdek, and McCormick are guard candidates, while Paul Nelson, substitute last year, Kasiska, Straubel, Stannard, McMasters, Sause, and Schwarz, the latter pair 200-pounders, are on the string for tackles. At end, Ryan expects little difficulty with Steve Polaski, star of two years ago, and Blackman of last year on hand.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 9.—Plans aimed at the Ku Klux Klan appeared certain on both Democratic and Republican state platforms to be formed here today at the state platform convention by the two party political leaders. Both gubernatorial nominees are opposing the Klan.

LETTER APPOINTING KELLEY ON ITS WAY

Apostolic Letter on Way to Washington From Rome At Present Time

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 9.—The Apostolic Letter of Bull from Pope Pius XI at Rome, which will officially appoint the Rt. Rev. Francis C. Kelley, of Chicago, bishop of Oklahoma, is probably on its way to Washington and may be effective within a month, according to Rt. Rev. G. Depretre, vicar general of the Oklahoma diocese.

The Catholic church decrees that the new bishop is not a bishop over Oklahoma until he receives the parchment embossed in Latin letters although it is known that he will be the man selected.

Monsignor elley, at present, is the president of the church extension society in Chicago and also editor of the Catholic church extension magazine. He will fill the place left vacant by the death of the Rt. Rev. Theophilus Meerchaert, February 23, 1924, who was bishop of Oklahoma. The Apostolic Letter probably will be sent from Rome to the apostolic delegate in Washington, D. C., then forwarded to Kelley, who in turn will immediately notify Depretre of the commencement of his official duties.

The field in Oklahoma over which the new bishop will preside, includes 106 priests and a Catholic following of approximately 60,000, according to the vicar general and taken from the official Catholic directory for 1924.

The Catholic church has 48 schools for whites and seven for Indians; three boys' colleges and five girls' academies. One orphan asylum is maintained in the state. There are three Catholic hospitals in this area, St. Anthony's in Oklahoma City, St. Joseph's in Ponca City, and St. Mary's infirmary in McAlester.

There are 304 places in Oklahoma where Catholics hold religious services. They include 71 churches with resident priests, 82 missions or churches without resident priests, 125 stations visited by priests, and 16 private chapels as in hospitals.

Lodge and Club Notices

Notice W. K. K. K.
Regular meeting tonight at 8 o'clock; each member is expected to be present.—Excellent Commander

W. C. T. U. Notice.
The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Convention Hall. All members are earnestly asked to be present as we have some important business to transact, also yearly election of officers.
MRS. J. H. ROUD, Sec.

GERMANS TRY TO END TITLES MULTICPLICITY

(By the Associated Press)
BERLIN.—No country in the world, perhaps, is as title-ridden as Germany. The nuisance has become so great that the federal government intends to take a hand and try and bring about some sort of simplification and unification of the titles that are being awarded by the various departments of government, federal, provincial and state.

Before the war every man who did something unusual or who rendered a personal service to his fellow men or to the emperor was given a decoration and a title. Then came the revolution and all titles and decorations were supposed to be wiped out. Holders of titles, however, merely printed the letters "A. D." (austrian descent, or out of service) behind their former titles so that one still sees visiting cards with such designations as "Imperial vice-consul out-of-service" or "minister of state out-of-service."

Then the various state governments undertook to apply designations to their officials as indications of rank in the service. In practice, these amounted to titles, so that Germany now has a multiplicity of titles never known before.

THIRTY YEARS AT DESK BRINGS DESERVED VACATION

(By the Associated Press)
HAVANA.—Mannuel Astorga y Soperinas, chief of the claims department of the United Railways of Havana, has just completed 30 years of service with the company without being absent a single day. As a reward he was granted three months leave with pay and he and his wife have gone to England to place their son in school. Señor Astorga, a Cuban, started in March, 1884, as a clerk when fourteen years old. He will be pensioned when he becomes 50 years of age.

Berlin Zoo Sells Monkeys

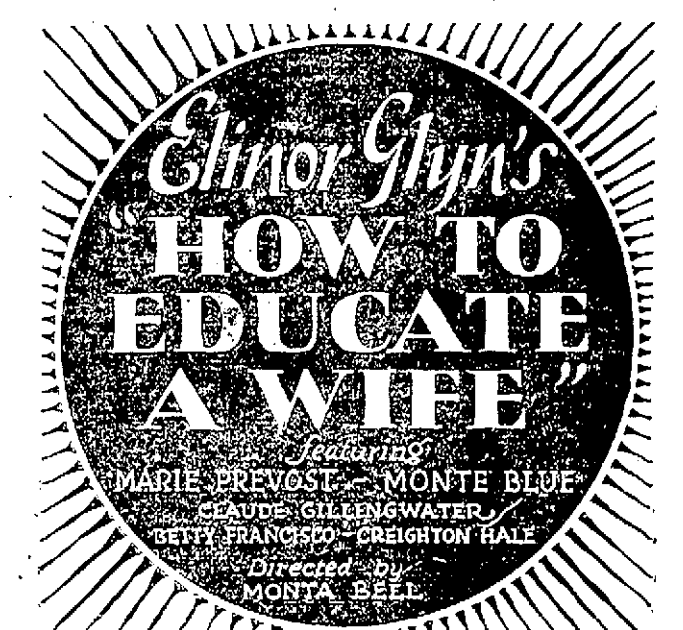

BERLIN.—"Bargains in monkeys" are being advertised at the Berlin Zoo, where a visitor may purchase any monkey to which he takes a fancy.

The idea of selling monkeys originated with the zoo director recently when he found that he had on hand more of the comedians of the animal family than he cared to keep in stock, because of the high price of peanuts. There are not quite so many buyers as the director had figured on.

SHOWING TODAY McSWAIN TODAY SHOWING

The Playhouse of Character

LAST DAY SHOWING

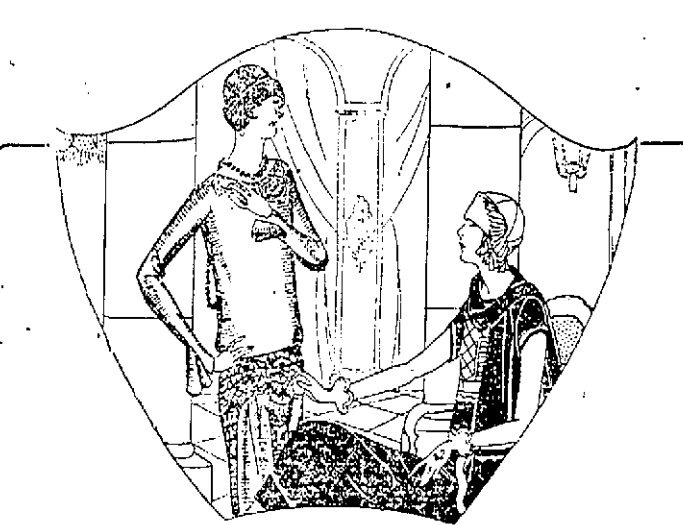

Two Reel Comedy

"MIDNIGHT WATCH"

Here Wednesday

"ONE LAW FOR THE WOMAN"

LET A NEWS WANT AD GET IT FOR YOU

The New Mode

Finds Much Favor Basking in the Limelight of Early Fashions

Simply—the creed of the Fall mode seems to be deceiving at times. For there are so many new colorings that make the Directorate and straight-line styles copiously elaborate. Accessories, too, are equally as interesting to the discerning and critical Fashion eye.

FALL DRESSES

Stillling clinging to the straight-line, slender silhouette, these new fashions with flare sleeves and bottoms, simple but dignified mannered styles, are indeed fetching in the new materials—Bengaline, Silk Crepe, Charmeuse, Canton, Poirat, Flannels and others.

Colors: brown, black, blue and combinations in plain, embroidered and pin-striped patterns.

Modest prices — 15.75, 19.50, 22.50 and 27.50

FALL HATS

From Fisk, Sloane, King and other famous makers, come Shaw's complete new line of Fall Hats. Charms for every occasion—in duvetines, felts and velours.

The colors: brown, black, fallway, bakst and others.

3.50, 4.75 and 7.50

Fall Sweaters

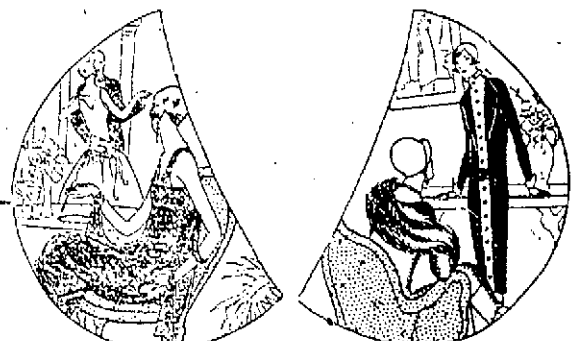

And what glorious, early Fall days these new gorgeous sport sweaters reflect. In the richest and most varied assortment of colors and patterns—in Angora and knitted materials.

4.05 and 5.75

Fall Wraps

There are many clever treatments, like the log treatment, wrappy styles, Polos and rich pile fabrics fill the bill in all instances.

15.75, 24.50 and up

Shaw's
DEPARTMENT STORE

Judith of Blue Lake Ranch

By Jackson Gregory

Copyright by Charles Scribner's Sons

Donley moved a scuffling foot back and forth, stirring uneasily. That he was lying, no one there doubted; that he was but a poor liar after all was equally evident.

"You ain't got no call to keep me here," he said at last. "I ain't got to answer questions all day."

"You ain't answer my questions if you don't want me to turn you over to Emmet Sawyer in Rocky Bend," she told him coolly. "How did you know this man was called Poker Face? Did you know him before?"

Donley's eyes went again, further and swift, to Poker Face. But so did all other eyes. Poker Face gave no sign.

"Yes," answered Donley, taking refuge at last upon the solid basis of truth.

"Did you know this man?" Judith asked then of Poker Face, turning suddenly on him.

"No," said Poker Face.

Donley, having guessed wrong, flushed and dropped his head. Then he looked up defiantly and with a short, forced laugh.

"Suppose I know him or don't know him," he asked with his old insolence, "whose business is it?"

But Judith was giving her attention to Poker Face now.

"Where did you get that white

"Wouldn't Have Been Afraid, Not Bein' a Hawk!"

pigeon you turned loose this mornin'?" she asked crisply.

"Caught it," was the quiet answer.

"With my hands?"

"Why?"

"Just for fun."

"Did you know that pigeons could carry hog cholera on their feet?"

"No. But I wouldn't have been afraid, not Bein' a Hawk."

Donley uttered. Poker Face looked unconcerned.

"Take that man Donley into the hall," Judith said to Lee. "See if he has got any pigeon feathers sticking to him anywhere, inside his shirt, probably. If you need any help, say so."

Very gravely Bud Lee put a hand on Donley's shoulder.

GRAD CLASS OF THREE MEET IN FIRST REUNION

(By the Associated Press)
STILLWATER, Okla., Sept. 9.—Twenty-seven years ago, in the spring of 1897, three senior students at Oklahoma A. and M. college received their sheepskins and went out to make their marks. The three constituted the entire graduating class of that year.

Recently the three met again. By chance, each was in Stillwater, visiting relatives and friends. They held, then, their first reunion.

The three '97 graduates, comprising the second class of the college graduated, are Mrs. Jessie Thatcher-Bost, of Alva; George Bowers, a Frisco railway conductor, of Enid; and A. N. Caudill, entomologist of the United States National Museum, in Washington, D. C.

Living in Oklahoma, Mrs. Bost and Bowers occasionally had been in Stillwater, but had not elsewhere, but at no time until a few days ago had the three met in Stillwater. While here, they inspected the college they had known when it was in its infancy and called up a President Bradford Kappa.

In addition to being a member of the second graduating class at A. and M. college, Caudill, the entomologist, has an additional distinction which oldtimers at Stillwater recall. He was married by telegraph

"Come ahead, stranger," he said quietly.

"You go to h—!" cried Donley, springing away.

Bud Lee's hand was on him, and though he struggled and cursed and threatened he went with Lee into the hall. Tripp, watching through the open door, smiled. Donley was on his back, Lee's knees on his chest.

"Till tell you one thing, stranger," Bud Lee was saying to him softly, as his hand tore open Donley's shirt, "you open your dirty mouth to cuss just once more in Miss Sanford's presence and I'll ruin the looks of your face for you. Now lie still, will you?"

"Connect me with the Bagley ranch," Judith directed the Rocky Mountain operator. "That's right, isn't it, Doc?"

"Yes," answered Tripp. "That's the nearest case of cholera."

"Hello," said Judith when the connection had been established. "Mr. Bagley? This is Judith Sanford, Blue Lake ranch. I've got a case of hog cholera here, too. I want some information."

She asked her questions, got her answers. Triumphantly she turned to Tripp.

The Bagley ranch, though a hundred miles away, was the nearest cholera-infected place of which Tripp had any knowledge. Bagley did have a flock of pigeons; a man, a month or so ago, had bought two dozen from him; the man wasn't Trevors. Bagley didn't know who he was. The same man, however, had shown up three days ago and had asked for another half-dozen of the birds. There had been three white pigeons among them. He was a shifty-eyed chap, Bagley said, old brown suit, but with a rattlesnake skin around the crown. That, point for point, spelled Donley.

Lee returned with the shirt which he had ripped from his prisoner's back. Adhering to the inside of it were little, downy feathers and three or four larger feathers from a pigeon's wing.

"I guess he rode mostly at night, at that," concluded Lee. "A great little fat man you must have looked, stranger, with six of those birdies in your shirt."

Donley's face was a violet red. But a glance from Lee shut his mouth for him. Poker Face, still looking on, gave no sign of interest.

"Put him in the grain-house," said Judith, her eyes bright with anger. "And see that he doesn't go Shorty's trail. Poker Face, have you anything to say for yourself?"

"No," answered Poker Face.

"Then," cried Judith hotly, "you can have your time right now! Donley, here, I'll prosecute. He's going to pay for this morning's work. I've got nothing on you. It's up to you to see that I don't get it. And you can tell Shorty for me—yes, and Quinlan, too, and Bayne Trevors. If you like—that I am ready and willing for your next play! And don't forget that when San Quentin is full there's still room in Folsom."

Judith telephoned Emmet Sawyer that she had a man for him. Lee and Carson conducted an expostulating Donley to the grain-house and jalled him wordlessly. Then Carson put a man on guard at the door, daylight though it was. When all was done he filled his pipe slowly and turned troubled eyes after Poker Face.

"She made a mistake there, though," he said regretfully. "A better cowhand I never ask to see. Bud. An' you ought to see the game of crib that man plays! Nope, Judy; you're wrong there."

But Bud Lee, the man who did not approve of the sort of woman who did man's work, said with unusual warmth:

"Don't you fool yourself, Carson! She hasn't made one little mislay yet!"

CHAPTER X

Judith Triumphant

Though, under the surface, life upon Blue Lake ranch was sufficiently tense, the remaining days of June frolicked by as bright and bonny as the little meadow-blues flirting with the field flowers.

Since from the very first the ranch had been short-handed, the hours from dawn to dusk were filled with activity. Carson, who, true to Judith's expectations, had brought back some new ideas from his few days at the experimental farm—ideas not to be admitted by Carson, however—brought a hundred young steers from a neighboring overstocked range. In the lower corral the new milking-machines were working smoothly, only a few of the older cows refusing to have anything to do with them.

Tripp had succeeded in locating and getting back some of the men who had worked long under Luke Sanford and whom Trevors had discharged. It was a joy to see the familiar faces of Sunny Harper, Johnny Hodge, Bing Kelley, Tod Bruce. The alfalfa acreage was extended, a little more than doubled. Plans were made for an abundance of dry fodder to be fed with the lush silage during the coming ten months. Bud Lee broke his string of horses and, with Tommy Burkitt and one other dependable man, began perfecting their education, with an eye turned toward a profitable sale in January.

Quinlan, perforce, was left undisturbed upon the sheep-ranch, whither Emmet Sawyer had followed him. Against Bud Lee's word that he had had a hand in the trouble at the old cabin were the combined oaths of two of the sheepmen that he had been with them at the time.

Hampton's guests, who had planned for a month at the ranch, stayed on. But they would be leaving at the end of June. That is, Farris and Rogers positively; the Langworthys, perhaps. The major was content here, and to stay always and always, would be an unbounded joy—of course, with little runs to the city for the opera season and for shopping trips, and a great, jolly house-party now and then.

The only fly in Marcia's contentment was Hampton himself. She confessed as much to Judith. She liked him, oh, ever so much! But was that love? She yearned for a man who would thrill her through and through, and Hampton didn't always do that. Just after his heroic capture of the terrible Shorty, Marcia was thrilled to her heart's content. But there were other days when Hampton was just Pollock Hampton. If it could only be arranged so that she could stay on and on with no day of reckoning to come, no matrimonial ventures on the horizon.

"That's simple, my dear," Judith smiled at her. "When you get through being Pollock Hampton's guest, you can be mine for a while."

Hampton was now a great puzzle to Mrs. Langworthy, and even an object of her secret displeasure. Not that that displeasure ever went to the limit of changing Mrs. Langworthy's plans. But she longed for the right to talk to him as a mother should. For, seeking to emulate those whom he so unjustly admired, Bud Lee and Carson and the rest of the hard-headed, quick-eyed men in the service of the ranch, Hampton was no longer the careless, frankly inefficient youth who had escorted his guests here. He went for days at a time unshaven, having other matters to think of; he came to the table bringing with him the aroma of the stables. He also wore a pair of trousers as cylindrical in the leg as a stovepipe; over them he wore a pair of cheap blue overalls, with the proper six-inch turn-up at the bottom to show the stovepipe trousers underneath. The overalls got soiled, then dirty, then disgracefully blotched with wagon grease and picturesque stains, and Hampton made no apologies for them.

Twice he left the ranch, once to be gone overnight, intending that it should be a mystery where he went. But, since he rode the north trail which led to the Western Lumber camp, no one doubted that he had gone to see Bayne Trevors, in whom he still stoutly believed.

Between the 15th and the memorable 30th of June, Bud Lee saw little of Judith Sanford. She was here, there, everywhere; busy, preoccupied. Marcia he talked with twice; once when they rode together while Hampton, racing recklessly down a rocky slope for a shot at a deer got a fall, a sore shoulder and made his debut in certain new swear-words; once when all of the guests, with the exception of Farris, who was painting the portrait of the stallion, Nightshade, and the major, who had "letters to write," came out to watch the horse-breaking. This time, introduced to Mrs. Langworthy, Lee got for his how a remarkably cold stare. Others might forget, here in the open, the distinction between people of the better class and their servants—not Mrs. Langworthy, if you please.

Having created his imaginary woman, Lee was ripe to fall in love with her when she came. He had thrilled to the touch of Judith's hand that night in the cabin; his thoughts, many and many a day, centered about the superbly alive beauty that was Judith. The fact disturbed him vaguely. The thought that he was very deeply interested in her in the good old way between man and maid, never entered his staid head. She was as far removed from his ideal woman as the furthestmost star in the infinite firmament. Perhaps it was this very disquiet within him, caused by Judith, which now turned his thoughts to Marcia.

"That's the sort of woman," he told himself stantly. "A man's woman; his other self, not just a partner; the necessary other side of him, not just the same side in a different way."

Marcia had little, feminine ways of helplessness which turned flatteringly to the strength of the other sex. Judith asked no man to aid her in mounting her horse; Marcia coquettishly slipped a daintily slipped foot into a man's palm, rising because of his strength.

Now, when his thoughts went to Judith, Bud Lee turned them dexterously to Marcia, making his comparisons, shaping them to fit into his pet theory. When, days passing, he did not see Judith, he told himself that he was going to miss Marcia when she left. When one day he came unexpectedly upon Judith and with lips and eyes she flashed her ready smile at him, he felt that odd stir in his blood. What a pity that a girl like her, who might have been anything, elected to do a man's work! When, again unexpectedly, he came another day upon Marcia riding with Hampton, there was no quick stirring of the pulses, and he contented himself with the thought: "Now, that is the sort of woman. A man's woman! His other self . . . and so on."

When Judith planned a little party to mark the departure of Marcia on the 30th of June—it wasn't definitely decided that the Langworthys were leaving then, but at least Farris and Rogers were—the reasons attributing her were rather more complex than Judith herself fully realized or would have admitted. She "liked" Marcia; she wanted to do at least this much for her. Living room, dining room, music room, library—they would all be cleared of the larger pieces of furniture, the double-doors thrown open. The string band from Rocky Bend would come. Judith would send out invitations to the other people there and to the ranches hereabout. She would have a barbecue, there would got return and it was not convenient for her to go to Washington to meet him before their marriage, so the telephone was used.

The average brunet has 46 miles of hair while the average light-complexioned woman has about 90 miles.

he races and the usual holiday games; then the dance. Marcia would know nothing of it until the last day, when her eager enthusiasm would send her a flutter to her dressing room.

Unanalyzed, it was simplicity itself, this giving a farewell party to Marcia. Under analysis, it was a different matter. The boys at the ranch would be invited, and of course most of them would come. But Lee would come. Judith would see to that, even if he should hesitate.

Bud Lee had always been so self-possessed, had so coolly found her lacking, that, piqued a little, Judith longed for the opportunity to place him in an atmosphere where a little of his calm self-possession might be snatched from him. If she could embarrass him, if she could see the red rise under his tanned skin, she would be giving Mr. Lee a lesson good for his soul.

"I've got powerful little use for an affair like that," said Lee coolly, when she told him. "Thank you, Miss Sanford, but I don't think I'll come."

Judith shrugged her shoulders as though it did not in the least matter to her.

"Am giving it for Marcia," she said. "Do you think it would be quite nice to her to stay away? I am afraid that she will be hurt."

Not Judith's words, but the look in her eyes changed Lee's intentions.

"If it's for Miss Langworthy," he said quietly, "I'll come."

The day came and Bud Lee began to regret that he had given his promise to go to Marcia's dance. All day he was taciturn, about, avoiding not only the visitors from Rocky Bend and the other ranches, but his own fellows as well. He took no part in the races, was missing when the blazing trenches and smell of broiling meat told that the barbecue was in progress. He worked with his horses as he had worked yesterday, as he would work tomorrow. With the dusk he went, not to the men's quarters, but to the old cabin at the Upper End.

Again and again that day he had thought of that look in Judith's eyes when she had asked him to come for Marcia's sake. What the devil did she mean by it? He didn't know exactly, but he did know that in his own vague way it irritated him. Her eyes had laughed at him, they had teased, they had told him that Judith herself wasn't wasting a single thought upon Mr. Bud Lee, but that she had laid his obvious interest in Miss Langworthy.

"D—n it," muttered Lee. "I won't go."

But he had said he would go, and in little things as in big ones he was scrupulous. He would go, just to dance with Marcia and show Miss Judith a thing or two. He felt unreasonably like taking Miss Judith across his knee and spanking her. And he did have a curiosity to see just what Judith would look like in a real party-dress.

"Poor little wild Indian," he grumbled. "She's got the making of a wonder in her, and she doesn't even know it. What's worse, doesn't care."

He sat with a dead cigarette between his fingers, staring at the wind-blown flame of his coal-oil lamp. Judith was doing this as she did everything that she set her two hands on, thoroughly and with her whole heart and soul. In that lay the key to her character. There was no half-way with her. When she gave, it was openheartedly, with no reservation; where she loved or hated, it was unreservedly; if she gave a dance it would be a dance for the countryside to remember.

Yesterday Hampton had wondered, grinning, what he'd look like in a dress-suit again. Judith had a thing on here of late but his war togs.

Whereby he called attention to his turned-up overalls, soft shirt, battered hat, and flapping vest with the tobacco bag hanging out.

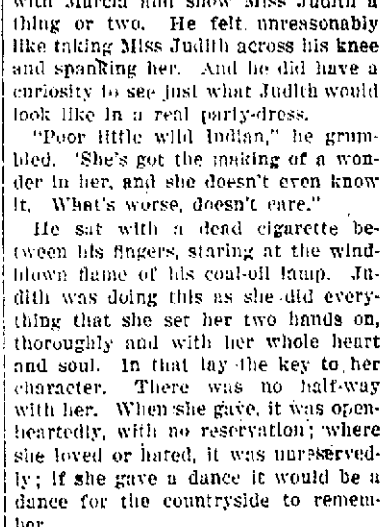

Bud Lee turned down the wick of his lamp, which had been smoking, and sat staring at it another five minutes.

"By thunder," he said softly to himself. "I'll do it."

He shoved the bunk away from its place in the corner, opened a "trap-door" in the floor and, lamp in hand, went down into the cabin's cellar.

Here was a long pine box, heaped with tin bands for shipping, its lid securely nailed on. He set down his lamp and with spirit-sleeve wiped off some of the accumulation of dust and spider-webs.

A card with the words, "David Burritt Lee, Rocky Bend," tucked to it

Lamp in Hand, Went Down Into the Cellar.

Whereby he called attention to his turned-up overalls, soft shirt, battered hat, and flapping vest with the tobacco bag hanging out.

Bud Lee turned down the wick of his lamp, which had been smoking, and sat staring at it another five minutes.

"By thunder," he said softly to himself. "I'll do it."

He shoved the bunk away from its place in the corner, opened a "trap-door" in the floor and, lamp in hand, went down into the cabin's cellar.

Here was a long pine box, heaped with tin bands for shipping, its lid securely nailed on. He set down his lamp and with spirit-sleeve wiped off some of the accumulation of dust and spider-webs.

A card with the words, "David Burritt Lee, Rocky Bend," tucked to it

Whereby he called attention to his turned-up overalls, soft shirt, battered hat, and flapping vest with the tobacco bag hanging out.

Bud Lee turned down the wick of his lamp, which had been smoking, and sat staring at it another five minutes.

"By thunder," he said softly to himself. "I'll do it."

He shoved the bunk away from its place in the corner, opened a "trap-door" in the floor and, lamp in hand, went down into the cabin's cellar.

Here was a long pine box, heaped with tin bands for shipping, its lid securely nailed on. He set down his lamp and with spirit-sleeve wiped off some of the accumulation of dust and spider-webs.

A card with the words, "David Burritt Lee, Rocky Bend," tucked to it

Whereby he called attention to his turned-up overalls, soft shirt, battered hat, and flapping vest with the tobacco bag hanging out.

Bud Lee turned down the wick of his lamp, which had been smoking, and sat staring at it another five minutes.

"By thunder," he said softly to himself. "I'll do it."

He shoved the bunk away from its place in the corner, opened a "trap-door" in the floor and, lamp in hand, went down into the cabin's cellar.

Here was a long pine box, heaped with tin bands for shipping, its lid securely nailed on. He set down his lamp and with spirit-sleeve wiped off some of the accumulation of dust and spider-webs.

A card with the words, "David Burritt Lee, Rocky Bend," tucked to it

Whereby he called attention to his turned-up overalls, soft shirt, battered hat, and flapping vest with the tobacco bag hanging out.

Bud Lee turned down the wick of his lamp, which had been smoking, and sat staring at it another five minutes.

"By thunder," he said softly to himself. "I'll do it."

He shoved the bunk away from its place in the corner, opened a "trap-door" in the floor and, lamp in hand, went down into the cabin's cellar.

What the World Is Doing

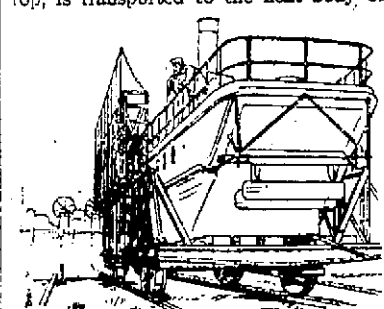

(As Seen by Popular Mechanics Magazine)

Voice Pictures as Nerve-Cure Aid Are Tested in London

Various kinds of nervous disorders are said to be detected by the use of an instrument, invented by Prof. E. W. Scribner and tested in England, to take "pictures" of the human voice. Vibrations of tones spoken into a tube are registered in lines on a revolving drum covered with smoked paper. Persons afflicted with certain nerve diseases are said to pronounce various words in a way which produces abnormal lines on the recording mechanism, thus enabling the physician to diagnose their trouble.

Railroad Carries Ships Overland with Passengers and Cargoes

So that vessels may carry their passengers and cargo overland between separated bodies of water, a railway ship canal, consisting of sluices, inclined planes and large, specially designed railroad flat cars, has been built in Germany. When a steamer reaches its terminal, the flat car is rolled on rails down an incline into the water and shipped back up the slope and, with the ship on top, is transported to the next body of water into which it runs far enough to permit the vessel to float. This line was built to provide communication between East Prussia and the different bodies of water from which it has been cut off by the new divisions of territory resulting from the war.

made its appearance. Lee shook his head and attacked the lid.

"It's like digging out a dead man," he muttered. "Well, we'll bury him again tomorrow."

It was a box of odds and ends. Clothing, a few books, a pack of photographs, an ornate bride, a pair of gold-chained spurs, a couple of hats, gloves, no end of the varied articles which might have gone hastily into such a receptacle as this from the hurried packing in a bachelor's apartments. Bud Lee, with a dress-suit and the articles it demands, even to a tie and dancing-shoes, went back into the room above.

"Like Hampton," he mused, looking at the things in his hands, "I wonder what it'll feel like to get back into these! I'm a fool." He laughed shortly and set to work to improvise a flat-iron to take the worst wrinkles out of the cloth. "Once a fool, always a fool. You can't get away from it."

It was settled. He was going to Marcia's party. He insisted upon calling it in his mind, "Marcia's party." And he was wondering, as he shaved, how Judith was going to look.

As Bud Lee came through the lilacs into the courtyard, he heard the tinkle of a distant piano and the tremolo of a violin, so faint as hardly to be distinguished above the plash and gurgle of the fountains. The court, bathed in soft light, seemed a corner of fairyland, the music vanishing elfin strains to some mischievous troop putting sighs and love dreams into a sleeping maid's breast. The night was rich with stars, warm with summer, serene with the peace of the mountains. He was late. They were already dancing within.

He stood a moment, looking in at the outer edge of the flood of light which gushed through the wide doors. Behind him Japanese lanterns hanging from a vine-covered trellis; before him flowers, bright chandeliers, girls' dresses like fluttering, many-colored, diaphanous butterfly wings. He had been saying to himself: "I must hurry if I want to dance with Marcia." And something stirring restlessly within him shoved aside the thought of Marcia and put in its stead the old wonder: "What sort of a Judith would he see tonight?"

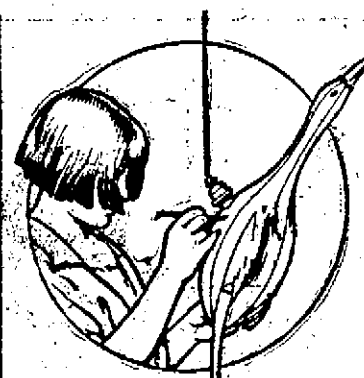

He found it difficult to form any picture of her here, among these gay, inconsequent merry-makers. Judith to him spelled a girl upon a horse, hoisted, spurred, with a scarf about her neck fluttering wildly behind her as she rode, the superb, splendid figure of a girl of the out-of-doors, alive with the hot pioneer blood which had been her rich inheritance, a sort of wonderful boy-girl. Remove her flapping hat, her boots and spurs and riding-suit, and what was left of Judith?

(Continued Tomorrow)

ONE OF WORLD FLIERS TO BE GUEST AT TULSA MEET

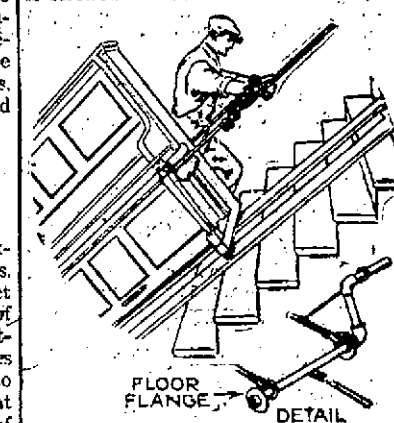

TULSA, Sept. 8.—Preparations are under way here for the reception to be accorded one of the six army round-the-world fliers, who is expected to visit this city after the completion of the epoch-making hop, Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chief of the army air service, has assured members of the Flying Club of Oklahoma that one of the fliers will be permitted to come here.

"It is planned that the fliers, Lieut. Lowell Smith, Lieut. Eric Nelson, Lieut. Leigh Wade, Lieut. Leslie P. Arnold, Lieut. Joan Harding and Sergeant J. Ogden, make a circus tour of the nation after they complete their globe-girdling hop," Col. Pat Murley of Tulsa declared after a recent conference with General Patrick. "Which one of the fliers will make the trip here has not been decided."

Moving Heavy Furniture up Stairways

Pianos and other heavy objects can be moved up steep inclines, such as stairways, very easily by means of the simple device shown in the illustration. It consists of three lengths of 1 1/2-in. gaspipe, two floor flanges and two elbows, which are screwed together to form a shaft and crank. Two lengths of stout rope, one having a heavy iron ring at each end, are also provided. The rope equipped with rings is brought around the piano as shown, the rings being slipped over the shaft. Heavy pads are, of course, provided around the corners to protect the varnished surface. A 3/4-in. hole is drilled through the center of the shaft to receive an eyebolt, and one end of the second rope is tied to it, the other end being securely tied to some support at the top of the incline. In use, the operator moves the piano up the stairway by turning the crank. A floor flange is screwed on each end of the shaft, as shown, to prevent the rope from slipping off as it is wound on. A short length of rope near the crank holds it securely and prevents the winch from unwinding when the operator does not wish to turn it.

Giant bees of India build honeycombs that are eighteen feet high.

LENINE DOMINATES RUSSIAN THOUGHT

Despite Death of Soviet Leader, He Rules Thought in Country

(By the Associated Press)

MOSCOW—Like so many other commanding figures in history, Lenin, creator of Soviet Russia, is greater in death than in life. If the founder of the modern communist state has failed to become a "god" or a "saint," he has literally become, in the minds of the Russian Bolsheviks, an idol of as great fame as America's Washington or Lincoln. In the center of Moscow's famous "Red Square," Lenin lies mouldering in a frail wooden tomb, a symbol to the Bolshevik intelligentsia of the death of Russia's greatest rebel and of the renaissance of a new Russia.

Throughout the day and night, within the walls of the Kremlin, as sacred to Russians of the monarchical period as Lenin's tomb is dear to the heart of the Communist, thousands of Russians who have embraced the Soviet faith pass in silence before this strange mortuary chamber of cedar and oak and, without getting a glimpse of the frail body within, stop to do reverence to its departed spirit.

There are those, of course, of the old Czarist regime, who look upon the wooden sepulchre as a grim reminder, not of the death of a man, but of the destruction of the old Russia. It is to guard against any untoward demonstrations from such as these that guards are on duty at the tomb and behind the Kremlin walls, ready with bayonets to suppress the slightest gesture of insurrection.

But it is not alone at Lenin's tomb the Bolsheviks pay homage to his memory and works. Countless streets, villages, towns, railroad stations, and even newly-born children have been named after him. In every store, restaurant, hotel, theatre, museum, railroad station and even on locomotives and upon airplanes high in the sky one sees lithographs of the revolutionary leader. They are there, whether the occupants or observers like them or not. Leninism, the Communists would like to have one believe, has supplanted real religion in the minds of the people, which the government set out to exterminate.

The visitor's gaze is met all over Russia by the image of Lenin. If his likeness is not represented in plaster busts in every shop window in every town, it is found in the schoolbooks, on posters in every government office, in public monuments, in cinema films, on postage stamps in tourist conveniences of Russia. His portrait is seen even on public lawns, ingeniously worked out in flowers and foliage. It probably will soon appear on Russian coins. It is already turn-of-the-blade on household dishes and pottery.

"Leninism" is as common in Russian terminology as Marxism, Communism or Syndicalism. The Soviet authorities have seen to it that Russia's children are duly instructed in the life and achievements of their first revolutionary head. They have just appropriated nearly $1,000,000 for the wider circulation of Lenin's writings among the population. They have set aside a huge sum for the erection of a magnificent mausoleum of marble and bronze to supplant the present wooden tomb of the "Father of Modern Russia."

Today, seven months after Len-

BEDROOM SET HAS PROMINENT PART IN PLAY

Rather a peculiar coincidence manifested itself in the first day's production of "Minor Glyn's 'How to Educate a Wife,' which will be featured as the screen headline at the McSwain theatre today.

The opening scenes of the picture are laid in the bedroom of the home of the Todds, the parts of Mr. and Mrs. Todd being portrayed by Marie Prevost and Monte Blue, both of whom are reposing peacefully in their twin beds when the picture is first flashed on the screen.

The final fade-out is much the same situation—with the Todds again in their bedroom, reunited after several reels of storm and strife.

So the first day's shooting of the picture included the opening and closing scenes. The rest should be easy—the remaining half dozen scenes must merely picture the mental life of three happily (?) married couples—with a villain or two thrown in for good measure—and the process of "education" going merrily on.

Marie Prevost, Monte Blue and Louise Fazenda are cast in the leading roles, and Claude Gillingwater, Vera Lewis, Creighton Hale, Betty Francisco, Edward Earle and Nellie Bly Baker portray other prominent parts in the picture.

SANITARY MILK SUPPLY FOR CHILDREN SOUGHT

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 8.—An intensive campaign to obtain more sanitary conditions among dairies supplying all schools in Oklahoma, where children youths are boarding, has been started by the state board of agriculture, thru

THESE WANT AD'S BRING RESULTS

WANT AD'S

The price of advertising under this head is 15 cents a word a day, with a minimum charge of 25 cents. If run by the month, the rate is $1.25 a line. Except for those who run regular monthly advertising accounts, all classified advertisements must be paid for when given in.

FOR RENT

FOR RENT—Brick garage near College. Phone 240W. 9-8-2*
 FOR RENT—5-room modern house on South Broadway. Phone 113. 9-8-6*
 FOR RENT—5-room modern house in 300 block on East Ninth. Phone 1188. 9-8-3*
 FOR RENT—Five room modern house, reasonable. 408 West Sixteenth street. 9-8-2*
 FOR RENT—Furnished 6-room modern house, -808 South Townsend. Phone 21. 9-7-3*

ROOM AND BOARD

FOR RENT—Furnished room, 502 West 15th. Phone 227J. 9-9-3*
 FOR RENT—Furnished rooms. Phone 718J. 9-7-3*
 MEALS with or without room, Mrs. Frowett, 216 East 12th. 9-7-1m
 FOR RENT—Modern apartments, 217 East 15th. Phone 691J. 8-17-1m
 FOR RENT—Furnished 2-room apartment. Phone 556. 9-7-1*

FOR RENT—Nice bedroom, private entrance. Phone 119. 9-8-6*

FOR RENT—Light housekeeping rooms near College. 1020 E. Ninth. Phone 1109W. 9-9-5*

FOR RENT—Light housekeeping rooms, 812 East 13th. Phone 466W. 9-9-2*

FOR RENT—Nicely furnished southeast bedroom near College. Phone 967 after 5 o'clock. 9-9-3*

FOR RENT—2 rooms furnished or unfurnished. 531 West 15th. 9-8-2*

ROOMS and board for girls, also light housekeeping rooms. 630 East Fifteenth. 9-8-3*

FOR RENT—Light housekeeping rooms, 831 E. 15th. Phone 176J. 9-7-3*

ROOM, BOARD, GARAGE for two girls, 531 N. Francis, near College. Phone 1168J. 9-7-3*

FOR RENT—Furnished front room adjoining bath, gentleman preferred. Phone 1176J. 9-7-3*

FOR RENT—Nice room in a brick bungalow, private entrance to room and bath. 200 East 14th st. 9-7-3*

FOR RENT—Light housekeeping rooms. 506 East 12th street. Phone 383. 9-2-7*

ROOM AND BOARD in private home for two students, 714 E. 15th. Phone 743W. 9-7-3*

FOR RENT—Three light housekeeping rooms, garage, 922 East Main. Inquire at 111 N. Broadway. 9-9-1*

FOR RENT—One nice two or three room furnished apartment with private bath and garage. 228 E. 17th. Phone 920. 9-7-3*

LOST

LOST—Pocketbook between Singer Sewing Machine office and Abbott's Store, containing $5.00 bill and four $1 bills. Return to News and receive reward. W. H. Hatcher, Route 3, Stonewall. 9-9-1*

Try a News Want Ad for results.

WANTED

Well furnished small house with garage and barn. Possession by Sept. 15th.

W. J. BRYAN
Phone 396-J

WANTED

WANTED—Reliable colored woman for general house work. Apply 911 S. Broadway. 9-9-3*

WANTED—Two girls to room and board. 515 East 12th street. Phone 871. 9-5-3

WANTED—You mattress work; cotton or feathers. Phone 170. Ada Mattress Factory, 400 East Twelfth. 9-9-1*

WANTED—Cotton pickers, just north of glass factory. $1.25 per 100. Call 9500-F11. Albert S. Hall. 9-8-1*

WANTED—Family to pick cotton and gather corn. S. B. Brumley, 12 miles southwest Ford bathing pool. 9-7-2*

ARIZONA VOTES TOMORROW IN STATE PRIMARIES

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 9.—Twenty-seven candidates for state offices, exclusive of presidential electors, will seek to have their names placed upon the official ballot for the November election at an all-party primary in Arizona today.

Only the Republican and Democratic tickets will have official representation on the primary ballot, there being no announced candidates for any state office on any other ticket.

Chief interest in the primary centers in the gubernatorial contest, where a three-cornered fight is being waged among the Democrats and a two-cornered fight among the Republicans. The Democratic candidates are George W. P. Hunt, incumbent governor seeking re-election; Sidney P. Osborn, former secretary of state, and E. W. Samuels, former superintendent of state institutions. The Republican candidates are Dwight D. Heard, publisher of the Arizona Republican, and Thomas Maddock, former state engineer.

15 Children Survive Mother DOUBTNEZ, France. The unusual sight has just been seen here of 15 children following their mother's coffin to the grave. Madame Pierre Le Carre died at the age of 46. She had been the mother of 18 children and 15 survived her.

Try a News Want Ad for results

BE INDEPENDENT

Raise fruit, strawberries, truck and chickens. Ada imports more than half of what she consumes. Buy splendid fruit and truck farm just 2 miles from Ada. Everlasting water, good house, fine wood (gas if desired). Bargain. Terms if desired, but must have some cash. Don't write unless you mean business. Address Box 311, Ada, Okla.

For Sale

Five-room modern house with garage, chicken yard and house, fruit trees, grapes, front and back walks, shrubs, at 805 East 12th. Desirable property desirably located. See

E. O. WEST, Owner
801 East 12th

WALTER P. CHRYSLER'S TRAFFIC TALKS

TRAFFIC COURTESY PAYS

The motorist who ignores the rights of others on the highway and takes more than his share of the "road hog"—is often responsible for motor car accidents. The police of Chicago, Detroit and several other large cities recently launched drives against this individual.

Courtesy is just as essential in motoring as it is in any other phase of life. Acting with a bit of care and courtesy will often prevent accidents. In cities where automobiles are compelled to stop before crossing so-called "through streets," it is interesting to note how many cars on the through streets refuse to give drivers on the intersecting streets an opportunity to pass. Two gentlemen on the streets don't insist on crossing the same spot at the same time. Courtesy prevails and one goes first; the other must follow. This "after you" spirit is safe and commendable.

Yearly Income of Millions Shrinks to Clerk's Salary

By Margery Pickard
(Central Press Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—In the bank where he is employed as a clerk in the foreign exchange department, he is known simply as Mr. Dimitri.

He is a dark, complexioned, brown-eyed, not unhandsome youth of twenty-three, is quiet, serious and extremely courteous, revealing in his mild voice the careful breeding of the well-born European.

A few years ago he had a yearly income of millions. Now he has a bank clerk's salary.

Within the last few days the newspapers of New York have printed considerable concerning Mr. Dimitri, since they have unearthed his true identity. He is, in reality, Prince Dimitri Alexandrovich of the Russian Imperial House of Romanoff, nephew of the assassinated Czar Nicholas II., grandson of Czar Alexander III., and great-grandson of Czar Nicholas I., and eighth in direct descent from the famous Peter the Great.

Third Cousin of Wales

Prince Dimitri was born Aug. 2, 1901, in Gatchina, a town of 12,000 inhabitants southeast of Petrograd and site of one of the many imperial palaces of the czars of Russia. His father, Grand Duke Alexander Mikhailovich, was then a Vice Admiral of the Imperial Russian Navy.

The mother of Prince Dimitri is Her Imperial Highness, the Grand Duchess Xenia Alexandrovna, sister of the assassinated Czar Nicholas II., and daughter of the late Czar Alexander III., whom Nicholas succeeded, Oct. 20, 1894.

Prince Dimitri's maternal grandfather, the Dowager Empress of Russia, Marie Fiodorovna, was before her marriage to Czar Alexander the Princess Dagmar of Denmark, sister of Queen Mother Alexandra of Great Britain. Thus Prince Dimitri's mother and King George of Great Britain are cousins, so that the Prince is third cousin of the Prince of Wales.

Loyal to Czarist Tradition

The parents of Prince Dimitri are second cousins, both being descendants of Czar Nicholas I., who was the grandfather of Dimitri's father and the great-grandfather of the Prince's mother. This brings out the rather curious circumstance that the Prince is third cousin of his own father and mother and is his own fourth cousin.

Through Czar Nicholas I., the ancestor of Prince Dimitri can be traced back in direct lineage, not only to Peter the Great, but to Michael Feodorovich, founder of the Romanoff dynasty, son of the Metropolitan Philaret, Feodor Nikitich and three Mikhaels, Nicholas Ivanovich Cherkov, it is said.

to Norman Rurik, the first Russian monarch, who reigned in the fifth century. Thus the New York bank employee has a royal family tree extending back more than 1,000 years.

Prince Dimitri remains faithful to his country and to Russian Imperial traditions.

"I shall always be a Russian," he said, when asked if he intended renouncing his princely title to become an American citizen. "Some day I hope I shall be able to go back to my country and give to my countrymen the benefit of whatever I may learn here."

But the Prince admits rather gloomily that that day now appears far distant, for he realizes that as long as the present rule continues in Russia, it is no place for him or his kind.

And so far he is quite contented and happy working as an ordinary employee of a New York bank.

Germany to Honor War Dead.

(By the Associated Press)

BERLIN—On the tenth anniversary of the beginning of the world war a movement was launched for the erection of a national monument in Berlin to the memory of the soldiers who died as an outcome of the conflict.

There have been several proposals here to bury an unknown soldier, with proper ceremonies on behalf of the unknowns, but the government opposed the idea on the ground that to do so would be following too closely in the footsteps of the allied nations, where the custom originated.

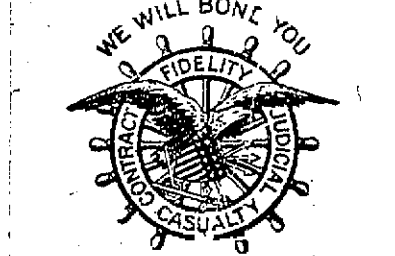

PERFECT HOUSEWIVES GOAL OF CALIFORNIA SCHOOL

(By the Associated Press)
OAKLAND, Calif.—The board of education in Piedmont, an exclusive residential section of 8,500 population, announces that with the opening of the new school term girls will be trained in the arts and duties of the perfect housewife. The course will include interior decorating, house planning, care of furnishings and clothing, and etiquette for all occasions.

Miss Roxana Elliott, with training at Columbia and the University of Chicago, is to supervise this branch of education.

HAY FEVER VICKS VAPORUB

Business Directory

United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co.

EBEY, SUGG & CO.
General Agents

W. R. WREN

A disabled World War Veteran is now located with Carl Spangler as a watch-maker and engraver.

Engraving a Specialty

EXPERT MARCELLING

by EXPERIENCED OPERATOR

PHONE 608 FOR APPOINTMENT

Colonial Marcell Shoppe
At COON'S

F. C. SIMS

Real Estate, Fire and Tornado Insurance

A share of patronage is solicited and will receive prompt attention; office in I. O. O. F. Building, Insurance, Farm and City Loans.

The Doctor Says:

'Eat a Lot of Ice Cream'

GET IT FROM YOUR DEALER or call SOUTHERN ICE & UTILITIES CO. Phone 244

LODGES

I. O. O. F.—Ada Lodge No. 146, regular meetings every Thursday night.—A. T. Johnson, N. G.; H. C. Evans, Secretary.

Ada Chapter No. 78, O. E. S. meets second and fourth Thursday nights in each month. The second Thursday will be business—and the fourth initiation and social.—Margaret Peay, W. M.; Cora H. McKel, secretary.

K. T. M.—Ada Commandry No. 26 Knights Templar Masons meets third Wednesday night of each month.—LAYTON CHILCUTT, N. C.; F. C. SIMS, Secretary.

A. F. & A. M.—Regular meetings of Ada Lodge No. 119, Monday night on or before the full moon in each month.—E. C. PEAY, W. M.; F. C. SIMS, Secretary.

R. A. M.—Ada Chapter No. 26 Royal Arch Masons, meets the second Tuesday night in each month.—MILES C. GRIGSBY, High Priest; JOHN GARDNER, Secretary.

Professional Directory

If You Need GLASSES

You need the best. Eyes tested. Becoming Glasses made for your requirements.

SEE

COON AND SEE BETTER

120 West Main St. Ada, Okla.
Phone 606

CRISWELL UNDERTAKING

AMBULANCE SERVICE
Licensed Lady Embalmer

Phone 618—301-203 East Main

ISHAM L. CUMMINGS

PHYSICIAN
SURGEON

X-Ray Laboratory—Rollow Bldg.

DR. F. R. LAIRD

DENTIST

Office: Shaw Building
Office phone 886. Res. Phone 539

DR. L. G. BRANNON

LICENSED CHIROPRACTOR

Norris-Haney Building—Suite 5
Phones: Office 312; Res. 1940-W.

C. A. CUMMINS

UNDERSTAKER

Licensed Embalmer and Funeral Director

First Class Ambulance Service
121 West 12th St. Phone 592
Office Phone 1 Res. Phone 836

IF IT IS GLASSES YOU NEED

SEE FAUNT LE ROY AND SEE BETTER

AT DUNCAN BROS.

Big Jewelry Store

A registered optometrist will take care of your needs at 105 East Main Phone 610

ADA TRAIN SCHEDULE

M. K. & T.

EAST
No. 15—Lv. Daily 11:19 a. m.
No. 18—Lv. Daily 10:50 p. m.

WEST
No. 14—Lv. Daily 7:10 a. m.
No. 16—Lv. Daily 4:30 p. m.

SANTA FE

EAST
No. 446—Ar. Daily 11:40 a. m. (Stops Here)

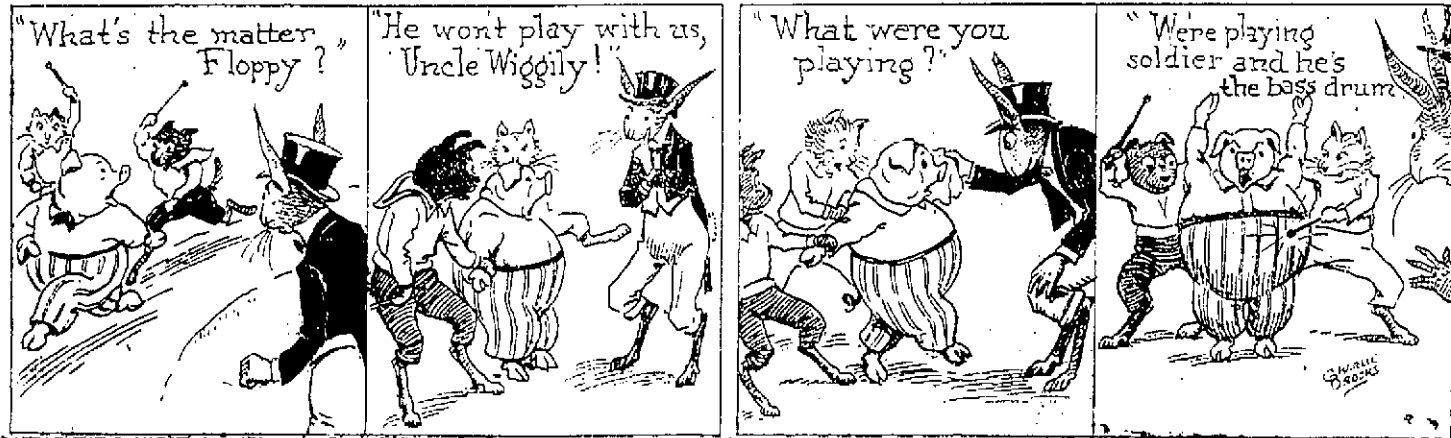

WEST
No. 446—Lv. Daily 12:20 p. m.

FRISCO

NORTH
No. 510—Lv. Daily 12:30 p. m.
No. 512—Lv. Daily 5:15 p. m.
No. 118—Lv. Daily 3:33 a. m.

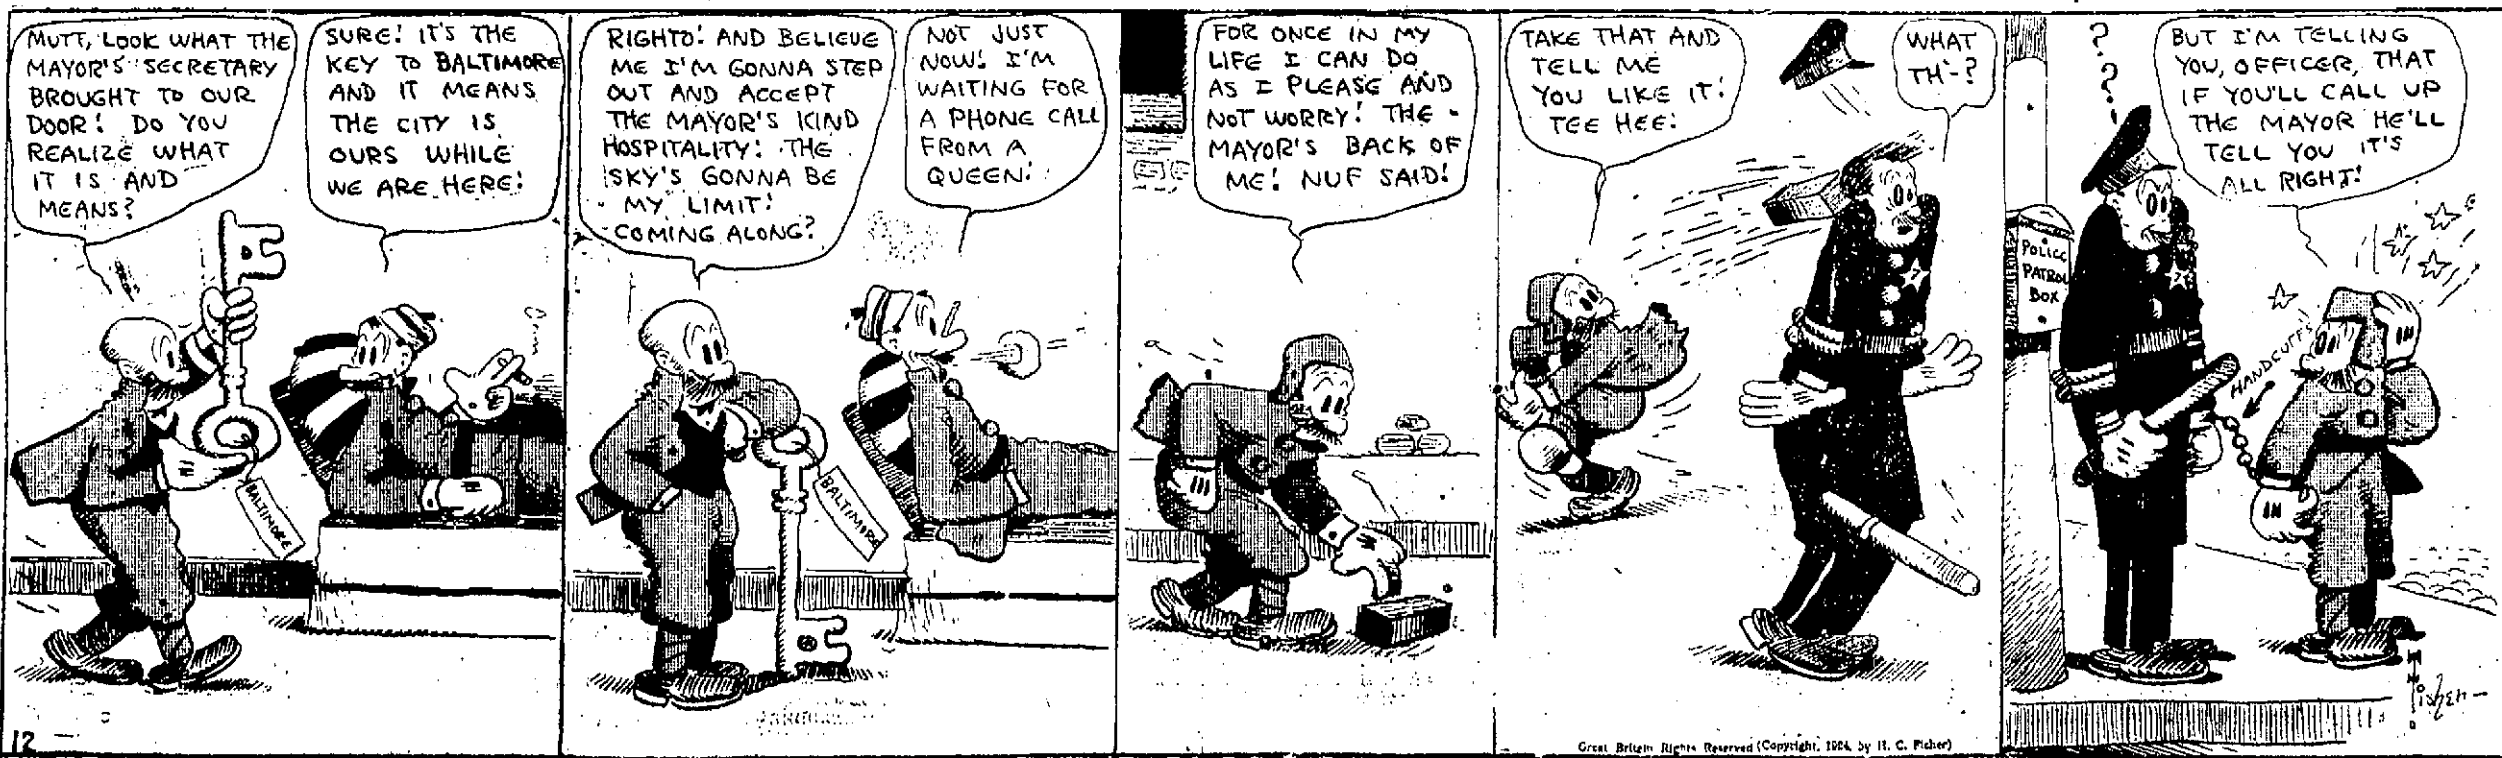

SOUTH
No. 117—Lv. Daily 12:48 a. m.
No. 511—Lv. Daily 12:30 p. m.
No. 507—Ar. Daily 7:35 p. m.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S TRICKS

MUTT AND JEFF—The Mayor of Baltimore Is Kind to Our Tourists.

By Bud Fisher

DYNAMITE BLASTS GETTING FREQUENT

Contents of High Explosive Explained With Cause Of Blasts

Big dynamite blasts are more and more frequent items of news. Charges of dynamite are buried deep in the face of a cliff, an electric switch is turned, there is a deafening roar, and thousands of tons of rock come crashing down. What the inquiring observer asks, produces this explosion? What actually happens when dynamite explodes?

To answer this question it is necessary to explain briefly what dynamite is. Reduced to its essentials, dynamite is a mixture of nitroglycerin with wood meal and nitrate of soda or nitrate of ammonia, or both. Nitroglycerin, in turn, is composed of several different elements, namely, carbon, hydrogen, nitrogen, and oxygen, the molecules of which are grouped in such a way as to form a heavy, oily, yellow liquid. Now these same molecules are capable and arranged in other groups to form several different substances instead of the one, and the bonds which hold them together in the particular arrangement which makes nitroglycerin are very weak.

Consequently, when the electric current sets off the detonator imbedded in the dynamite and this imparts a sharp shock and very high temperature to the nitroglycerin, the bonds between the molecules which compose the nitroglycerin break down. The nitrogen and some of the oxygen remain free—both of them, gases—while the other molecules instantly combine to form two compound gases, carbon dioxide and water vapor. The breaking down of the nitroglycerin and rearrangement of its molecules generates a great deal of heat—enough to raise the temperature of the gases to 6300 degrees F or thereabouts—and this high temperature causes the other ingredients of the dynamite to decompose into gases, or to burn, with the release of still more heat. All of this takes place in a single instant and the highly heated and rapidly expanding gases, which would normally occupy a much greater volume than the dynamite, exert a sudden tremendous pressure on the walls of the bore hole. The rock gives way and the escaping gases set the air into violent vibration. To the ear, the explosion consists of the roaring noise and the rattling of the rock, but in reality there are only the audible and visible results of the rearrangement of the molecules of the dynamite when subjected to a shock from the detonator, this conversion of the nitroglycerin and other ingredients of the dynamite into gases constituting the actual explosion.

ENDEAVOR UNIONS OUT FOR VOTES

Oklahoma Union Seeks to Induce Voters to Visit Polls

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 8.—Oklahoma Christian Endeavor Union members are ready to launch their citizenship campaign tomorrow, in conjunction with the national headquarters at Boston. H. T. Tumulty, president of the Oklahoma union, announced tonight. The union is attempting to point out to all citizens in general and members of the union in particular the importance and duty of voting at the general election in November.

The union campaign is under the direction of Dr. Daniel A. Poling, associate president of the organization and citizenship superintendent, according to Tumulty. It will be carried on in every state, he said.

It is estimated that 500,000 members of the organization will be eligible to cast their votes for the first time in a national election, and that there are 2,000,000 additional Christian Endeavors of voting age.

Since Christian Endeavor is and always has been non-partisan, no effort will be made to enlist voters for any particular political party, but each citizen will be urged to vote in accordance with the dictates of his own conscience.

At a recent meeting of the State Council, governing body of the Oklahoma Christian Endeavor Union the movement of the United Society was unanimously endorsed, and plans were made for co-operating to the fullest extent with the national organization, Tumulty said.

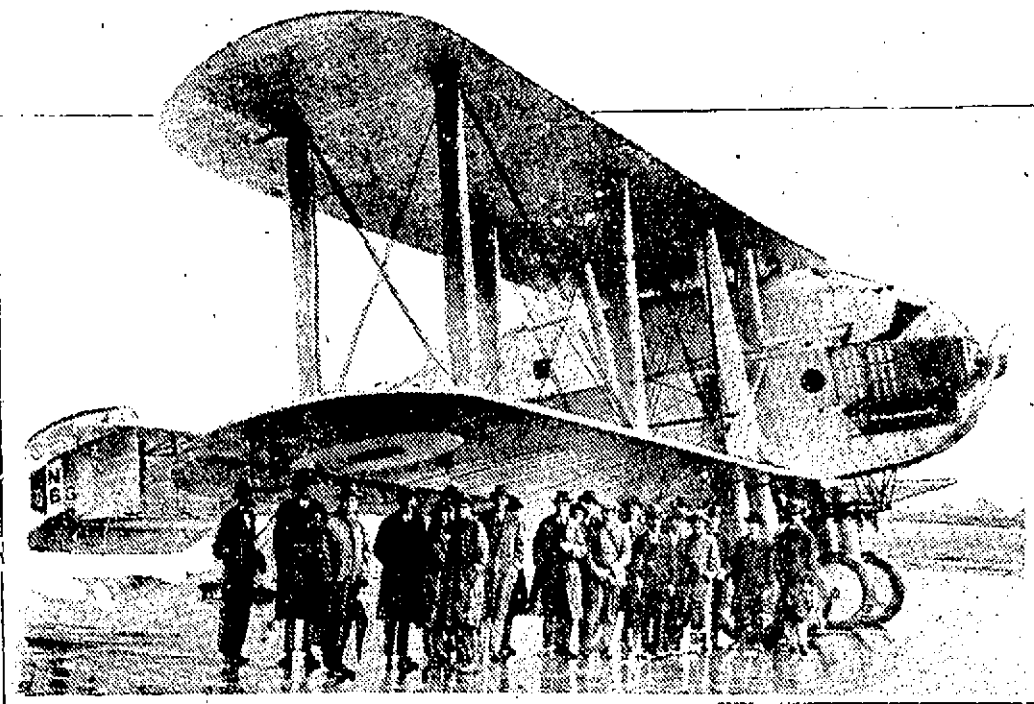

OKLAHOMAN TO GET LAND IN NEW YORK

SAPULPA, Sept. 8.—Mrs. C. St. Clair of Slick is to share in a huge New York estate, according to advice she has just received from a sister at New York City. The property to be divided is the site on which Trinity church, New York, stands.

This land, a good many years ago, was leased by a relative for a long period, and the church erected on it. The last valuation placed upon it, several years ago, places it at $7,000,000. It is now worth several times that much, it is said, and will give the heirs, all of whom have been filed, at least $1,000,000.

Mrs. St. Clair has three sisters and six brothers, while other relatives will share in the estate, it is said.

Britain's "Aerial Battleship" Is Mystery Plane

Mystery surrounds details of the construction of an "aerial battleship" placed in service by Great Britain in England. It is the world's largest and most powerful single-engined plane. Its gross weight is over nine tons, it is 54 feet long and 19 feet high, and its battle equipment includes three tons of torpedoes or bombs.

HUGE SUM SPENT ON NEW MEASURE

Over Million and Half Dollars Spent Under Maternity-Infancy Act

WASHINGTON—Exactly $1,688,047.12 has been expended by Federal and State governments to promote the welfare of mothers and babies under the Federal Maternity and Infancy Act during the first 15 months following its passage.

This statement is made public today by the Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor, in connection with the forthcoming first official report of the administration of the Maternity and Infancy Act, passed by Congress on November 21, 1921. The report covers the period from March 20, 1922, when the first National appropriations became available, until June 30, 1923, and was prepared by Dr. Anna E. Rude of San Francisco, former director of the maternity and infant hygiene division of the Children's Bureau.

Federal grants to the states during this period for maternity and infancy work totaled $1,046,523.56. State appropriations made to match Federal funds totaled $641,523.56. In 1922 payments were made to 43 States, 28 of which matched the Federal grant in full or in part. In 1923 41 states received grants for maternity and infancy work, 35 of which matched the allotment in full or in part. By June 30, 1923, all state legislatures had met and the appropriation acts passed enabled 40 states to cooperate during 1924, all but Kansas, Illinois, Louisiana, Vermont, Maine, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Rhode Island. By action of its State legislature in July, Louisiana for the first time accepted the Act and will receive its share of 1925 Federal funds.

National administration of the Maternity and Infancy Act is vested in the Children's Bureau and has been carried out, states the report, by the bureau's division of maternity and infant hygiene, the staff of which has consisted of six people—a medical director, associate director, a public health nurse, an accountant, a secretary, and a stenographer. Plans for State work are initiated and carried out by a State agency, usually the child-welfare or child-hygiene division of the State board of health, and approved by the Federal Board of Maternity and Infant Hygiene.

The Maternity and Infancy Act has already demonstrated its value, according to the report, in that it has:

(1) Stimulated State activities in maternity and infant hygiene.

(2) Maintained the principle of local initiative and responsibility.

(3) Improved the quality of the work being done for mothers and babies by disseminating through a central source—the Federal Government—the results of scientific research and methods of work which have been found to operate successfully.

(4) Increased State appropriations with the passage of the act. From the appropriation for the fiscal year 1922, 15 states were able to accept only the $5,000 unmatched funds. Six states were able to accept only the $5,000.00 unmatched from the Federal appropriation for the fiscal year 1923. All of the states cooperating under the act either have already accepted more than the $5,000 unmatched allotment from the 1924 Federal appropriation, or will be able to do so. Moreover since the Maternity and Infancy Act became effective 33 States accepting it have made definite increase in their own appropriations for the welfare of mothers and babies.

State activities under the Act have included the employment of physicians, public health nurses, dietitians, health teachers, and social workers, on staffs of health departments; education of the public through lectures, demonstrations, exhibits, films, etc.; maternity consultations or centers; mothers' classes, correspondence courses and other forms of educational work for mothers; training and supervision of midwives; health conferences; dental clinics; nutrition classes; inspection of maternity and children's

Conservative Baseball Game Liked by Japanese Fans

TSINGTAO, Shantung, China.—The Japanese love baseball with an undying affection. A crowd of 5,000 spectators is a common occurrence, and frequently 7,000 to 8,000 people cover the sides of the natural amphitheatre in Tsingtao where the ball-players perform.

The Japanese play the game conservatively; they dislike long chances and abhor wild base-running. One of the fastest outfielders in the Tsingtao aggregation, who formerly played the game in America, has a tendency toward risky base-stealing and consequently is kept safely on the bench where his example will not upset his mates.

As a rule the fans are intensely loyal, and they could teach American crowds a few lessons in sportsmanlike behavior. They look upon "razzing" as something that isn't done. The Japanese are considerate of the feelings of others and to "raze" a player would be unpardonable. For the most part a crowd of Japanese spectators maintains a funeral silence, but it will burst into a salvo of applause without rhyme or reason. Sometimes a player receives a consoling wave of handclapping after making a mess of a grounder or miffing a high fly. A long foul ball, almost fair, frequently moves the crowd to a display of sympathy.

Japanese pitchers have a habit of uttering a war cry as they deliver the ball. This is supposed to help the morale of the team. Sometimes the twister shouts the equivalent in Japanese of "Are you with me?" to which the players reply, "To a man."

It is customary to present a huge wreath of flowers to the winning team, and it is not uncommon to see an ornate silver cup presented to the winner of a single contest. Hundreds of dollars are spent on prizes and awards to players including all sorts of merchandise, clothing and jewelry.

TOKIO BLAMES METAL ROOFS FOR HEAT WAVE

TOKIO.—Three hundred thousand metal roofs in Tokio, most of them tin and galvanized iron, are adding appreciably to the discomforts of one of the hottest summers in recent years. More than one-half the city's population lives in buildings erected since the earthquake of last September, and nearly all these buildings have metal roofs. Temperatures in such houses are from 5 to 10 degrees Fahrenheit higher than in buildings roofed with slate or tile.

Experts say the heat is not the only discomfort engendered by the metal roofs. Tokio and its suburbs are suffering the worst summer drought in 30 years. Districts to the north and southwest get rain but not the Tokio metropolitan area, and half the wells in the suburbs have dried up.

It is argued that Tokio gets no rain because the metal roofs, reflecting the sun's rays, generate a body of superheated air which rises and carries the rain clouds away.

The school levy has not yet been worked out, but according to the assessor, it will not exceed 10 mills, which will make a total of 42.23, or approximately $15 less than last year.

Added to the above is the state levy of 2.5 mills, which, when added to the other levies, makes the county levy, exclusive of the school levy, 32.23 mills.

The school levy has not yet been worked out, but according to the assessor, it will not exceed 10 mills, which will make a total of 42.23, or approximately $15 less than last year.

Chickasha in Line For Textile Plant, Is Latest Claim

(By the Associated Press)
CHICKASHA, Okla., Sept. 8.—Representative of a large textile company have advised the Chickasha chamber of commerce that a southwestern territory location here is being considered by textile engineers.

According to an industrial survey, Chickasha is the most logical city in Oklahoma for the establishment of textile mills, because of its location in the heart of the Washita river cotton belt, and because of the industrial gas available from the largest gas field in the world, according to the chamber.

Other inducements to the textile manufacturers are the shipping rates and transportation accommodations offered by the seven main railroad outlets from the city.

In addition to one of the largest cotton seed oil companies in the world, there are large cotton warehouses and linters, already on the ground. The long staple variety of cotton is produced in large quantities in this section.

TULSA.—More than 1,500 "American Beauty Beauties" from 12 states have been entered in the "Queen Petrolia" beauty contest to be held in connection with the second annual International Petroleum Exposition and Congress, according to E. F. McIntyre, general manager of the exposition.

The exposition grounds now are ready for the displays which will be opened October 2. The exposition will last a week. Exact reproductions of well-known oil fields now are in the course of construction at the show grounds. The miniature fields actually will be in operation, the management declares.

POIGNANT RUSSIAN TRAGEDY RECALLED

Death of Exile Brings Back Memory of Crime Era In Russia

HARBIN, China.—An old man died recently in a small village of eastern Siberia whose name evokes among Russians memories of a tragedy, the poignancy of which is unsurpassed in the annals of that wild and gloomy land.

St. Petersburg was the scene and the time the late eighties. The principal actor was a young officer of one of the most brilliant regiments of the Czar's guard. It was accomplished and highly connected, and a general favorite, but the life led by him and a majority of his comrades proved too fast for the resources of a diminished and badly managed estate. The young officer turned to the money lenders who preyed upon men of his kind. One was found who was willing to advance money against his promissory notes, and who never failed to respond until the total debt had reached many thousands of rubles.

Finally the chance of a wealthy marriage gave promise of financial trouble. He informed the money lender of his good luck and obtained more money.

The money lender told the young officer that he planned a fine wedding present for the occasion of his marriage. Misinterpreting the man's meaning and taking it to be a threat that the notes would be presented for payment or protest, the young officer forsook himself ruined and resolved upon desperate measures. The money lender was found dead in his own house a few days later, and the crime was traced to the borrower. The police discovered among the old man's effects a package containing all of the other's notes. An inscription showed that this was to have been the wedding gift.

Evidence of the young officer's guilt was clear and he was exiled to Siberia. Old residents of Siberia tell many stories of his remorse-stricken life, which has just ended in penury and misery.

Oklahoma Library Needs Handling in Surplus of Books

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 8.—There was a library volume circulation of 1,831,315 in Oklahoma, excluding those in colleges, between July 1, 1923 and July 1, 1924, according to the annual report of the Oklahoma library commission. The total number of volumes in public libraries of the state on July 1, 1924 was 377,832. The library income for the past fiscal year, which includes the two-mill levy maximum, fines, and outside support, amounted to $272,188.95. The maximum levy is not all used except in a few cases, as in Blackwell where it is set aside for a new building.

Henryetta is the only city on record with a new library building completed recently, although new libraries were established at Pawhuska, Vinita, and Pauls Valley, during the last fiscal year. By means of home and Sapulpa have installed reading courses.

If you love color—you'll be captivated by the new Fall frocks!

Colors for Fall are ravishing enough to fairly make one's mouth water—rich spicy shades—dark tones of brown—just the shade of caramel! Deep reddish chestnut brown and plum—warm duns of rose tan—and the lovely golden brown shade! Soft tints of olive and bottle green. Rich sparkling shades of elixir—the new expression of the color which was so popular this Spring and Summer. And, of course, for autumn you'll have much use made of the ever popular black and white!

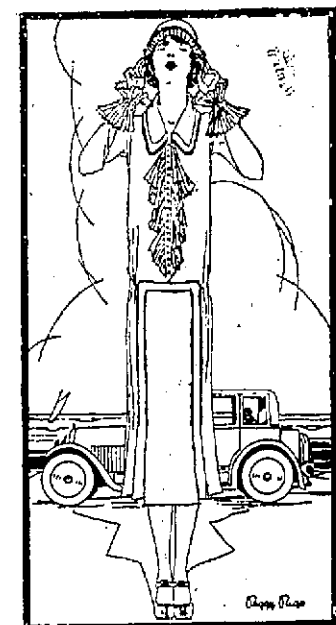

For evening, colors varying from the pale flower tints of Spring to the riotous garden colors of Summer—soft lemon yellow, delicate green, soft shades of mauve, Olympian, shrimp, coral, powder blue, natter, Puriana, Vermeer green, Orient blue, fra, Bordeaux and more—the most exquisite colors imaginable!

Can you imagine those rich dark shades in the lovely new silk—pergamine, ottoman, crepe marocain and satin crepe, with touches of bright color found in fancy buttons, gay embroidery or touches of lace and ribbon? All in those slender, straight silhouettes—which give such delightful play to the depth of color and richness of texture of the fabrics?

And those evening shades—imagine them in lovely brocade and metallic silks—milled with chiffon and georgette—all aglitter with beads or allover with ostrich!

If you love color—you'll be captivated by the new Fall frocks!

Peggy Paige

Another of our Weekly Style Service frocks designed by one of the foremost creators of Fashion—Peggy Paige—is awaiting your inspection in our dress department. You'll like it a lot—it's in one of the smartest of the new Fall shades.

And that's not all we have in store for you—there are many more frocks with new style features just as interesting. We'd enjoy having you visit us!

Beautiful Silk Frocks
$16.95 to $75
Attractive Wool Dresses
$15 to $59.50

WILSON'S

ADA. OKLA.
WILSON-LAIN-CHILCUTT

Live Opportunities For You

"Opportunity knocks but once." So said the sage. But don't you believe it. It isn't so.

Opportunity knocks every day of your life. Every advertisement in this paper is brimful of opportunity for some one. Many of them are written with you in mind. They offer you opportunities to save time, money and effort—opportunities to surround yourself with comforts and conveniences—opportunities to eat better, sleep better, dress better and live better.

You would live in ignorance of these opportunities were it not for advertising. Somebody might be selling a new, better and more economical food; or a utensil that would add immeasurably to your comfort and well-being; or some better material for making shoes or clothing—but you would never know it.

Modern advertising is a boon. It keeps information up to date on the many things we need in order to live profitable, happy and useful lives in this age of rapid-fire progress.

Every advertisement in this paper is a real opportunity.

DON'T LET IT KNOCK IN VAIN